Kelley Rules U.P. Could Be A State

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The attorney general gave the Upper Peninsula the legal blessing for secession Thursday and a U.P. legislator who asked for the ruling offered to be the first governor if the U.P. decides to secede.

Most legislators, however, scoffed at the chance the U.P. would divorce itself from Lower Michigan and become the "State of Superior."

Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley said it is legally possible for the Upper Peninsula to withdraw from the rest of Michigan and form a separate state. But, he said, it would take approval by the state legislature, Upper Peninsula residents and the U.S. Congress to complete the move.

Rep. Dominic Jacobetti, D-Negaunee, said he would strive for legalized gambling in an independent "State of Superior" so that residents would not have to pay property or income taxes. He said he would introduce legislation to allow the U.P. to secede.

Jacobetti, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, also said that within five years of establishment of a "State of Superior, lower Michigan will be asking us for a loan."

He said the U.P. could financially survive as a 51st state because of tourism, expansions of mining, copper, and gambling. He noted that the region is surrounded by water, and that there will be a survey of uranium sources there.

If he were governor there, he added, he would push an environmental protection act that would not discourage industrial expansion.

He added, "We're going to let you (Lower Michigan) control the (Mackinac) bridge. But we're going to leave the toll booths on the U.P. side."

"Whether or not the State of Superior will become reality is up to the people who live there and the state legislature," Kelley said in a formal opinion requested by two state lawmakers.

Kelley's opinion, which has the strength of law unless challenged in court, was requested by Jacobetti and Sen. Robert Davis, R-Gaylord, who represent parts of the U.P.

Kelley also ruled there was nothing legally or constitutionally wrong in the way the Upper Peninsula became a part of Michigan originally.

The request for Kelley's opinion followed a burst of tongue-in-cheek discussion last year over whether the U.P. could become a separate state — the "State of Superior." But despite the U.P.'s historical and continuing disenchantment with its southern neighbors, lawmakers never gave the concept any chance of succeeding.

Davis, Senate minority leader and sponsor of a special committee investigating U.P. secession, said that such a move is not politically feasible and is not in the best interest of the Upper Peninsula.

"I don't think the majority of the people in the U.P. support it," Davis said. "I don't think it's politically possible to get the votes in the legislature or an act of congress. There's no sense in getting the people all excited about it when it's politically impossible."

Sault Ste. Marie Mayor Frank Pingatore called the idea silly in an interview last year, and Thursday said:

"I still think it is. I haven't changed a bit."

While he acknowledged that some "radicals" might support the move, he called the idea of seceding "stupid. We can't do without you (Lower Michigan)."

In Iron Mountain, Mayor John O'Donnell said, "Secession would be economically impossible for us. It's just an economic matter. There are times when we are irritated with the state, with the governor. We're not really too happy with some of these things. We have to live with it."

Iron Mountain held an advisory vote last August to determine voter sentiment on secession and found most people opposed the idea, he said.

The most recent precedent for such action is West Virginia, which in the first year of the Civil War was allowed to secede from Virginia. It was admitted to the Union as a separate state in 1862.

Other states have also been formed after they broke away from parent states, Kelley said.

Grain Elevator Explosion Kills Four; 10 Hurt

ZILWAUKEE, Mich. (AP) — Rescue workers located a fourth body early today in the wake of an explosion that ripped through a 225-foot grain storage elevator, Saginaw County officials said.

The blast left 10 others injured. One man remained missing. Officials believe he is dead and buried under a section of one of the silo's reinforced concrete walls which collapsed in the explosion.

The cause of the blast at the grain storage complex, operated by Farm Bureau Services, was not known. The force of the explosion threw pieces of concrete, some of them four feet long, as far as one-quarter mile, observers reported.

Saginaw County sheriff's deputies said rescue workers could see the body of Roger Horney buried under debris. They listed no home town or age for the dead man.

Rescue workers said it could take the rest of the day to remove the body from the wreckage and find the missing man among the rubble.

One of the survivors of the blast was trapped for 13 hours in the wreckage before rescuers could free him.

Rescue workers used cranes and a helicopter to help in the search for bodies and injured. Rescuers plucked to safety one injured man in the air who clung to the wreckage of a wall left standing after the blast. Three other workers walked away from the blast with minor cuts.

One of the injured men, Larry Foss, 24, of Linwood, was pinned for more than 13 hours in the debris of the wrecked structure while doctors and rescue workers tried to comfort and reassure him. He was in shock after being removed from the rubble, suffering from the cold and a broken arm. The temperature was just three degrees above zero about the time he was freed.

Foss was taken to Saginaw General Hospital where he was listed in serious to critical condition after a preliminary examination.

Robert A. MacFarlane, 21, was working in the basement underneath the concrete tower and ran upstairs when the blast occurred about 11:15 a.m.

"We saw the guys lying on the ground," said MacFarlane. "One guy looked like he was dead. We took stuff off the guys lying on the ground. We helped as much as we could."

A truck driver, Jerry D. Bow, said, "I was sitting in a truck on the north side of the head house (the concrete tower) ... I heard a sound ... I slammed my truck into gear, got to the west point

New Buffalo Post Cutback Stalled

The New Buffalo state police post apparently will continue full operations on a 24-hour basis at least until October, a state police official said yesterday.

State police authorities previously indicated the number of hours the post would be manned daily might be reduced as a budget-cutting measure, or the New Buffalo and Benton Harbor posts might be combined.

Maj. Lloyd Brevard, of the state police field services division in East Lansing, told the Herald-Palladium he felt operations at New Buffalo would continue on a full-time basis, pending any unforeseen action by the legislature. He said the post still operates 24 hours a day, and indicated no decision has been reached on whether operations would be cut back.

Berrien County Commissioner Carl Gnodtke, who represents an area served by the New Buffalo post, at yesterday's board of commissioners meeting released a report of a Tuesday meeting he attended with Col. George Halverson, state police director, and state and local officials.

Gnodtke's report said Halverson indicated he would know by Oct. 1 "the future of the New Buffalo and Benton Harbor posts because by that time he will have next year's budget."

The report also said Halverson stated the idea of consolidating the two posts somewhere between Benton Harbor and New Buffalo is not to decrease service but to improve the efficiency of police personnel.

Halverson reportedly said that combining the posts would be the equivalent of adding seven people, since consolidation of office functions would put more troopers on the road.

Attending the meeting in addition to Halverson and Gnodtke were representatives from the governor's office, Sen. Charles Zollar's office, Rep. Harry Gast,

New Buffalo city, and Chikaming, New Buffalo, and Three Oaks townships.

The county board of commissioners previously passed a resolution urging the state not to curtail services at New Buffalo, and Gnodtke said assistance from local governmental units was pledged at the meeting, including possible CETA-funded dispatch personnel.

Halverson told the group, Gnodtke reported, that the department's 1976 budget has been trimmed to about $61 million from the original $66 million. He also said the 1975 budget was $69 million, and indicated he expects the 1977 budget to be some $63 million.

State police officials had suggested curtailment of some services at New Buffalo as one means of trimming the department's budget. But they said the cut-back at New Buffalo was only one of many alternatives being proposed.

Snow Clearing Will Speed The News

Herald-Palladium subscribers are being asked to help make delivery of their newspaper easier during bad weather by keeping snow cleared from around their newspaper delivery tube.

"You can help your carrier by keeping the area in front of your newspaper delivery tube clear of snow," Charlie Bowie, Herald-Palladium circulation manager, said.

Herald-Palladium motor route carriers will make every effort to deliver newspapers as long as roads can be traveled, according to Bowie.

Local post offices have made similar requests concerning the clearing of snow from around mail boxes, sidewalks, and steps, to help mailmen with the delivery of mail.

Altering BH Mayor's Role 'Long, Costly'

From ASSOCIATED PRESS
Michigan Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley said Thursday that Benton Harbor must go through "a long and costly" charter revision if it wants to change its form of government to provide for a full-time salaried mayor.

Kelley said a charter amendment is not good enough to permit Benton Harbor to change from its present city manager form of government to one providing for a full-time mayor.

Benton Harbor voters have rejected revised city charters three times in the last two years, including one in September, 1974, that called for a full-time mayor.

A citizens' group last year conducted a petition drive in an attempt to put the full-time mayor issue on the ballot for the November general election, but the city commission was advised by Atty. David Morris of Kalamazoo, its charter commission counsel, that the petitions were not valid.

The opinion is supported by Kelley's ruling, which had been asked for by Sen. Charles Zollar after the city commission voted to seek Kelley's opinion.

Kelley said changes proposed by Benton Harbor would be "fundamental" since they would alter the relationships between the mayor, the city commission, the city manager and department heads.

He said the issue "has a great deal of practical importance since the charter revision process is long and costly involving the election of a charter commission and an overall analysis of the charter."

Kelley cited an earlier state Supreme Court opinion to back up his decision.

Here's Hoping Legislators Have Bounteous Harvest

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Sessions of the Michigan House usually begin with a routine prayer asking for the Lord's guidance.

But earlier this week Rep. Paul Porter, D-Quincy, co-chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, decided to toss in some variety with an agricultural prayer.

"Our Father which art in Heaven," he began, "let us plant a productive garden in the garden of life. First plant five rows of peas: preparedness, promptness, perseverance, politeness, and prayer."

"Next to them — three rows of squash. Squash indifference, squash gossip, squash criticism. Then five rows of lettuce. Let us be faithful, let us be unselfish, let us be loyal, let us be truthful, and let us love one another."

"No garden is complete without turnips," he added. "Turn up for church, turn up with a smile, turn up with a new idea, and turn up to legislative session with a determination to do thy will which art in heaven."

A hearty "Amen" resounded through the House.

Somebody In UAW Isn't Getting The Message

A prime job security requirement in heading up a big labor union is the capacity to speak glibly, quickly and forcefully on any subject bearing upon the labor-management relationship.

Hence it was not surprising the other day to hear Irving Bluestone, the UAW's department head for the General Motors shops, denounce a GMC statement it would not go ahead with a new plant at Adrian until the uncertainty is cleared over a proposal to raise workmen's compensation benefits and their costs somewhere close to out of this world.

"Blackmail," snorted Bluestone, "General Motors is playing on Michigan's high unemployment to kill this needed social legislation."

Last year GMC acquired an old property in Adrian with the intention of either renovating or replacing it for sub-assembly purposes. Work was to begin this summer and when in full operation the facility would add 500 jobs to the Adrian economy.

About the same time the legislature, under prodding from the UAW, brought out a bill to escalate the workmen's compensation benefits. Industry bitterly assailed the measure as doubling their insurance costs which already are about the highest in the 50 states. Governor Milliken said he would swallow a $25 million package increase, but would veto the UAW version which would run $180 million.

Lacking the votes to override a veto, the Democratic majority dropped the proposal with the thought of reviving it in one form or another in this year.

GMC is simply following the same course any prudent investor, large or small, takes. It won't jump into a program until it knows reasonably well what it will cost to make a success of the venture.

Bluestone's outburst has a purpose behind it.

A delegation of 1,000 UAW subchieftains is meeting at Detroit to take a reading on what contract demands should be made against the automotive and agricultural implement industries whose labor contracts expire in September.

Blasting GMC on its Adrian decision, therefore, is like the cheerleader exhorting the fans to give their team moral support.

Leonard Woodcock, the UAW president, also waved to the fans. "The industry," he declared, "can't expect a fragile economy to rule out a strike."

Pep talks for whatever purpose, more sales, a charity solicitation, contract negotiations, have their place.

The steam, though, should be proportionate to boiler safety.

Preliminary reports on the UAW conference indicate rank and file concern this year is on job security, more jobs preferably for everyone, but at the very least no reductions in an already underemployed industry.

Bobby D. Crim, the Michioan House Speaker, sounded a keynote address of sorts last week at the legislature's opening day.

Said he, "We must be guided by present realities rather than outmoded ideologies."

"The first of these realities is that labor has just as much of a stake as business in improving Michigan's business climate."

The two reactions, should the UAW high command bother to recheck them, are a reminder about the golden goose.

Military Goes Unisex

January 31 is the deadline for nominations to the Army, Air Force and Naval academies, an occasion that usually attracts little if any attention. This year is different. For the first time, the incoming classes at all three academies will include women. Life at West Point, Colorado Springs and Annapolis will never be quite the same again.

The handwriting has been on the wall at least since 1972, when Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R., N.Y., nominated a woman to the Naval Academy and made a public issue of her rejection. Bills opening the three service academies to women were considered by Congress in 1973 and 1974, but final enactment did not come until last October. The Merchant Marine Academy first admitted women in 1974, and the Coast Guard Academy will do so this year.

Although military officials fought hard to maintain the service academies' status as all male institutions, many are now resigned to or even mildly enthusiastic about coeducation. "When I started in this business, I thought women would never make it," Col. James P. McCarthy of the Air Force Academy told a Christian Science Monitor reporter. "Now I've concluded that except for differences in strength, women can do about anything."

According to James L. Holloway III, the Chief of Naval Operations, the Navy's eventual goal is about 20,000 enlisted women and 2,000 female officers. "Now, all of these women officers would not come from the Naval Academy," he said in a U.S. News & World Report interview. "Some would come from the ROTC units. When they graduate, they get commissions either in the line or the restricted line of the Navy. We would also expect to get women officers from officer - candidate school, and even the possibility of direct commissioning in some skills."

West Point and Annapolis each would like to enroll 80 to 100 women in the class that will report in July, while the Air Force Academy is aiming for 150. In most aspects of academy life, women will be treated the same as men, following the same vigorous physical regime, but some adjustments have had to be made in the women's sports program. At the Air Force Academy, for example, women will take fencing instead of a required course in boxing, and participate in track and field instead of wrestling. At West Point, women will be instructed in self-defense instead of boxing and wrestling.

Since military policy still bars women from combat roles, the new female officers will find their careers somewhat constricted. The Defense Department, however has announced that women cadets entering the Air Force Academy this year may take flight indoctrination in their senior year, just as male cadets do. This program would enable the women to apply for the same post-graduate pilot training open to men, except that the women would be trained for non-combat roles.

Social Workers Outline Young Mother Services

Editor,

In recent weeks, there has been much speculation about the services (or lack of services) available to the indigent young mothers in the Benton Harbor area. In view of the confusion that always surrounds these controversies, the Benton Harbor Chapter of the Association of Black Social Workers has undertaken the task of determining the positive aspects of the services provided to school age mothers.

As we gathered information, it became apparent that three agencies in particular can be cited for their efforts in providing a strong emotional, physical, and academic outlet for the teen age mother population in the Benton Harbor area: The Benton Harbor Area School's 'School Age Mother's Program', the Berrien County Health Department Planning Program, and the Planned Parenthood Association of Southwestern Michigan. The specific con-

non-judgmental and empathetic climate conducive to learning and maturing. An inter-disciplinary program of health, education and social services has been implemented to aid in meeting the complex needs of pregnant adolescents and young mothers.

Effort is being made to assist the young students in becoming good mothers and independent adults. An accredited academic curriculum is provided for the girls to meet individual graduation requirements. Certified personnel, with the assistance of instructional aides, work closely with the girls in the academics. Attempts are being made to (1) raise student concept of personal worth, raise individual levels of future expectation and lessening the number of repeated pregnancies to prevent school drop-out among school age mothers; (2) develop positive attitudes toward achievement of recognizing and striving toward goals; and (3) improving parenting skills among adolescent mothers.

The curriculum is correlated with the home school as much as possible, with effort being made to develop the cognitive skills through in-depth individualized instruction in each subject area.

The heavy burden of a young infant or child makes it extremely difficult for the mother to continue her education so that she can find fruitful employment and to lead a normal existence. The Day Care facilities are available to meet this need. A certified Registered nurse is in charge of the Day Care with caregivers for the infants and toddlers. Their responsibilities involve direct parenting care of the children enrolled in the center, permeated with love and attention. A high quality of individualized health services is provided, designed to meet the mother's and child's total health needs — i.e., nutrition, immunization, visual and hearing defects, medical examinations, etc.

Liaison is maintained with the Berrien County Health Department, Planned Parenthood, Family and Children Services, and the School Age Mother's Program to assure that there are services provided for: (1) screening and diagnosis and treat-

— 10 Years Ago —

A bulldozer this week began demolishing St. Joseph's oldest factory building, St. Joe Machines, Inc., which grew from a small wood frame structure on Water street to a half-block complex facing on I State street. St. Joe Machines, founded as St. Joe Iron Works in 1877, was dissolved last June 30. The city has acquired the site as part of its urban renewal program. A senior citizens' housing complex is planned for the location.

The cornerstone sealing of the new Benton Harbor First Baptist church parsonage, on Helmar court, Fair Plain, was held Sunday afternoon. In the box in the cornerstone went one silver dollar, presented by Floyd Seel; a blue print of the parsonage; recent church bulletins, and names of the building committee of the board of trustees, E.M. Clough, O.S. Zell and George Schack.

— 50 Years Ago —

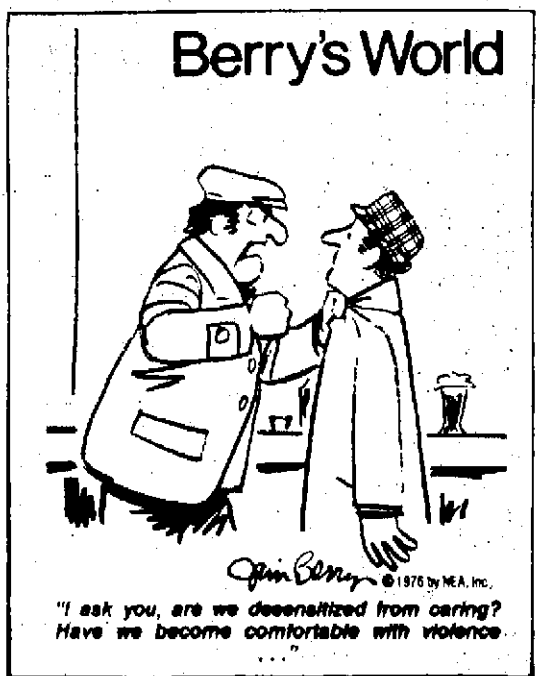

Dr. Louis A. King was unanimously endorsed by the Democratic city caucus last night for re-election as mayor of St. Joseph. Mayor King, although previously expressing a desire to retire was nominated after Lawrence Reeves, chairman of the Democratic city committee, reported that if the people of St. Joseph wanted him to run bad enough to endorse him, Dr. King would be a candidate for a second term.

Watervliet — Seeing a future in the neighboring village of Covert, O.R. Smith, owner of the local Star hotel, has purchased the Old Highland hotel, and will give that community a modern hostelry. As soon as weather permits he will remodel the building.

— 75 Years Ago —

W.C. Noe is circulating a petition asking the council to construct a sewer on Colfax avenue from Seventh street to Britain avenue in Benton Harbor. Colfax avenue is one of the best residence streets in the city and the prayer will not be denied.

Coloma — William Young and A.M. Zuer drove around from Chicago to Coloma with a string of five horses the past week, staying over night at Hammond, Indiana, and at New Buffalo. It is about seventy miles as the crow flies but about one hundred and fifty as they came. Last Friday night thieves broke into the gristmill at Millburg and stole 200 pounds of wheat flour and some buckwheat.

Noncandidacy Shields HHH

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — It has probably never crossed Hubert Humphrey's mind, but one of the benefits of his decision to remain aloof from early presidential primaries is that he does not have to undergo what for the official candidates may be the most withering public examination in American political history.

While the others sweat out the investigations into the cobwebbed corners of their careers, the snoops dammed searching for dirt, Humphrey is untouched by the phenomenon of supercilious post-Watergate suspicion.

Not that the Minnesota senator would be injured by such probing. At least he has always been able to survive allegations of misconduct in the past — many, many times in the past. For instance, there was the time in 1961 when he used his influence to help get government loans for a Minnesota company that the government later accused of false claims and breach of contract.

There was for example Herbert Walters, a longtime Humphrey crony who somehow became an assistant secretary of state when the latter was vice president. Walters was in charge of the nation's Office of War on Hunger until allegations were made that he had compromised the integrity of his office by not preventing employees from accepting foreign kickbacks. His resignation was quickly accepted by the White House.

Then there were Max Kampelman, Neal Peterson and Eugene Foley, confidants of Vice President Humphrey who were accused in Congress as having been involved in government contractual irregularities. Kampelman was charged with furthering an Agency for International Development contract. Peterson was said to have influenced a Small Business Administration contract for a Minnesota concern for which his brother was counsel. Foley, also A.I.D., was denounced for a malpractice suspicion.

It should be said that none of Hubert Humphrey's earlier associates was formally charged with violations. However, two of his more recent friends have been. Norman Sherman, a Humphrey press aide, pleaded guilty in 1974 to aiding and abetting an illegal dairy industry donation ($82,000) to the boss; Jack Chestnut, a one time Humphrey campaign manager, was sentenced to four months in prison last year for his part in other campaign shenanigans on behalf of the senator.

American Airlines filed suit against him last year for non-payment of $90,186 worth of campaign travel from 1968 to 1974. And over the years the man had become so indebted to a Cleveland contributor named Joseph Clark (up to $175,000) that when Clark decided last year to support Terry Sanford he was quickly able to persuade HHH to put in an ironic appearance at a Sanford fundraiser.

Humphrey says he is now clear of debt to Clark, and American Airlines as well. Last year he owed more than $900,000 for various campaigns. Suggesting creditors would have to make deals or get nothing, he settled overall for 4 cents on the dollar, $35,000 in total. A printer in Chicago said it for many of the burned: "Do people out there know what kind of a bum this guy really is?"

Perhaps there are people in America who know Hubert Humphrey as a bum. A machine politician, a weary product and champion of mega-government, an almost fossilized relic of the age when leaders told people everything but the truth. And were he officially running for the presidency, no doubt some snoopiest newsmen would come out and say so.

Reagan Makes Ford Look Good

WASHINGTON — Gov. Ronald Reagan may be succeeding in doing for President Ford what Ford has been unable to do for himself — make Ford look good.

Not great, mind you, but by comparison maybe not quite so bad.

While the President occupied center stage alone, his fumbles and bumbles, his changes of mind, and his amateurish approach to some problems made him such a weak presidential candidate that even his campaign managers acknowledged he might lose the first primary in New Hampshire.

Since Reagan has been actively campaigning for president, however, he too has been subjected to the high standard of accounting reserved only for presidents and presidential candidates. And he hasn't been measuring up.

The more Reagan campaigns, the better Ford looks. Republican politicians are beginning to predict cautiously that the President might pull it off after all.

Reagan's understanding of government, not Ford's, has become the major GOP primary issue. Everywhere he has campaigned, Reagan has been asked about his proposal to cut the Federal budget by eliminating vital services in the areas of welfare, education, housing, community development, Medicaid and other health programs, and leaving it up to the states to provide them.

Reagan has not been able to explain satisfactorily how his program would work. He insists it would not mean higher local taxes, but cannot describe how the services would otherwise be financed. Yet he also says he doesn't mean to "take these things away" from people.

In Florida, he was asked if the plan would throw an additional burden on that state because of its large population of elderly people and welfare recipients. He replied the state could avoid extra costs by requiring one year's residency before eligibility for welfare. Yet the Supreme Court has repeatedly struck down state residency requirements for a variety of welfare and medical care programs as penalizing the exercise of a constitutional right of interstate travel. In other words, Reagan didn't know what he was talking about.

Lately, Reagan has resorted to complaining that the plan has been "distorted" by the press and has backed away from his original claim that the plan would save $80 billion.

But the more he tried to explain, the worse it sounds. He is beginning to seem very much like George Romney in 1968, who was so unsure of himself in foreign affairs that every time he tried to discuss the war in Vietnam he appeared to contradict a previous statement.

Eventually, he was issuing clarifications of his clarifications. Reagan is not dumb. But his inability to explain his program has made him seem heartlessly insensitive to the needs of the average person. He has created the impression that he does not grasp how the national economy functions and is willing to jeopardize essential social services on a grandiose scheme that he had not carefully thought through.

Planted Stories

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House intelligence committee's draft report says the CIA planted stories with the British news agency Reuters and foreign news media, according to a committee source. The source said Thursday night that the report also says Central Intelligence Director William E. Casey told the committee that 11 half-time agents posed as journalists.

Somebody In UAW Isn't Getting The Message

A prime job security requirement in heading up a big labor union is the capacity to speak glibly, quickly and forcefully on any subject bearing upon the labor-management relationship.

Hence it was not surprising the other day to hear Irving Bluestone, the UAW's department head for the General Motors shops, denounce a GMC statement it would not go ahead with a new plant at Adrian until the uncertainty is cleared over a proposal to raise workmen's compensation benefits and their costs somewhere close to out of this world.

"Blackmail," snorted Bluestone. "General Motors is playing on Michigan's high unemployment to kill this needed social legislation."

Last year GMC acquired an old property in Adrian with the intention of either renovating or replacing it for sub-assembly purposes. Work was to begin this summer and when in full operation the facility would add 500 jobs to the Adrian economy.

About the same time the legislature, under prodding from the UAW, brought out a bill to escalate the workmen's compensation benefits. Industry bitterly assailed the measure as doubling their insurance costs which already are about the highest in the 50 states. Governor Milliken said he would swallow a $25 million package increase, but would veto the UAW version which would run $180 million.

Lacking the votes to override a veto, the Democratic majority dropped the proposal with the thought of reviving it in one form or another in this year.

GMC is simply following the same course any prudent investor, large or small, takes. It won't jump into a program until it knows reasonably well what it will cost to make a success of the venture.

Bluestone's outburst has a purpose behind it. A delegation of 1,000 UAW subchieftains is meeting at Detroit to take a reading on what contract demands should be made against the automotive and agricultural implement industries whose labor contracts expire in September.

Blasting GMC on its Adrian decision, therefore, is like the cheerleader exhorting the fans to give their team moral support.

Leonard Woodcock, the UAW president, also waved to the fans. "The industry," he declared, "can't expect a fragile economy to rule out a strike."

Pep talks for whatever purpose, more sales, a charity solicitation, contract negotiations, have their place.

The steam, though, should be proportionate to boiler safety.

Preliminary reports on the UAW conference indicate rank and file concern this year is on job security, more jobs preferably for everyone, but at the very least no reductions in an already underemployed industry.

Bobby D. Crim, the Michioan House Speaker, sounded a keynote address of sorts last week at the legislature's opening day.

Said he, "We must be guided by present realities rather than outmoded ideologies."

"The first of these realities is that labor has just as much of a stake as business in improving Michigan's business climate."

The two reactions, should the UAW high command bother to recheck them, are a reminder about the golden goose.

Military Goes Unisex

January 31 is the deadline for nominations to the Army, Air Force and Naval academies, an occasion that usually attracts little if any attention. This year is different. For the first time, the incoming classes at all three academies will include women. Life at West Point, Colorado Springs and Annapolis will never be quite the same again.

The handwriting has been on the wall at least since 1972, when Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R., N.Y., nominated a woman to the Naval Academy and made a public issue of her rejection. Bills opening the three service academies to women were considered by Congress in 1973 and 1974, but final enactment did not come until last October. The Merchant Marine Academy first admitted women in 1974, and the Coast Guard Academy will do so this year.

Although military officials fought hard to maintain the service academies' status as all male institutions, many are now resigned to or even mildly enthusiastic about coeducation. "When I started in this business, I thought women would never make it," Col. James P. McCarthy of the Air Force Academy told a Christian Science Monitor reporter. "Now I've concluded that except for differences in strength, women can do about anything."

According to James L. Holloway III, the Chief of Naval Operations, the Navy's eventual goal is about 20,000 enlisted women and 2,000 female officers. "Now, all of these women officers would not come from the Naval Academy," he said in a U.S. News & World Report interview. "Some would come from the ROTC units. When they graduate, they get commissions either in the line or the restricted line of the Navy. We would also expect to get women officers from officer - candidate school, and even the possibility of direct commissioning in some fields."

West Point and Annapolis each would like to enroll 80 to 100 women in the class that will report in July, while the Air Force Academy is aiming for 150. In most aspects of academy life, women will be treated the same as men, following the same rigorous physical regime, but some adjustments have had to be made in the women's sports program. At the Air Force Academy, for example, women will take fencing instead of a required course in boxing, and participate in track and field instead of wrestling. At West Point, women will be instructed in self-defense instead of boxing and wrestling.

Since military policy still bars women from combat roles, the new female officers will find their careers somewhat constricted. The Defense Department, however, has announced that women cadets entering the Air Force Academy this year may take flight indoctrination in their senior year, just as male cadets do. This program would enable the women to apply for the same post-graduate pilot training open to men, except that the women would be trained for non-combat roles.

THE ORCHARD YEARS: In the last summer before Pearl Harbor and America's entry into World War II, Aerial Photographer Adolph Hann shot this picture over fruit orchards and berry patches that crowded up to and into the south limits of the City of St. Joseph. Niles avenue, in this 1941 photo, runs from lower left corner up to center of picture and then trails out to upper left. Washington avenue starts from junction with Niles avenue and runs to upper right. Urban dwellings in St. Joseph then extended to Highland avenue, which cuts across lower left corner of picture.

SWALLOWED BY SUBURBS: All the orchards and berry fields are long since supplanted by suburb sprawl that stretches from the south edge of St. Joseph to as far as the camera can see out into St. Joseph township. Niles and Washington avenues still follow the same courses as in 1941 photo. With some improvements, however, the two highways carry many times the traffic of three decades ago. (Adolph Hann aerial photo)

BH Canvassers Declare Cable TV Loser By .6 Vote

A cable television firm's bid for a 15-year franchise from the City of Benton Harbor was defeated by six-tenths of a vote in Monday's special election. That was the decision issued Thursday night by Al Tabor, chairman of the city board of canvassers, on the proposal to grant a franchise to Benton Harbor Cable TV, Inc.

The board of canvassers earlier confirmed the unofficial tally of Monday's election which resulted in a 227 total — 135 votes in favor of the franchise, 81 against, and one spoiled ballot.

Under the provisions of the city charter, the cable television franchise requires approval of a three-fifths majority of the total who vote. If all good ballots are counted, 135.6 votes are required for the franchise to be approved.

Tabor said the board received an opinion from Bernard Apol, director of elections for the Secretary of State's office in Lansing, that the franchise was six-tenths of a vote short of winning the election.

The board of canvassers also reported yesterday that the spoiled ballot resulted when one voter marked both the "yes" and "no" boxes on the ballot.

Earl Drake, president of Benton Harbor Cable TV, said earlier that if the franchise was not approved, he would not put the issue up for election again in Benton Harbor. Drake paid for the special election on the cable television franchise. The cost of the election was reported at $1,500 by the city clerk's office.

A franchise for Drake's firm also was rejected by Benton Harbor voters in 1973, when the proposal failed to get even a simple majority in the August primary.

Drake requested a franchise from the Benton township board of trustees Tuesday to build a cable television system in the township. The township does not require a special election for franchises.

The Benton Harbor board of canvassers is bipartisan and is made up of members who are appointed by the mayor and confirmed by the city commission. Members are Tabor, Republican; Zenobia Lott, Democrat; Samuel Hayes, Republican; and Elizabeth Herndon, Democrat.

Benton Planners Ponder Rezoning

The Benton township planning commission last night recommended a public hearing for a rezoning request to build a $150,000 restaurant and beauty salon on Fair avenue.

The request, by Mr. and Mrs. Convent Jackson of 1567 Highland avenue, Benton township, was for a rezoning change, from residential to commercial to build the 6,450 square foot combination restaurant and beauty salon on five acres of land on the east side of Fair, between Wabash and Gertrude streets.

No date was set for the public hearing on the request. The commission also decided informally to seek an opinion on the rezoning request from the Berrien county planning department.

Mrs. Jackson, who appeared before the planning commission, said construction of the building would start next year if the request is approved. She said her husband is a private carpenter.

In other business, the commission recommended adoption of an amendment to the township plumbing ordinance which would increase the fees charged for plumbing inspections.

Ted Nixon, township plumbing inspector, said the amendment would make the township's inspection fees equal to that set by the state plumbing board and other municipalities in the state. Under the amendment, the present $12 fee for inspection of an average single residential dwelling will be increased to approximately $17, Nixon said.

Start Of Classes Delayed By LMC

Because of bad weather, the Lake Michigan College second semester registration schedule and first day of classes have been changed, according to college officials.

The revised schedule calls for LMC registration to continue today from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. and again on Monday, Jan. 26, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

With but two exceptions, LMC second semester classes will start on Tuesday, Jan. 27, instead of Monday, Jan. 26, as originally planned. The two exceptions are LMC off-campus classes and LMC on-campus nursing classes, all of which will start on Monday, Jan. 26.

In addition, the late registration period has been extended. Late registrations now will be accepted from Wednesday, Jan. 28, through Friday, Feb. 6 rather than as previously listed.

The changes were made necessary because the college closed on Wednesday, Jan. 21, due to bad weather.

Lakeshore To Explain Next Year's Schedules

Parents of Lakeshore students in grades 8 through 11 have been asked to attend informational meetings next week at the high school to hear an explanation of the procedure for course scheduling the next school year.

Course selection materials will be distributed to students prior to the evening meetings so parents will have a chance to examine the material before they attend a meeting, according to Edward Reilly, principal.

The meeting for parents of ninth graders will be held Monday, Jan. 26, for parents of tenth graders, Tuesday, Jan. 27, for parents of eighth graders, Wednesday, Jan. 28, and for parents of eleventh graders, Thursday, Jan. 29.

At the meetings, parents will receive information about graduation requirements, all course offerings, and an explanation of various school programs.

Next year's high school students will be asked to make their choice of courses before Feb. 4, Reilly said. Parents should review those choices before signing approval to the course selection sheets, he said.

Information from the course selection sheets will be used to compile the master schedule for next year which will show the hour and teacher assigned to each class, Reilly said.

The meeting for parents of ninth graders will be held Monday, Jan. 26, for parents of tenth graders, Tuesday, Jan. 27, for parents of eighth graders, Wednesday, Jan. 28, and for parents of eleventh graders, Thursday, Jan. 29.

At the meetings, parents will receive information about graduation requirements, all course offerings, and an explanation of various school programs.

Next year's high school students will be asked to make their choice of courses before Feb. 4, Reilly said. Parents should review those choices before signing approval to the course selection sheets, he said.

Information from the course selection sheets will be used to compile the master schedule for next year which will show the hour and teacher assigned to each class, Reilly said.

Jailed For ADC Fraud

A Benton Harbor woman was sentenced to 45 days in jail for welfare fraud under $500 yesterday by Berrien Fifth District Court Judge Ronald J. Taylor.

Catherine Ward Pratt, 29, of 1048 Lavette, was also ordered to make restitution of $1,339 and spend one year on probation.

The mother of three children received $1,339 in ADC overpayments by failing to report that she had a job from April of 1973 to July of 1974. Upon her guilty plea a charge of receiving over $500 fraudulently was dismissed.

Priorities For SJ Development Plans Offered

Long and short term priorities were named and a budget for $71,000 in Community Development funds was approved last night at a meeting of the St. Joseph Community Development Citizen Participation committee.

The budget and priorities will be presented to the St. Joseph city commission for approval during a public hearing at Monday night's meeting. Commission approval is necessary prior to applying to the Department of Housing and Urban Development for the $71,000.

The Citizen Participation committee is made up of eight members representing a number of city interests and appointed by Mayor Franklin Smith. The committee was formed to draw up priorities and a budget for the Community Development program.

The top priority and the project to receive the most money for fiscal year 1976-77 was the completion of a study of the downtown area which the city contracted with Barton-Aschman Associates, Inc.

The Barton-Aschman study was also the top priority project and received the most money under last year's Community Development program.

The city received $71,000 last year and expects to receive the same this year and next year under the Housing and Community Development act of 1974. The program is based on a fiscal year running from May 16 to May 15 the following year.

The 1976-77 budget is as follows (1975-76 budget in parentheses):

—1. Downtown development plan (Barton-Aschman): $23,000 for the third and final phase ($23,750 for the first two phases.)

—2. Grant and interest subsidy residential rehabilitation program: $15,300 ($17,100.)

—3. Acquisition and demolition of substandard housing: $21,900 ($20,900.) —4. Contingency fund: $4,000 ($1,000.)

—5. Community development plan and housing assistance plan development cost: $2,800 ($5,000.)

—6. Administrative cost for implementation of community development plan: $4,000 ($3,250.)

The first three items in the budget were termed short range priorities. Listed as long term objectives in the following order were:

—Acquire and make ready for development or provide assistance for the acquisition and redevelopment of industrial lands within St. Joseph.

—Redevelop Tiscornia park.

—Provide financial assistance to property owners of historic housing in St. Joseph to preserve and enrich the heritage of the city.

—Acquire and develop vacant land along Red Arrow highway, south of St. Joseph as a scenic vista recreational facility.

—Provide additional recreational facilities at Whittlesley park.

—Develop city owned lands adjacent to the Morrison channel as a passive recreational facility.

—Construct a St. Joseph-Lincoln township senior center.

—Administer to the needs of the handicapped.

The long-range items are ones that may come under more consideration in the remaining three years the city will be in-

Ausco Credit Union To Honor McCoy

An open house honoring Bart McCoy, recently retired general manager of Auto Specialties Employees Credit Union, St. Joseph, will be held Saturday at the credit union, 526 Klock road.

The open house will be from 2 to 3 p.m. and the entire credit union membership and friends of McCoy are invited. The open house is being sponsored by the credit union's board of directors. McCoy retired last month after having served as credit union general manager for 18 years.

THE ORCHARD YEARS: In the last summer before Pearl Harbor and America's entry into World War II, Aerial Photographer Adolph Hann shot this picture over fruit orchards and berry patches that crowded up to and into the south limits of the City of St. Joseph. Niles Avenue, in this 1941 photo, runs from lower left corner up to center of picture and then trails out to upper left. Washington Avenue starts from junction with Niles Avenue and runs to upper right. Urban dwellings in St. Joseph then extended to Highland Avenue, which cuts across lower left corner of picture.

SWALLOWED BY SUBURBS: All the orchards and berry fields are long since supplanted by suburb sprawl that stretches from the south edge of St. Joseph to as far as the camera can see out into St. Joseph township. Niles and Washington avenues still follow the same courses as in 1941 photo. With some improvements, however, the two highways carry many times the traffic of three decades ago. (Adolph Hann aerial photo)

BH Canvassers Declare Cable TV Loser By .6 Vote

A cable television firm's bid for a 15-year franchise from the City of Benton Harbor was defeated by six-tenths of a vote in Monday's special election. That was the decision issued Thursday night by Al Tabor, chairman of the city board of canvassers, on the proposal to grant a franchise to Benton Harbor Cable TV, Inc.

The board of canvassers earlier confirmed the unofficial tally of Monday's election which resulted in a 227 total — 135 votes in favor of the franchise, 91 against, and one spoiled ballot.

Under the provisions of the city charter, the cable television franchise requires approval of a three-fifths majority of the total who vote. If all good ballots are counted, 135.6 votes are required for the franchise to be approved.

Tabor said the board received an opinion from Bernard Apol, director of elections for the Secretary of State's office in Lansing, that the franchise was six-tenths of a vote short of winning the election.

The board of canvassers also reported yesterday that the spoiled ballot resulted when one voter marked both the "yes" and "no" boxes on the ballot.

Earl Drake, president of Benton Harbor Cable TV, said earlier that if the franchise was not approved, he would not put the issue up for election again in Benton Harbor. Drake paid for the special election on the cable television franchise. The cost of the election was reported at $1,500 by the city clerk's office.

A franchise for Drake's firm also was rejected by Benton Harbor voters in 1973, when the proposal failed to get even a simple majority in the August primary.

Drake requested a franchise from the Benton township board of trustees Tuesday to build a cable television system in the township. The township does not require a special election for franchises.

The Benton Harbor board of canvassers is bipartisan and is made up of members who are appointed by the mayor and confirmed by the city commission. Members are Tabor, Republican; Zenobia Lott, Democrat; Samuel Hayes, Republican; and Elizabeth Herndon, Democrat.

Lakeshore To Explain Next Year's Schedules

Parents of Lakeshore students in grades 8 through 11 have been asked to attend informational meetings next week at the high school to hear an explanation of the procedure for course scheduling the next school year.

Course selection materials will be distributed to students prior to the evening meetings so parents will have a chance to examine the material before they attend a meeting, according to Edward Reilly, principal.

The meeting for parents of ninth graders will be held Monday, Jan. 26, for parents of tenth graders, Tuesday, Jan. 27, for parents of eighth graders, Wednesday, Jan. 28, and for parents of eleventh graders, Thursday, Jan. 29.

At the meetings, parents will receive information about graduation requirements, all course offerings, and an explanation of various school programs.

Next year's high school students will be asked to make their choice of courses before Feb. 4, Reilly said. Parents should review those choices before signing approval to the course selection sheets, he said.

Information from the course selection sheets will be used to compile the master schedule for next year which will show the hour and teacher assigned to each class, Reilly said.

Missing Drum Set Returned To School

WATERVLIET — A five-piece drum set valued at $1,000 and two cymbals taken in a break-in of the Watervliet junior high school last weekend have been returned to the school, according to Victor Bianchi, assistant Watervliet police chief.

Bianchi confirmed Thursday that the equipment was returned Tuesday night. Announcement of the return was withheld until yesterday to allow police to continue their investigation.

Police said they were told that a man, believed to be about 18 years of age and having long black hair, dropped off the items near the junior high building Tuesday night and drove away.

Police said a cleaning man, Harold Mizzell, inside the building, and who originally reported the theft last weekend, saw the equipment being dropped off and transferred the items from the snow-covered ground to his auto and then called Monty Anderson, junior high school principal, who called police.

Benton Planners Ponder Rezoning

The Benton township planning commission last night recommended a public hearing for a rezoning request to build a $150,000 restaurant and beauty salon on Fair Avenue.

The request, by Mr. and Mrs. Converst Jackson of 1567 Highland Avenue, Benton township, was for a rezoning change from residential to commercial to build the 6,450 square foot combination restaurant and beauty salon on five acres of land on the east side of Fair, between Wabash and Gertrude streets.

No date was set for the public hearing on the request. The commission also decided informally to seek an opinion on the rezoning request from the Berrien county planning department.

Mrs. Jackson, who appeared before the planning commission, said construction of the building would start next year if the request is approved. She said her husband is a private carpenter.

In other business, the commission recommended adoption of an amendment to the township plumbing ordinance which would increase the fees charged for plumbing inspections.

Ted Nixon, township plumbing inspector, said the amendment would make the township's inspection fees equal to that set by the state plumbing board and other municipalities in the state. Under the amendment, the present $12 fee for inspection of an average single residential dwelling will be increased to approximately $17, Nixon said.

Start Of Classes Delayed By LMC

Because of bad weather, the Lake Michigan College second semester registration schedule and first day of classes have been changed, according to college officials.

The revised schedule calls for LMC registration to continue today from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. and again on Monday, Jan. 26, from 9 a.m. to 8:30 p.m.

With but two exceptions, LMC second semester classes will start on Tuesday, Jan. 27, instead of Monday, Jan. 26, as originally planned. The two exceptions are LMC off-campus classes and LMC on-campus nursing classes, all of which will start on Monday, Jan. 26.

In addition, the late registration period has been extended. Late registrations now will be accepted from Wednesday, Jan. 28, through Friday, Feb. 6 rather than as previously listed.

The changes were made necessary because the college closed on Wednesday, Jan. 21, due to bad weather.

Beat High Cost Of Beauty

A recent survey of a group of coeds on an Eastern university campus revealed that the major way they beat the high cost of beauty is with versatile baby aids.

The survey showed an average expenditure of $15 a month for beauty, with three-fourths of the girls reporting that the major purchases are in the skin care area, rather than paint cosmetics.

But $15 doesn't go far these days, so these coeds have discovered some basic beautifiers without luxury prices.

When it comes to softening skin, they have discovered that a couple of versatile baby products can be used effectively for all over skin care.

Sixty-four per cent reported that they use baby oil to remove eye makeup, as a bath oil and for general skin softening.

Fifty per cent of the surveyed girls said they use baby lotion as a face, body and hand lotion. It's also utilized by some girls for face washing to remove daily grime and leg shaving for a close soft shave.

The majority of the girls like the luxurious feeling of an after-bath powder, and 63 per cent of these are using baby powder. The nice clean smell came up as the number one reason, but others mentioned softness, purity and economy.

A third of the respondents added that they also use baby shampoo.

It appears, at least from this survey, that once you start dipping into baby's beautifiers you keep right on discovering the versatility that makes quality baby products such good beauty buys.

Legs Get Attention

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Consider the leg. You can bend it, cross it, sit on it and, now, you can even layer it.

The requirements are knee socks, blue jeans, leg warmers and a pair of fundamentally sound legs which are usually attached to a young body.

Start with the knee sock. For the less daring, there are still plenty of basic argyles and solid color flat or cable-stitch knits available in acrylic or wool.

But to reach them at the end of the display counter, you're going to pass an assortment of stripes, heat transfer prints, intricate jacquards, geometric designs and scenic collages in electric shock colors that are not for the faint-hearted.

Designs include Bicentennial themes and delicate lacework patterns; Byzantine, Peruvian and Indian artwork; pandas, fish, cats, clowns and cartoon characters; stripes that go up and stripes that go down and walk off in individually sewn, contrast-colored toes. The toecock, in other words.

With the basic sock in hand, if you will, proceed to the blue jeans. Depending on whether you wear the leg warmers under or over them, they should or shouldn't fit snugly. It's only fair to point out, though, that wearing them under the jeans will do absolutely nothing for your fashion status.

And now on to the leg warmer, this year's fashion bonanza. Promoted by the makers of the Frye boot and Hot Sox Co., Inc., an enterprising

In addition to being worn over or under blue jeans, leg warmers can also be worn under skirts, tucked inside hiking boots, rolled down over boots to create a cuff and, in the case of expensive, hand-made leg warmers that extend only from ankle to knee, worn over the boot and scrunched down to the ankle.

Generally, leg warmers retail from $4 to $7, come in one size and are available in two-color combinations, stripes, solids and geometric patterns. Sorry, but there are no winter or harvest scenes by Brueghel the Younger here; as you'll find in knee socks.

Those who want another option can look to a variation of the leg warmer: the thigh-high sock. Actually, this is nothing more than an over-the-knee knee sock. Because of the foot, of course, it's not possible to wear a pair of socks or pantyhose underneath, but you're certainly free to wear them a cappella, or to add a pair of those leg warmers.

One final thought. In the case of the customer who selects a provocative, imaginative pair of knee socks which she then hides underneath a pair of jeans, manufacturers say she's doing it for a simple reason. It makes her feel good.

International Adventure

Do you like exotic fresh fruits and vegetables? Things like daikons, cilantro? Many are brought to the United States by the people who grew up eating them in another country. Today we can find many of them in ethnic markets and specialty stores in cities throughout the country.

Some of these ethnic fresh fruits and vegetables may not be available in your neighborhood yet. Some are but it takes a little bit of sleuthing in the produce department of your supermarket to turn up at least a few exotic examples.

Sampling the fruits and vegetables favored by people of other nationalities can be a mind-expanding journey. If you spot a strange-looking fruit or vegetable, take the time to get acquainted with it. Ask the salesperson how it's prepared. Many supermarket chains provide such advice now. Take it home and taste it. You may find you've made a pleasant discovery.

To help you start your international adventure, the United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association suggests some of the following items in the vast array of ethnic fruits and vegetable, with tips on how to choose and prepare them.

Cherimoya means "cold seeds." Popular in Mexico, this fruit is almost heart-shaped. Green-colored when ripe, its skin has a faint medallion-like pattern. It is also grown in the Indies and Australia. When chilled, it has a natural sherbet texture and is sometimes called "sherbet fruit" or "custard apple." Its flavor resembles a combination of fresh pineapple, strawberry and banana. Choose fruit with fairly uniform green color; free of mole or cracks at the stem end. Ripen at room temperature until it yields to gentle pressure with the palms of the hands. The largest are regarded best.

The jicama is to Mexico what the potato is to the United States. A root tuber, it looks like a turnip but tastes like a water chestnut and is a less expensive substitute. Choose jicama as you would a potato, looking for the smaller ones to avoid woodiness. There are two kinds of jicama: agua, which has a watery juice, and leche, which has a milky juice. The only way to tell the difference is by tasting. To eat a jicama, cut it into thin slices and sprinkle with sugar.

From the Orient comes daikon, a Japanese radish. It comprises nearly one-third of the tonnage of vegetables grown in Japan. An important crop in Hawaii as well the daikon tastes a bit hotter than the common radish. A long, tapered vegetable, the daikon is eight to ten inches long and about one and one-half inches in diameter at its top. It may be pickled or shredded as is and used as a relish, tossed raw into soups, or served in thin strips on vegetable trays. Daikon should be stored in the refrigerator.

The Chinese water chestnut grows widely in the tropics of the Old World. The skin is chestnut brown in color, with a chestnut flavor and white flesh. They are a delicacy in Chinese cookery and are extensively eaten raw in the Orient. The flesh is apple-like, sweet and starchy. Should you find some fresh water chestnuts, you can store them in the refrigerator in a loosely-covered jar or in a loose plastic bag. Water chestnuts seem made to go with almost any food, from omelets to soups to salads to stews.

Cherimoya means "cold seeds." Popular in Mexico, this fruit is almost heart-shaped. Green-colored when ripe, its skin has a faint medallion-like pattern. It is also grown in the Indies and Australia. When chilled, it has a natural sherbet texture and is sometimes called "sherbet fruit" or "custard apple." Its flavor resembles a combination of fresh pineapple, strawberry and banana. Choose fruit with fairly uniform green color, free of mole or cracks at the stem end. Ripen at room temperature until it yields to gentle pressure with the palms of the hands. The largest are regarded best.

The jicama is to Mexico what the potato is to the United States. A root tuber, it looks like a turnip but tastes like a water chestnut and is a less expensive substitute. Choose jicama as you would a potato, looking for the smaller ones to avoid woodiness. There are two kinds of jicama: agua, which has a watery juice, and leche, which has a milky juice. The only way to tell the difference is by tasting. To eat a jicama, cut it into thin slices and sprinkle with sugar.

From the Orient comes daikon, a Japanese radish. It comprises nearly one-third of the tonnage of vegetables grown in Japan. An important crop in Hawaii as well the daikon tastes a bit hotter than the common radish. A long, tapered vegetable, the daikon is eight to ten inches long and about one and one-half inches in diameter at its top. It may be pickled or shredded as is and used as a relish, tossed raw into soups, or served in thin strips on vegetable trays. Daikon should be stored in the refrigerator.

The Chinese water chestnut grows widely in the tropics of the Old World. The skin is chestnut brown in color, with a chestnut flavor and white flesh. They are a delicacy in Chinese cookery and are extensively eaten raw in the Orient. The flesh is apple-like, sweet and starchy. Should you find some fresh water chestnuts, you can store them in the refrigerator in a loosely-covered jar or in a loose plastic bag. Water chestnuts seem made to go with almost any food, from omelets to soups to salads to stews.

Offer Coed Yoga At YMCA Branch

The South Branch YMCA will offer a coed yoga class for those 18 years of age and older Monday evenings beginning Feb. 2 at the Roosevelt elementary school, Stevensville.

The class will be held from 7 to 8:30 p.m. and will be taught by Marty Rothschild. The class will last nine weeks.

It gives you the greatest benefits, physically, mentally and emotionally by using relaxed postures held only as long as you feel comfortable, thereby making you a more relaxed, energetic and youthful person. Classes will involve postures, breathing techniques and meditation. Nothing is forced and men and women of all ages benefit and advance at their own rate."

Openings For Women In Job Corps Program

There are immediate openings for eligible young women in the Job Corps program, according to S. Martin Taylor, director of the Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESC).

Referrals may be made by any MESC Job Service office.

Job Corps is a program designed to change the lives of young women with serious problems and few prospects at home, Taylor said. It is based on the idea that such women need a change of environment and a variety of educational, health, personal and social services to make the most of their training.

"Young men have enrolled mainly in Job Corps programs traditionally labeled 'masculine,' such as auto mechanics and welding, while in the past young women signed up primarily for secretarial programs and others traditionally labeled 'feminine,' Taylor said.

"But all Job Corps programs are open to women," he added. "MESC can refer women to any program available at Job Corps Centers throughout the country."

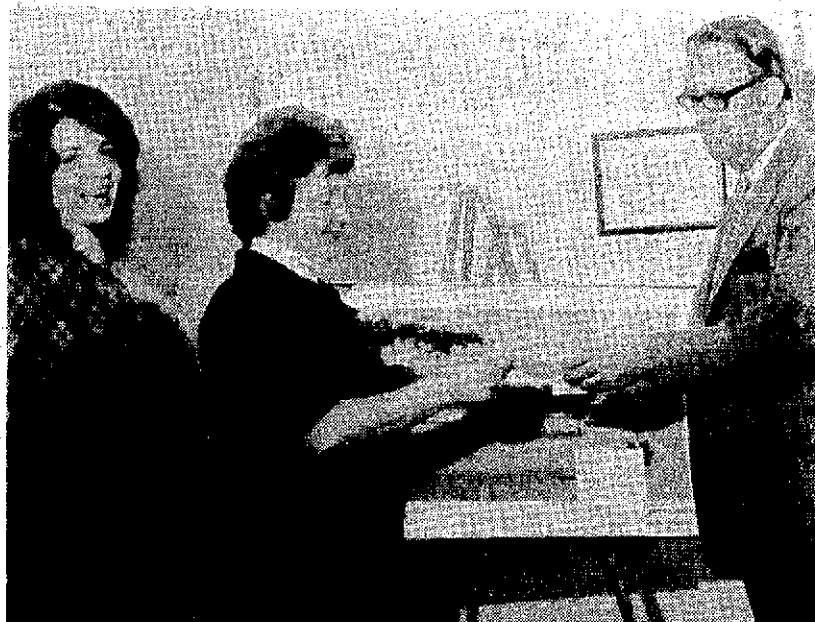

At the Detroit Center, trainees can study auto mechanics, carpentry, welding, office machines, medical transcription, bookkeeping and secretarial skills. A wide variety of other programs are available at other Centers.

The Job Corps is open to young women aged 18-21 at the time of enrollment, who come from low income families, have dropped out of school and would profit from a change of environment in a residential training program. Consent of parents or a legal guardian is required. The young women may stay in special Job Corps dormitories or at home, Taylor said.

Following completion of Job Corps training, MESC's Job Corps specialists assist in finding jobs for the graduates.

Job Corps members can also receive a high school equivalency certificate through the GED program, which is available at all centers. Besides remedial education and skills training, Job Corps Centers also offer on-the-job work experience, social redirection and health services.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Are Children Worth It All?

Dear Readers: A few weeks ago, a young married couple wrote to say they were undecided as to whether or not to have a family. They asked me to solicit opinions from parents of young children as well as from older couples whose families were grown. "Was it worth it?" they wanted to know. "Were the rewards enough to make up for the grief?" The question, as I put it to my readers, was this: "If you had it to do over again, would you have children?"

Well, dear friends, the responses were staggering. Much to my surprise, 70 per cent of those who responded said "NO."

Here are some excerpts from the most fascinating (and disturbing) mail I've received in a long time.

From Fargo, N.D.: My husband and I were married eight years before we had our first child. Within four years we had three. (The third one was a mistake.) Then I had my tubes tied and my husband had a vasectomy — just to make sure. We both agree our happiest years were before we had the kids. They have brought us a lot of heartache and very little pleasure. If we had it to do over again we'd have remained childless. — Rather Do Than Sign My Name

From Tampa, Fla.: I am 40, my husband is 45. We have two children under the age of eight. I was an attractive, fulfilled career woman before I had these kids. Now I'm an exhausted, nervous wreck who misses her job and sees very little of her husband. He's got a "friend." I'm sure, and I don't blame him. Our children took all the romance out of our marriage. I'm too tired for sex, conversation or anything else.

Sign me — Too Late For Tears

From Chippewa Falls, Wis.: As the mother of six, I can tell you my life would have had no meaning without my children. Sure there are runny noses, chicken pox, arms in slings, fights, loads of laundry and sky-high grocery bills, but when I look them in at night, I thank God I've been so richly blessed. — Worth The Pain

From New York: I've lived 70 years, and I speak from experience, as a mother of five. Was it worth it? No. The early years were difficult. Illness, rebellion, lack of motivation (we called it shiftlessness and laziness in our day). One was seriously disturbed — in and out of mental hospitals. Another went the Gay Lib route. Two are now living in communes (we never hear from them). Another has gone loony with the help of a phony religious leader, who should be in jail. Not one of our children has given us any pleasure. God knows we did our best, but we were failures as parents and they are failures as people. — Sad Story

From Chicago: Should you have children? It depends on what you want them for. Do you want a child who will be everything you weren't?

Someone whose achievements you can brag about? Do you want company in your old age? Forget it. Have children only if you can give them unselfish love and expect nothing in return. Only then will you have a fighting chance of turning out emotionally healthy individuals who will appreciate and respect you — and themselves. — Been There

Dear Been There: There's still hope for mankind so long as there are human beings like you around. May your tribe increase.

Discover how to be date bait without falling hook, line and sinker. Ann Landers' booklet, "Dating Do's and Don'ts," will help you be more poised and sure of yourself on dates. Send 50 cents in coin along with a long, stamped (13 cents now), self-addressed envelope with your request to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

A great deal of confusion exists about the relationship between the prostate gland and sexual activity, the capacity to have children, and potency.

Sexual activity is rarely affected by the removal of the prostate gland. In the absence of complications this should not be as much of a concern as it apparently is.

The prostate gland itself does not produce the sperm cells. It does produce the fluid that carries the sperm cells. The sterility that may follow the removal of the prostate is due to the fact that a tiny tube (the "vas deferens") that carries the sperm cells is tied off.

I don't think we can make seven. Pass to say "Partner, I think we can make seven." Of course, if you are sure you can make seven you go ahead and bid it.

West's three-club bid was one of those nonvulnerable bids that some players try on occasion. North's Blackwood four no-trump was a slight overbid, but he like his distribution. East's seven-club call put a lot of pressure on South but South was ready.

South studied his hand carefully. His heart suit was good. He had both minor suits and the queen of spades. It was just unthinkable for North to be Blackwooding without ace-king of spades and ace of hearts so South bid the lay down grand slam.

Ask the Jacobys

A Wisconsin reader wants to know what he should bid with: ♠ A K Q J 8 5 2 ♦ K K K K K K after his right hand opponent opened one diamond.

The answer is that he should pass. A double would be for takeout, a two-diamond call would be a cue bid of sorts and a three-diamond bid might be really hurt.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Are Children Worth It All?

Dear Readers: A few weeks ago, a young married couple wrote to say they were undecided as to whether or not to have a family. They asked me to solicit opinions from parents of young children as well as from older couples whose families were grown. "Was it worth it?" they wanted to know. "Were the rewards enough to make up for the grief?" The question, as I put it to my readers, was this: "If you had it to do over again, would you have children?"

Well, dear friends, the responses were staggering. Much to my surprise, 70 per cent of those who responded said "NO."

Here are some excerpts from the most fascinating (and disturbing) mail I've received in a long time.

From Fargo, N.D.: My husband and I were married eight years before we had our first child. Within four years we had three. (The third one was a mistake.) Then I had my tubes tied and my husband had a vasectomy — just to make sure. We both agree our happiest years were before we had the kids. They have brought us a lot of heartache and very little pleasure. If we had it to do over again we'd have remained childless. — Rather Die Than Sign My Name

From Tampa, Fla.: I am 40, my husband is 45. We have two children under the age of eight. I was an attractive, fulfilled career woman before I had these kids. Now I'm an exhausted, nervous wreck who misses her job and sees very little of her husband. He's got a "friend," I'm sure, and I don't blame him. Our children took all the romance out of our marriage. I'm too tired for sex, conversation or anything else.

Sign me — Too Late For Tears

From Chippewa Falls, Wis.: As the mother of six, I can tell you my life would have had no meaning without my children. Sure there are runny noses, chicken pox, arms in slings, fights, loads of laundry and sky-high grocery bills, but when I tuck them in at night, I thank God I've been so richly blessed. — Worth The Pain

From New York: I've lived 70 years, and I speak from experience, as a mother of five. Was it worth it? No. The early years were difficult. Illness, rebellion, lack of motivation (we called it shiftlessness and laziness in our day). One was seriously disturbed — in and out of mental hospitals. Another went the Gay Lib route. Two are now living in communes (we never hear from them). Another has gone loony with the help of a phony religious leader who should be in jail. Not one of our children has given us any pleasure. God knows we did our best, but we were failures as parents and they are failures as people. — Sad Story

From Chicago: Should you have children? It depends on what you want them for. Do you want a child who will be everything you weren't?

Someone whose achievements you can brag about? Do you want company in your old age? Forget it. Have children only if you can give them unselfish love and expect nothing in return. Only then will you have a fighting chance of turning out emotionally healthy individuals who will appreciate and respect you — and themselves. — Been There

Dear Been There: There's still hope for mankind so long as there are human beings like you around. May your tribe increase.

It Makes Sense

A couple of years ago on a talk show I heard actor John Casavetes say something about marriage that made sense. He said, "Husbands and wives see one another at the worst possible times of the day. They don't get the best of one another and that is why so many marriages fail."

He's right, you know. The mornings are bad for me. During the night everything has wrinkled: my skin, the clothes to be worn that day, the lunch meat. The dog (who has kidneys the size of barley corn) is impatient to be let out.

The shoes that were left in the middle of the living room have moved on. The bread is frozen. While the kids shower, the mirror fogs up and my husband's beard goes limp. He's a bleeder.

I waste 20 minutes trying to make 35 cents out of two quarters and five pennies. My son mistakenly grabs the garbage (which he forgot to take out the night before) for his lunch and yells, "I'll eat it on the bus." My husband removes ice from the car with a pancake turner and scratches the windshield. He yells, "Have a good day!" and I yell back, "You have it! I had it yesterday."

When my husband comes home in the evening, I'm going downhill again. Once every three years I have sauerkraut for dinner. Once every three years he has it for lunch. It always falls on the same day.

One kid misses the bus and has to be picked up. The paper is late. I try to fix the toilet and bend the floater. An important phone message is written in yellow crayon on a paper towel and has one digit missing. Our water smells funny.

There is an open house at the school. Under the harsh lights I look like my grandmother, two days before her 75th birthday. We learn our children are average. One of them was caught flashing slides into the commode and then flushing so they would move to the delight of his schoolmates.

At home, there are no ice cubes. We missed the eleven o'clock news. There is snow forecast for the next morning. We cannot get the car in the garage.

In bed I say, "I wish you had been here earlier when I was fresh and scintillating." "So, give me a call," he yawns. "For 15 seconds," I sighed, "it's hardly worth it."

Siamese Twins' Missing Mother Is Back Home

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — A 31-year-old Wichita mother missing for five days is back home, just three days before her Siamese twin daughters are scheduled to undergo separation surgery.

Mental anxiety associated with the birth of the girls last November and preparation for the surgery Monday "was probably more than the lady could handle at the time," police Capt. Charles Hicks said Thursday night.

William L. Cates, 20, notified police last Monday his wife, Ruth, had disappeared Sunday morning. He told authorities his wife had been upset about news stories on the upcoming surgery.

Hicks said Cates called police Thursday night and said his wife had returned home. Hicks said an officer sent to the Cates' home after the woman's return said she appeared to be in good health.

Doctors, meanwhile, said the girls are doing "very, very well" and no complications are anticipated.

The Cates' asked officials at St. Joseph Hospital and Rehabilitation Center here to withhold information about the girls after they were born Nov. 7 joined from the lower breastplate to the navel. They still do not want the names of the twins released.

A team of 11 physicians has been selected to perform the operation under the direction of Dr. Robert Miller, chief of clinical surgery at Children's Hospital Medical Center in Boston, and Dr. Dean Crocker, the Boston center's senior associate in anesthesiology.

The babies weighed five pounds, eight ounces at birth, which was two months premature, and have grown to 15 pounds, nine ounces.

'Public Disarray' Called Harmful

By RICHARD BLYSTONE
Associated Press Writer
LONDON (AP) — The United States is harming its allies as well as itself with too many revelations about the CIA and the private lives of presidents, conservative British newspapers complain.

"The self-criticism and self-destructive tendencies are running mad," declared one editorial in the Daily Telegraph. "The United States should know that her European cousins and allies are appalled and disgusted by the present disarray of her public life."

This defense of the American establishment seems limited to Britain. On the continent, few have publicly taken sides in the controversy over the Central Intelligence Agency. Le Monde, one of France's most respected papers, took the view that exposure of U.S. diplomats doubling as agents has cast doubt "on the credibility of the country's entire foreign policy." The British left tends to welcome the naming of CIA agents and activities or laugh at the furor over it. When the Socialist Worker printed names and addresses of five alleged agents on Jan. 21, Laborite member of Parliament Stan Newens asserted:

"The whole record of the CIA, wherever they are based, is one of intervention ... often as a result of their activities many people have died violently."

Another Laborite MP, Paul Rose, found the publication "mildly amusing. Everyone involved in this sort of activity knows just who is collecting information and for whom."

British laws and traditions shut the country's lively press entirely out of certain prohibited areas. A wide-ranging, though seldom invoked, Official Secrets Act makes it technically a crime for a civil servant to tell a reporter what time his boss has his coffee break, let alone expose the secret service that so masterfully and memorably foxed the Germans in World War II.

REBUILT HEART: Eight-year-old William Dieterle and father Gifford have a reason for their smiles. William, born with less than a full heart, was released from Long Island Jewish Hospital Thursday after doctors rebuilt his heart with two valves from pig's heart. Hospital spokesman called youngster's recovery after operation "remarkable." (AP Wirephoto)

Siamese Twins' Missing Mother Is Back Home

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — A 31-year-old Wichita mother missing for five days is back home, just three days before her Siamese twin daughters are scheduled to undergo separation surgery.

Mental anxiety associated with the birth of the girls last November and preparation for the surgery Monday "was probably more than the lady could handle at the time," police Capt. Charles Hicks said Thursday night.

William L. Cates, 20, notified police last Monday his wife, Ruth, had disappeared Sunday morning. He told authorities his wife had been upset about news stories on the upcoming surgery.

Hicks said Cates called police Thursday night and said his wife had returned home. Hicks said an officer sent to the Cates' home after the woman's return said she appeared to be in good health.

Doctors, meanwhile, said the girls are doing "very, very well" and no complications are anticipated.

The Cates' asked officials at St. Joseph Hospital and Rehabilitation Center here to withhold information about the girls after they were born Nov. 7 joined from the lower breastplate to the navel. They still do not want the names of the twins released.

A team of 11 physicians has been selected to perform the operation under the direction of Dr. Robert Filler, chief of clinical surgery at Children's Hospital Medical Center in Boston, and Dr. Dean Crocker, the Boston center's senior associate in anesthesiology.

The babies weighed five pounds, eight ounces at birth, which was two months premature, and have grown to 15 pounds, nine ounces.

Last August, infant Siamese twin girls joined from the breastbone to the navel were separated successfully in a 3½-hour operation in a Sydney, Australia, hospital.

And in Philadelphia in September 1974, 13-month-old

'Public Disarray' Called Harmful

By RICHARD BLYSTONE
Associated Press Writer
LONDON (AP) — The United States is harming its allies as well as itself with too many revelations about the CIA and the private lives of presidents, conservative British newspapers complain.

"The self-criticism and self-destructive tendencies are running mad," declared one editorial in the Daily Telegraph. "The United States should know that her European cousins and allies are appalled and disgusted by the present disarray of her public life."

This defense of the American establishment seems limited to Britain. On the continent, few have publicly taken sides in the controversy over the Central Intelligence Agency. Le Monde, one of France's most respected papers, took the view that exposure of U.S. diplomats doubling as agents has cast doubt "on the credibility of the country's entire foreign policy."

The British left tends to welcome the naming of CIA agents and activities or laugh at the furor over it. When the Socialist Worker printed names and addresses of five alleged agents on Jan. 21, Laborite member of Parliament Stan Newens asserted:

"The whole record of the CIA, wherever they are based, is one of intervention ... often as a result of their activities many people have died violently."

Another Laborite MP, Paul Rose, found the publication "mildly amusing. Everyone involved in this sort of activity knows just who is collecting information and for whom."

British laws and traditions shut the country's lively press entirely out of certain prohibited areas. A wide-ranging, though seldom invoked, Official Secrets Act makes it technically a crime for a civil servant to tell a reporter what time his boss has his coffee break, let alone expose the secret service that so masterfully and memorably foxed the Germans in World War II.

Ford To Visit Dearborn

DEARBORN, Mich. (AP) — President Gerald Ford and Vice President Nelson Rockefeller will attend a Midwest Leadership Conference here next weekend, a party source confirmed today.

Joining the nation's top two executives will be Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz, Energy Director Frank Zarb, Budget Director James Lynn, Mary Louise Smith, GOP party chairman, and other officials.

The conference is expected to attract as many as 2,000 Republicans from 13 states. Ronald Reagan, challenging Ford for the GOP's presidential nomination, turned down an invitation to attend the conference.

However, Howard "Bo" Callaway, Ford's campaign chief, and John Sears, who holds the same post in the Reagan camp, both are expected to appear.

Rockefeller is to arrive Friday to attend a reception sponsored by Gov. William Milliken and Michigan Sen. Robert Griffin. Ford is expected on Saturday, the source said.

Ford supporters, including Milliken and Griffin, are hoping the meeting will show strong Michigan support for Ford, who spend 25 years in Congress as a representative from the state's southwestern sector.

Judge Gives Probationer 2nd Chance

A Battle Creek man who violated his probation by leaving a rehabilitation center was continued on probation to another rehabilitation center this week in Berrien Circuit court.

Judge William S. White continued Robert G. Friedlund, 28, on two years probation to Teet Challenge rehabilitation center in Muskegon. Friedlund had been placed on probation in November for larceny in a building, but violated the terms of probation when he left another rehabilitation facility in January.

Friedlund was sentenced for stealing $400 from Banner Lanes Co. in Benton township on Aug. 15.

They Say It's Great To Be Working Again

ATLANTA (AP) — Take it from the guys at the General Motors Lakewood assembly plant, it's good to be back.

"Hope you don't mind my short answers, but it's been a while," said G. R. Mullinax, as he attacked a steak and potatoes.

"Pull up your shirt and show him your ribs," said another as GM workers talked to a newsman.

They were among about 2,000 who have returned to the assembly line. Most of them were laid off nearly two years ago.

Larry Tate started a vegetable garden to help feed his wife and two children. He also took fishing seriously, since this was another source of food.

The workers talked about ways they schemed to make ends meet.

Mullinax said he and his family cut out movies.

Eugene Newall said he gave up one of his two cars.

ate $30 worth of groceries a month.

"One of us was going to starve and it wasn't going to be me," Thomas said.

General Motors said about 1,900 employees were returned to work this week, and 500 others were hired because of an improvement in new car sales.

The Lakewood plant assembles the Le Mans, Grand Prix and Chevrolet cars and GMC trucks.

BERRIEN COURT Asks Examination On Robbery Count

The second person arraigned this week in connection with an October armed robbery demanded examination in Berrien Fifth District court Thursday. Another person was bound over to Circuit court and 10 were sentenced.

Demanding examination was Ronald R. Lewis, 22, of Cherry street, Coloma, accused of armed robbery of John McDaniels, Jr., Oct. 27 in Watervliet township. Lewis was jailed under $15,000 bond. Also awaiting preliminary hearing on the charge is Richard H. Huff, 21, of Benton Harbor.

Bound over to Circuit court was Charles E. Krause, 25, of St. Charles, Ill. He is charged with carrying a concealed straight razor and possession of PCP Jan. 11 in Lake township. He was jailed in lieu of $7,000 bond.

Sentenced for the following violations were:

Petty larceny — Edward E. Pondergrass, 21, of 1105 Britain, Benton Harbor, 90 days in jail and two years probation; Clem H. Horton, Jr., 23, of 1896 Highland, Benton Harbor, fine and costs of $122.

AT PAW PAW Holdup-Kidnap Hearing Asked

PAW PAW — A Gary, Ind. man was ordered held in lieu of $50,000 bond yesterday after demanding preliminary examination in Van Buren Seventh district court on charges of kidnaping and armed robbery.

A Jan. 27 hearing on the charges was scheduled for Arnold P. Flack, 38.

Flack and a 15-year-old Kalamazoo boy were taken into custody Wednesday night by state police on I-94 near Benton Harbor in connection with the robbery an hour earlier of about $200 from Chuck's Standard station in Paw Paw. Police said two attendants forced into the holdup men's car during the robbery were released unharmed.

The 15-year-old, who police said had escaped from the Kalamazoo county juvenile home earlier in the day, was scheduled to be petitioned into Van Buren juvenile court.

According to Paw Paw Police Chief George Fadel two men drove into the station and asked the attendants to fix the car's transmission, then fill up the tank. While the attendants were inside figuring up the bill, the men came in, said they were armed, and told them to empty the cash register, Fadel said.

Fadel said no guns were found during the arrest, but that a hunting knife was confiscated.

Senate Approves Gun-Prison Bill

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A bill requiring extra jail sentences for persons convicted of felonies while using a gun has won approval in the state Senate.

The measure passed 28-7 Thursday despite three days of bitter arguments by opponents that the bill would overload state prisons while not affecting crime.

The measure will go back to the House for agreement in minor amendments, but remained in the Senate for a vote next week to put it into effect next January.

Final approval of the bill, which is strongly supported by Gov. William Milliken, is assured after it survived repeated attacks in the Senate. Critics of the measure lost several attempts to send it to the Senate Appropriations Committee for a fiscal study or to change it.

The bill would impose an additional two-year sentence on anyone convicted of using a gun during a felony. A second conviction would draw five extra years, and a third conviction would draw 10 additional years.

The charge of using a gun would be tried separately from the felony charge and the extra sentence would be in addition to any imposed for the felony conviction. The added sentence could not be suspended, and the convict would not be eligible for parole or probation.

Supporters of the bill said it would "send a message out into the streets" to tell criminals they will get mandatory sentences if they use a gun during a crime. They cited figures that showed that many persons convicted of felonies, including those who used guns, spent little or no time in jail.

"This bill represents a new form of hard-nosed liberalism," said Sen. Patrick McCollough, D-Deerborn.

CONVERTING RECORDS TO FILM: Berrien County Sheriff Forrest L. (Nick) Jewell tries out new microfilm camera which will be used to put criminal and operating records on film. Mrs. Harriet Schreiber, data typist, watches. Millions of sheets in bulky department files will be put on space-saving microfilm. # Andretta Turns Tables On Hoffa Grand Jurors

DETROIT (AP) — Reluctant witness Stephen Andretta finally answered questions Thursday from a federal grand jury probing the disappearance of former Teamster President James R. Hoffa.

Despite his appearance behind closed doors, the 40-year-old Teamsters official from Little Ferry, N.J., was returned to the federal prison at Milan where he is serving a contempt of court sentence.

In addition, Andretta turned the tables during the grand jury quiz by asking the jurors some questions. Most of Andretta's questions — 35 to 40 — were prepared by his attorney, William Bufalino, and concerned protection of Andretta's rights, said Bufalino.

U.S. District Judge Ralph Freeman, who sent Andretta to jail Dec. 11, said he would not admit him to bail or bond under any conditions until he is satisfied the witness has answered all questions.

Bufalino disputed the court's decision not to purge Andretta of the contempt charges yet. Bufalino said he would file an appeal today with the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, contending the New Jersey Teamster had complied with court orders to cooperate with the grand jury.

Bufalino and Robert C. Ozer, head of the Justice Department's Organized Crime Strike Force in Detroit, agreed Andretta had answered the key question which tripped him up in three previous appearances before the grand jury.

That was "Where were you on July 30, 1975?" — the day Hoffa was abducted and presumably slain. Neither Bufalino nor his client disclosed where Andretta was on that day.

Bufalino, who described Andretta as "a real All-American boy who has never been arrested for anything more serious than a parking ticket," carefully guided his client through the grand jury session.

Each time the jury or the prosecutors asked Andretta a question, he got permission to confer with Bufalino, who was waiting outside the jury room. Bufalino helped him with the answer and the witness headed back into the grand jury room.

This procedure was followed 38 times during the day. In addition, there were three appearances before Judge Freeman during the day to clarify legal questions.

Judge Freeman last December granted Andretta immunity to testify, which meant the New Jersey Teamster would not be liable for punishment for any federal charge in connection with the Hoffa case. Andretta was sent to Milan when he refused to testify despite the immunity grant.

Florida Is Sold For $16 Million

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) — The Seminole Indians, forced off their tribal lands by U.S. troops more than 100 years ago and pressing their claims ever since, have agreed to sell Florida.

About 300 members of the tribe voted overwhelmingly Thursday to accept $16 million from the federal government as compensation to the 4,000 to 12,000 modern-day Seminoles for 32 million acres of land covering nearly the entire peninsula.

The Seminoles originally sought $47 million for about 40 million acres, and Chief Howard Tommie said the final offer was "nowhere near what the land is worth."

"But if we try to press it and the mood of the government changes, we could be left without a dime. Our lawyers say this is the best we can do. Who has another 25 years to fight?"

The offer, accepted after myriad legal battles since 1949, amounts to about 50 cents an acre for land that includes Miami Beach, Disney World and Cape Canaveral.

The land was seized by Gen. Andrew Jackson during the Seminole Wars of 1823 and 1832 and under the Indian Removal Act of 1840. Appraisers said the land was then worth three cents to $2.50 an acre.

The federal government earlier rejected Seminole claims to land above the Old Spanish Road between St. Augustine and Pensacola and other areas covered by old Spanish land grants.

Only eight votes were cast against the final settlement at the packed meeting Thursday night conducted in three languages — Miccosukee, the Seminole language; Creek, a related language some Seminoles speak; and English.

Tommie warned that it could be years before tribal members get their money.

The settlement must be reviewed by the U.S. Indian Claims Commission, the money must be appropriated by Congress, and the payment must be divided among Seminoles in Florida and in Oklahoma.

Miami lawyer Roy Struble, who has been the Seminole representative for 17 years, said a report of the tribe's vote should reach the commission next week. The panel is expected to set a hearing, on the settlement within the next two weeks.

A spokesman for the Justice

Department, which made the offer last week, said commission approval of such settlements is almost automatic and that Congress has never failed to vote the necessary funds.

Senate Approves Gun-Prison Bill

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer
LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A bill requiring extra jail sentences for persons convicted of felonies while using a gun has won approval in the state Senate.

The measure passed 28-7 Thursday despite three days of bitter arguments by opponents that the bill would overload state prisons while not affecting crime.

The measure will go back to the House for agreement in minor amendments, but remained in the Senate for a vote next week to put it into effect next January.

Final approval of the bill, which is strongly supported by Gov. William Milliken, is assured after it survived repeated attacks in the Senate. Critics of the measure lost several attempts to send it to the Senate Appropriations Committee for a fiscal study or to change it.

The bill would impose an additional two-year sentence on anyone convicted of using a gun during a felony. A second conviction would draw five extra years, and a third conviction would draw 10 additional years.

The charge of using a gun would be tried separately from the felony charge and the extra sentence would be in addition to any imposed for the felony conviction. The added sentence could not be suspended, and the convict would not be eligible for parole or probation.

Supporters of the bill said it would "send a message out into the streets" to tell criminals they will get mandatory sentences if they use a gun during a crime. They cited figures that showed that many persons convicted of felonies, including those who used guns, spent little or no time in jail.

"This bill represents a new form of hard-nosed liberalism," said Sen. Patrick McCollough, D-Deerborn.

HEART OF
THE FRUIT BELT

NEWS OF THE FARM, ORCHARD AND DAIRY

Covering The Greatest Diversified Fruit Producing Area In America

LOCAL-STATE
NATIONALGalien River Conservation
Awards To Be Presented

The conservation farmer and the owner of the farm with best developed wildlife habitat will be given awards at the annual meeting of the Galien River Soil Conservation district.

The Galien district meeting, for cooperators in southern Berrien county, will begin at noon Feb. 7 at River Valley high school, according to Frank Kotyuk, technician for the Galien and St. Joseph districts.

George Lozmack, a Three

Oaks township dairy farmer, will receive the conservation award. This summer he built a concrete structure at the low end of his farm to slow running water and curb soil erosion, Kotyuk said. He has also cut drainage ditches and cleared sod waterways through corn fields.

Viktoras Simaitis, a

Chicagoan who owns a farm on Warren Woods road, Chikaming township, is winner of the wildlife award. By building a farm pond on his property and planting trees and shrubs, he gave animals the three things they need: cover, food and water. The three-quarter acre pond was built last summer, Kotyuk said.

POND IN WINTER: In summer the farm pond that Frank Kotyuk is standing on offers water for nearby deer and other animals. Located on the Viktoras Simaitis farm, Chikaming township, the pond was built this summer and is part of the reason that the Chicago man's farm was recognized for developing wildlife habitat. Kotyuk, a technician for the Galien and St. Joseph River Soil Conservation districts, said that Simaitis is winner of the Galien wildlife award. (Staff photo)

New Trefoil
Tolerates
Weed Killer

For the first time, successive generations of the forage plant birdsfoot trefoil have been used to develop tolerance to the herbicide 2,4-D.

Competition from weeds often severely limits the establishment and maintenance of pastures seeded with birdsfoot trefoil. But development of the resistant strain offers promise that the herbicide can be used to control weeds in trefoil.

The strain was developed over five generations of selection by scientists of the Agricultural Research Service and the New York Agricultural Experiment station, Ithaca.

It is three to five times more tolerant to 2,4-D than Viking, one of the most commonly grown varieties of trefoil. Though 2,4-D slightly damages the leaves of the new strain, the variety recovers quickly where Viking does not. The herbicide 2,4-D is safe, efficient, inexpensive, and there is only a short waiting period before livestock can graze the treated pastures.

Berrien, Van Buren
Farmers Eligible For
Crop Loss Loans

Low interest loans will be made to Berrien and Van Buren farmers who suffered crop losses from spring and summer hail storms last year, Congressman Edward Hutchinson's office reports.

Applications for loans at five per cent interest will be taken by the Farmers Home Administration offices in the two counties. Loans are based on actual losses.

According to Jim Stoddard, Hutchinson's press aid, FHA requested the designation for emergency loans from the U.S. Department of Agriculture for damage that high winds, hail and heavy rains inflicted on crops between May 20 and mid-July.

Robert Howland, manager of the Berrien FHA office, said that a hail storm in late May moved through Bainbridge township and caused an estimated $10 million damage to fruit crops. On July 12 a hail storm hit blueberries and vegetables in the north part of the county, beginning at River-side. Damage from that storm was estimated at $4 to $7 million. FHA will announce procedures for getting the loans at a later time.

Great Lakes
Vegetable Convention
Next Week

Mint growers can double their fun at the ninth annual Great Lakes Vegetable Convention in Lansing by attending the many meetings of general interest to growers plus a special mint session.

More than 1,500 growers are expected to attend the 23 educational sessions and trade show. The convention will be held Jan. 27 through 29 at the Lansing Civic Center. Farm marketing will be the topic of a one of the special educational sessions.

Van Buren
SCS Meet
Jan. 31

Awards will be presented to outstanding conservationists and high-scoring land judging contestants at the annual meeting of the Van Buren Soil Conservation district Jan. 31.

The meeting begins with lunch at noon at the Farm Bureau building, Paw Paw. One director will be elected to a three-year term during the business meeting, which starts at 1:30.

Farm Taxes
At Meets

The Michigan single business tax as it applies to farmers will be explained at two farm tax meetings Jan. 27, according to Bud Search, district farm management extension agent.

Meetings will be held at 1:30 p.m. at the Youth Memorial building, Berrien Springs, and at 8 p.m. at Galien high school. Also to be explained by Search are changes in state and federal reporting procedures.

As Of Jan. 1

State And Federal Minimum
Wages 20 Cents Higher

A 10 per cent increase in Michigan's minimum wage for agricultural workers, in effect since Jan. 1, will push piece rates up 10 per cent, assuming the legislature doesn't eliminate piece rates.

On Jan. 1 the state minimum wage increased to $2.20 an hour, according to Dr. Allen E. Shapley, farm labor specialist for Michigan State University's Center for Rural Manpower and Public Affairs. At the same time the federal minimum wage jumped to $2 an hour, he said.

But, he reminds farmers, a bill which would eliminate piece rates as the sole basis for pay could be in effect by harvest time.

Shapley, an agricultural economist, said that House Bill 4821 may be on the house floor within a month. The bill is in the house agriculture committee following a round of hearings that brought the committee to Benton Harbor last fall.

Farmers who employ four or more workers between the ages of 18 and 65 at any one time and who pay by the hour must pay the state minimum wage, Shapley explained.

This means that fruit growers will normally have to pay the higher state wage. However, when growers paying state approved piece rates also qualify under federal provisions to pay federal minimum wage, they must be sure they pay at least $2 an hour. Farmers who don't qualify under federal provisions can pay less than $2 an hour.

Shapley noted that the federal minimum must be paid by any farmer who used 500 man-days of hired work during any quarter of 1975. Each day that an employee works an hour or more is one man-day.

While the state minimum applies to workers from 18 to 65, the federal minimum covers workers under 18 and over 65. It is allowed to pay students 15 per cent less, or $1.70 an hour.

This year both state and federal wages increased 20 cents. Next January the state's wage will go up another dime to $2.30 an hour, Shapley said. At that figure, several years of gradual increases in the rate will reach a peak.

The federal wage will jump 20 cents next January and another 10 cents on Jan. 1, 1978. At that time, the state and federal minimum wages will both be $2.30 an hour, he added.

Farming 200 Years Ago

Butchering Day Was Festive, Tiring

Meat, not bread, was the staff of life for colonial farmers. Frontier farmers who didn't yet have much livestock lived largely on deer, bear, turkey, grouse, pigeon, squirrel and other wild meats. Bear and opossum fat were rendered into lard which was stored in deer skin bags, as Indians had done for centuries.

Pork, though, was the most frequent meat on the pioneer table. Hogs were produced relatively easily, since they were allowed to forage in the woods for virtually all their food.

Salt pork was standard fare the year 'round. Beef was a secondary meat. Every farmer slaughtered his own animals, usually with the help of neighbors. After crops had been harvested, the fall seedling done, the winter's supply of firewood cut and piled, butchering was in order.

The farmers would gather on some chilly November day. It was a festive day, not just because fresh meat was a welcome change in the diet, but because it offered a chance to visit with neighbors.

A 40 or 50 gallon kettle was hung over an outdoor fire to heat water for scalding the carcasses. Another kettle was used to prepare the lard. The animals — mostly hogs but also oxen, old cows and sheep — were slaughtered in early morning so the meat would be hard and cold by the time it was pickled at nightfall.

Butchering was a very busy time for farm wives. The meat had to be pickled, smoked, salted or pickled so it would keep throughout the year.

Pork was preserved in barrels of brine or in tubs packed with lard. Hams, shoulders and sides were hung in the smokehouse to cure. There was sausage to make, lard to be rendered out, tallow to save.

Hog meat was made into a tremendous variety of food products — salt pork, bacon, ham, sausage, scrapple, head cheese, cracklings, spare ribs, jowls, pickled pigs' feet and others. A supply of beef, too, was dried, corned or smoked, but the backbone of farm fare was hog meat.

The standard cereal food of the pioneers was corn meal. It was consumed mainly as corn-pone or huckle, but corn meal mush and milk were staple foods. Wheat was a cash crop and rarely used to make bread for the farmer's table. He used rye for bread because it was cheaper and equally as nourishing.

Pioneer families picked wild fruits and berries in season. They were eaten fresh or preserved by drying and sometimes by packing in honey or sugar.

Sauerkraut was an important source of vitamins for many farm families during the winter months. It was made by packing cabbages in salt and changing the brine solution from time to time as the cabbage fermented. Sweet corn, beans, pumpkins, squash and other vegetables were also dried.

Apple trees soon came to be grown on many farms, and this fruit was made into cider, dried apples and apple butter. Apple pie came to be the most universal dessert, but not all of it was the kind that made grandma famous.

Israel Acrelius, writing in 1758 about his fellow pioneers from Sweden, said: "Apple pie is used through the whole year and when fresh apples are no longer to be had, dried ones are used. It is the evening meal of children. House-pie in country places is made of apples neither peeled nor freed from their cores. And the crust is not broken even if a wagon wheel goes over it."

HEART OF

NEWS OF THE FARM, ORCHARD AND DAIRY

Covering The Greatest Diversified Fruit Producing Area In America

LOCAL-STATE
NATIONALGalien River Conservation
Awards To Be Presented

The conservation farmer and the owner of the farm with best developed wildlife habitat will be given awards at the annual meeting of the Galien River Soil Conservation district.

The Galien district meeting, for cooperators in southern Berrien county, will begin at noon Feb. 7 at River Valley high school, according to Frank Kotyuk, technician for the Galien and St. Joseph districts.

George Loznack, a Three

Oaks township dairy farmer, will receive the conservation award. This summer he built a concrete structure at the low end of his farm to slow running water and curb soil erosion. Kotyuk said. He has also cut drainage ditches and cleared sod waterways through corn fields.

Viktoras Simaitis, a

Chicagoan who owns a farm on Warren Woods road, Chikaming township, is winner of the wildlife award. By building a farm pond on his property and planting trees and shrubs, he gave animals the three things they need: cover, food and water. The three-quarter acre pond was built last summer, Kotyuk said.

POND IN WINTER: In summer the farm pond that Frank Kotyuk is standing on offers water for nearby deer and other animals. Located on the Viktoras Simaitis farm, Chikaming township, the pond was built this summer and is part of the reason that the Chicago man's farm was recognized for developing wildlife habitat. Kotyuk, a technician for the Galien and St. Joseph River Soil Conservation districts, said that Simaitis is winner of the Galien wildlife award. (Staff photo)

New Trefoil
Tolerates
Weed Killer

For the first time, successive generations of the forage plant birdsfoot trefoil have been used to develop tolerance to the herbicide 2,4-D.

Competition from weeds often severely limits the establishment and maintenance of pastures seeded with birdsfoot trefoil. But development of the resistant strain offers promise that the herbicide can be used to control weeds in trefoil.

The strain was developed over five generations of selection by scientists of the Agricultural Research Service and the New York Agricultural Experiment station, Ithaca.

It is three to five times more tolerant to 2,4-D than Viking, one of the most commonly grown varieties of trefoil. Though 2,4-D slightly damages the leaves of the new strain, the variety recovers quickly where Viking does not. The herbicide 2,4-D is safe, efficient, inexpensive, and there is only a short waiting period before livestock can graze the treated pastures.

Berrien, Van Buren
Farmers Eligible For
Crop Loss Loans

Low interest loans will be made to Berrien and Van Buren farmers who suffered crop losses from spring and summer hail storms last year, Congressman Edward Hutchinson's office reports.

Applications for loans at five per cent interest will be taken by the Farmers Home Administration offices in the two counties. Loans are based on actual losses.

According to Jim Stoddard, Hutchinson's press aid, FHA requested the designation for emergency loans from the U.S. Department of Agriculture for damage that high winds, hail and heavy rains inflicted on crops between May 20 and mid-July.

Robert Howland, manager of the Berrien FHA office, said that a hail storm in late May moved through Bainbridge township and caused an estimated $10 million damage to fruit crops. On July 12 a hail storm hit blueberries and vegetables in the north part of the county, beginning at Riverside. Damage from that storm was estimated at $4 to $7 million. FHA will announce procedures for getting the loans at a later time.

Great Lakes
Vegetable Convention
Next Week

Mint growers can double their fun at the ninth annual Great Lakes Vegetable Convention in Lansing by attending the many meetings of general interest to growers plus a special mint session.

More than 1,500 growers are expected to attend the 23 educational sessions and trade show. The convention will be held Jan. 27 through 29 at the Lansing Civic Center. Farm marketing will be the topic of one of the special educational sessions.

Van Buren
SCS Meet
Jan. 31

Awards will be presented to outstanding conservationists and high-scoring land judging contestants at the annual meeting of the Van Buren Soil Conservation district Jan. 31.

The meeting begins with lunch at noon at the Farm Bureau building, Paw Paw. One director will be elected to a three-year term during the business meeting, which starts at 1:30.

Farm Taxes
At Meets

The Michigan single business tax as it applies to farmers will be explained at two farm tax meetings Jan. 27, according to Bud Search, district farm management extension agent.

Meetings will be held at 1:30 p.m. at the Youth Memorial building, Berrien Springs, and at 8 p.m. at Galien high school. Also to be explained by Search are changes in state and federal reporting procedures.

As Of Jan. 1

State And Federal Minimum
Wages 20 Cents Higher

A 10 per cent increase in Michigan's minimum wage for agricultural workers, in effect since Jan. 1, will push piece rates up 10 per cent, assuming the legislature doesn't eliminate piece rates.

On Jan. 1 the state minimum wage increased to $2.20 an hour, according to Dr. Allen E. Shapley, farm labor specialist for Michigan State University's Center for Rural Manpower and Public Affairs. At the same time the federal minimum wage jumped to $2 an hour, he said.

But, he reminds farmers, a bill which would eliminate piece rates as the sole basis for pay could be in effect by harvest time.

Shapley, an agricultural economist, said that House Bill 4921 may be on the house floor within a month. The bill is in the house agriculture committee following a round of hearings that brought the committee to Benton Harbor last fall.

Farmers who employ four or more workers between the ages of 18 and 65 at any one time and who pay by the hour must pay the state minimum wage, Shapley explained.

This means that fruit growers will normally have to pay the higher state wage. However, when growers paying state approved piece rates also qualify under federal provisions to pay federal minimum wage, they must be sure they pay at least $2 an hour. Farmers who don't qualify under federal provisions can pay less than $2 an hour.

Shapley noted that the federal minimum must be paid by any farmer who used 500 man-days of hired work during any quarter of 1975. Each day that an employee works an hour or more is one man-day.

While the state minimum applies to workers from 18 to 65, the federal minimum covers workers under 18 and over 65. It is allowed to pay students 15 per cent less, or $1.70 an hour.

This year both state and federal wages increased 20 cents. Next January the state's wage will go up another dime to $2.30 an hour, Shapley said. At that figure, several years of gradual increases in the rate will reach a peak.

The federal wage will jump 20 cents next January and another 10 cents on Jan. 1, 1978. At that time, the state and federal minimum wages will both be $2.30 an hour, he added.

Farming 200 Years Ago

Butchering Day Was Festive, Tiring

Meat, not bread, was the staff of life for colonial farmers. Frontier farmers who didn't yet have much livestock lived largely on deer, bear, turkey, grouse, pigeon, squirrel and other wild meats. Bear and opossum fat were rendered into lard which was stored in deerskin bags, as Indians had done for centuries.

Pork, though, was the most frequent meat on the pioneer table. Hogs were produced relatively easily, since they were allowed to forage in the wilds for virtually all their food. Salt pork was standard fare the year 'round. Beef was a secondary meat. Every farmer slaughtered his own animals, usually with the help of neighbors. After crops had been harvested, the fall seedling done, the winter's supply of firewood cut and piled, butchering was in order.

The farmers would gather on some chilly November day. It was a festive day, not just because fresh meat was a welcome change in the diet, but because it offered a chance to visit with neighbors.

A 40 or 50 gallon kettle was hung over an outdoor fire to heat water for scalding the carcasses. Another kettle was used to prepare the lard. The animals — mostly hogs but also oxen, old cows and sheep — were slaughtered in early morning so the meat would be hard and cold by the time it was pickled at nightfall.

Butchering was a very busy time for farm wives. The meat had to be pickled, smoked, salted or potted so it would keep throughout the year.

Pork was preserved in barrels of brine or in tubs packed with lard. Hams, shoulders and sides were hung in the smokehouse to cure. There was sausage to make, lard to be rendered out, tallow to save.

Hog meat was made into a tremendous variety of food products — salt pork, bacon, ham, souse, scrapple, head cheese, cracklings, spare ribs, jowls, pickled pigs' feet and others. A supply of beef, too, was dried, corned or smoked, but the backbone of farm fare was hog meat.

The standard cereal food of the pioneers was corn meal. It was consumed mainly as corn-pone or hoeecake, but corn meal mush and milk were staple foods. Wheat was a cash crop and rarely used to make bread for the farmer's table. He used rye for bread because it was cheaper and equally as nourishing.

Pioneer families picked wild fruits and berries in season. They were eaten fresh or preserved by drying and sometimes by packing in honey or sugar.

Sauerkraut was an important source of vitamins for many farm families during the winter months. It was made by packing cabbages in salt and changing the brine solution from time to time as the cabbage fermented. Sweet corn, beans, pumpkins, squash and other vegetables were also dried.

Apple trees soon came to be grown on many farms, and this fruit was made into cider, dried apples and apple butter. Apple pie came to be the most universal dessert, but not all of it was the kind that made grandma famous.

Stevensville Council Approves Cable TV

Construction of a cable television system in Stevensville was approved by the Stevensville village council last night, but still hinged on two other conditions.

Council officials said it has not been determined yet whether a village vote will be necessary to grant Omega Communications a franchise for the system.

And Craig McCrystal, the firm's regional manager, said construction of a village system depended on whether the firm could extend the system to Lincoln township residents.

He said he expects a Lincoln township board decision soon. Village officials said the village attorney is to study whether a village-wide franchise vote is needed.

McCrystal told the council last March the franchise meets with federal communications commission requirements and will enable the council to revoke the franchise if the project is not begun within six months and completed within one year after it is approved.

He said the firm would like to begin construction in November. Initial facilities needed will include a small building for office, storage and studio and a 200 to 300 foot tower.

The service is not mandatory and will not interfere with present television reception. Customers will pay a monthly rate of $7 and a $15 installation fee can be, but is not usually, charged. The village will receive a $1 rebate per customer annually.

Planned for the future, he added, is satellite television which will include nightly showings of first-run movies, which will be offered for an additional cost.

In other business, Trustee Charles "Bud" Kerlikowski reported after meeting yesterday with National Guard officials, that they are "definitely interested" in a 10-acre tract he owns — and has offered to donate — as the possible site for a National Guard armory. The property, located off Ridge road, will be inspected by the officials again after the snow is gone before a final decision is made.

The council approved an increase from $1.75 to $1.90 per stop, per month, for Jerry Allen & Sons, Coloma, for rubbish and garbage collection. Allen had requested a $2 monthly fee for each of the approximately 385 stops. He said he would consider the offer. The firm's contract expires March 7.

Approval was given to Richard Beck, police chief, to purchase a used bar-top light for the new police car at a cost of $127 installed.

DOWAGIAC Shot Hits Rider Of Snowmobile

DOWAGIAC — A 14-year-old Dowagiac boy was shot in the stomach while riding a snowmobile south of here last night, but didn't know it, according to Cass sheriff's deputies.

The boy, Marly Nintz, route 4, Dowagiac, was listed in serious condition this morning at Lee Memorial hospital, Dowagiac. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Freese, hospital officials said.

Deputies said the boy was with two friends about 9:30 p.m. on Peavine street in Pokagon township, when he suddenly complained of sharp stomach pains and his friends called an ambulance. Doctors discovered the bullet wound and called the police.

Deputies said they believe the boy was shot with a small caliber rifle. They said they have no suspects, but an investigation is continuing.

Capt. Paul Parrish said investigators have not found any motive for the shooting and have not found any witnesses yet. None of the boys heard a shot fired.

Grain Elevator Blast Kills Four

of the building and got stuck in the snow.

"I jumped out of my truck and ran like hell ... I turned around and saw all that dust. I didn't believe what I saw. I heard some yelling from people back by the head house. I kept running."

"There were bodies all over the place and apparently they had been blown right through the walls and the windows," said Saginaw County sheriff's deputy John Dankert. "There were other people who had been knocked down walking around in a daze."

The blast sent flames shooting 60 feet into the air, witnesses said.

"I heard one big explosion that sounded like freight trains colliding," said a Farm Bureau employee.

Most of those killed, injured or trapped were employees of the Michigan Elevator Exchange.

Farm Bureau Services, officials said.

A Farm Bureau spokesman who asked not to be identified said the workmen were at the site unloading grain. He said he did not know what caused the blast, but he speculated: "Dust can explode."

The state fire marshal's office was called in to investigate the cause of the blast.

The concrete elevator which blew up was used to transfer grain and other commodities to a row of 36 adjacent double silos.

At least two of those hospitalized were listed in critical condition, officials said.

The dead workers, all Saginaw men, were identified as Bruce D. O'Dell, 32; George Murley, 38; Jack R. Storm, 43; and Roger Horney.

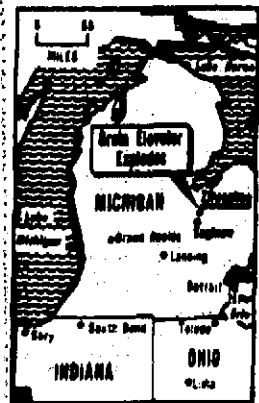

Those in critical condition were identified as Joseph Hernandez, 47, of Buena Vista Township near Saginaw; and William Wenzel, 31, of Montrose. Listed as being in serious condition was Harold Spencer, 48, of Saginaw.

Those listed in fair condition at hospitals were Alfred Smith, 38, of Hemlock; William Staffney, 44, of Saginaw; Russell Kine, 21, of Reese; and Walker Carter, 28, of Saginaw. Listed in good condition at a hospital was James H. Nugent, 51, of Bridgeport.

Treated and released with minor injuries was Terry Schaffer, of Zilwaukee; and Fess was taken immediately to a hospital. The identities of the two missing persons were not released.

The three men who walked away were MacFarlane; Brian McNamara, 19, of Birch Run; Gerald R. O'Dell, brother of one of the dead men.

Three ambulance attendants were hospitalized for exposure or inhalation of dust fumes.

Bogus Sawbucks Surface In Niles

NILES — State police at the Niles post said two counterfeit $10 bills were taken in yesterday by the First National Bank of Southwestern Michigan in Niles from customers making deposits.

Troopers said the customers operate Niles businesses and are believed to have unknowingly accepted the bills from their customers. Both bills were turned over to federal treasury department officials in Grand Rapids.

Troopers said the bills were printed on low quality paper and were slightly off-color compared to authentic bills. Both bills carried the serial number G48277171C and were marked as Series 1968B.

Similar counterfeit bills were first discovered in circulation in December in the Niles area, officers said.

NEW AMBASSADOR WASHINGTON (AP) — Ruth Parks, who was named ambassador to Luxembourg after her $300,000 post-election campaign donation to Richard Nixon, is being replaced by a Republican committeewoman from Missouri. White House sources Thursday confirmed the selection of Rosemary Ginn.

Women Can't Be Cubmasters

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Boy Scouts of America has restated an old policy — women can't be cubmasters because boys need men to lead them.

"It's true that Cub Scouting is a family program, but as boys grow up it is imperative to have a male image in the leadership position," Arch Monson Jr., the organization's national president, said Thursday.

Teenager's Trial Due In March

ALLEGAN — Trial date for Vincent Dwight Peckens, 17, a Martin high school junior, has been set for the last three days in March, according to an Allegan Circuit court spokesman.

Peckens is currently free on $10,000 bond on charges of assault with intent to commit murder and first degree criminal sexual conduct. He is accused of the alleged June 12, 1975, rape and kidnapping of a 20-year-old Otsego woman at a gravel pit north of Otsego.

Allegan Circuit Court Judge George R. Corsiglia in December upheld a ruling that Peckens should be tried as an adult. The court ruling came on an appeal by Peckens' attorney, Barry Beach of Plainwell, to block an adult trial.

The adult trial had been ordered previously by Allegan Probate Judge Dwight M. Cheever at the request of the Allegan county prosecutor's office.

The probate decision came when Peckens was taken before the probate court as a juvenile because of his age then.

In August, Peckens waived a district court preliminary hearing and was arraigned in circuit court. All matters concerning the case were stayed at that point by Judge Corsiglia, pending his written opinion on the appeal question.

Peckens, who is 6 foot 3, is a starting member of the Martin high school varsity basketball team.

FELONY CHARGE

Dowagiac Man's Arraignment Set

CASSOPOLIS — A Dowagiac man was scheduled to be arraigned today in Cass county's 4th District court here on a charge of embezzling funds from the Cass Area Jaycees.

Charged with embezzlement over $100 is Carl Turner, 29, of 430 West High street, Dowagiac, according to a spokesman for Prosecutor Michael Dodge.

Cass county felony squad detectives said Turner is accused of writing several checks on the Jaycee account totaling $104 which he allegedly used for personal gain.

Officers said Turner is president of the unchartered organization. He was arrested Tuesday and was released on $5,000 bond.

A construction worker, Turner was an unsuccessful candidate for first ward city councilman in the Dowagiac city elections last November. One of Turner's campaign issues was the need for a crime prevention program in Dowagiac.

The felony charge of embezzlement carries a sentence of up to 10 years in prison or a fine of up to $5,000, according to the spokesman for Dodge.

Layoffs Loom In Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — Mayor Coleman Young says Detroit will be forced to lay off thousands of employees unless the city receives massive new aid from the state and federal governments. In his State of the City address Thursday, Young said the city has "already cut expenses enough and that Lansing and Washington 'are deaf to (Detroit's) real problems.'" The mayor pledged to take action on a budget deficit that he said could total nearly $50 million by June 30. "The only alternatives are massive cutbacks and the dismissal of thousands of (city) employees — or new revenues," he said. "... I believe we've already cut deep enough into the bone — and the heart — of city services."

Altered Tickets Reported

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Two people have been arrested following attempts to cash altered Instant Game lottery tickets, according to Lottery Commissioner Gus Harrison. Harrison said Thursday the incidents involved "altered" rather than "counterfeit" tickets. Parts of two tickets were pasted together to make the altered ticket appear to be a $2 or $5 winner, he said. Harrison said that Anthony Pichera, 24, of Hazel Park was arrested by Redford Township Police on Dec. 31, and Ruth Clifton, 27, of South Lyon was arrested by Livonia Police on Jan. 16. Three similar incidents remain under investigation. He said the two people were charged with alteration of a lottery ticket, a felony which carries a maximum penalty of up to five years in jail and a $1,000 fine.

Stevensville Council Approves Cable TV

Construction of a cable television system in Stevensville was approved by the Stevensville village council last night, but still hinged on two other conditions.

Council officials said it has not been determined yet whether a village vote will be necessary to grant Omega Communications a franchise for the system.

And Craig McCrystal, the firm's regional manager, said construction of a village system depended on whether the firm could extend the system to Lincoln township residents.

He said he expects a Lincoln township board decision soon. Village officials said the village attorney is to study whether a village-wide franchise vote is needed.

McCrystal told the council last March the franchise meets with federal communications commission requirements and will enable the council to revoke the franchise if the project is not begun within six months and completed within one year after it is approved.

He said the firm would like to begin construction in November. Initial facilities needed will include a small building for office, storage and studio and a 200 to 300 foot tower.

The service is not mandatory and will not interfere with present television reception. Customers will pay a monthly rate of $7 and a $15 installation fee can be, but is not usually, charged. The village will receive a $1 rebate per customer annually.

Planned for the future, he added, is satellite television which will include nightly showings of first-run movies, which will be offered for an additional cost.

In other business, Trustee Charles "Bud" Kerlikowski reported after meeting yesterday with National Guard officials, that they are "definitely interested" in a 10-acre tract he owns — and has offered to donate — as the possible site for a National Guard armory. The property, located off Ridge road, will be inspected by the officials again after the snow is gone before a final decision is made.

The council approved an increase from $1.75 to $1.90 per stop, per month, to Jerry Allen & Sons, Coloma, for rubbish and garbage collection. Allen had requested a $2 monthly fee for each of the approximately 385 stops. He said he would consider the offer. The firm's contract expires March 7.

Approval was given to Richard Beck, police chief, to purchase a used bar-top light for the new police car at a cost of $127 installed.

DOWAGIAC

Shot Hits Rider Of Snowmobile

DOWAGIAC — A 14-year-old Dowagiac boy was shot in the stomach while riding a snowmobile south of here last night, but didn't know it, according to Cass sheriff's deputies.

The boy, Marty Nimitz, route 4, Dowagiac, was listed in serious condition this morning at Lee Memorial hospital, Dowagiac. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Frese, hospital officials said.

Deputies said the boy was with two friends about 9:30 p.m. on Peavine street in Pokagon township when he suddenly complained of sharp stomach pains and his friends called an ambulance. Doctors discovered the bullet wound and called the police.

Deputies said they believe the boy was shot with a small caliber rifle. They said they have no suspects, but an investigation is continuing.

Capt. Paul Parrish said investigators have not found any motive for the shooting and have not found any witnesses yet. None of the boys heard a shot fired.

"I jumped out of my truck and ran like hell ... I turned around and saw all that dust. I didn't believe what I saw. I heard some yelling from people back by the head house. I kept running."

"There were bodies all over the place and apparently they had been blown right through the walls and the windows," said Saginaw County sheriff's deputy John Dankert. "There were other people who had been knocked down walking around in a daze."

The blast sent flames shooting 60 feet into the air, witnesses said.

"I heard one big explosion that sounded like freight trains colliding," said a Farm Bureau employee.

Most of those killed, injured or trapped were employees of the Michigan Elevator Exchange.

Bogus Sawbucks Surface In Niles

NILES — State police at the Niles post said two counterfeit $10 bills were taken in yesterday by the First National Bank of Southwestern Michigan in Niles from customers making deposits.

NEW AMBASSADOR WASHINGTON (AP) — Ruth Farkas, who was named ambassador to Luxembourg after her $300,000 post-election campaign donation to Richard Nixon, is being replaced by a Republican committeewoman from Missouri. White House sources Thursday confirmed the selection of Rosemary Ginn.

Troopers said the customers operate Niles businesses and are believed to have unknowingly accepted the bills from their customers. Both bills were turned over to federal treasury department officials in Grand Rapids.

Troopers said the bills were printed on low quality paper and were slightly off-color compared to authentic bills. Both bills carried the serial number G48277171C and were marked as Series 1969B.

Similar counterfeit bills were first discovered in circulation in December in the Niles area, officers said.

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Boy Scouts of America has restated an old policy — women can't be cubmasters because boys need men to lead them.

Teenager's Trial Due In March

ALLEGAN — Trial date for Vincent Dwight Peckens, 17, a Martin high school junior, has been set for the last three days in March, according to an Allegan Circuit court spokesman.

Peckens is currently free on $10,000 bond on charges of assault with intent to commit murder and first degree criminal sexual conduct. He is accused of the alleged June 12, 1975, rape and knifing of a 20-year-old Otsego woman at a gravel pit north of Otsego.

Allegan Circuit Judge George R. Corsiglia in December upheld a ruling that Peckens should be tried as an adult. The court ruling came on an appeal by Peckens' attorney, Harry Beach of Plainwell, to

Legislator Will Quiz 'Red Squad' Within 3 Weeks

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The House Civil Rights Committee chairman says he will ask State Police officers who worked with the "Red Squad" to testify about what they did with their information.

"We'll start calling in some of the police officers to find out what they did with the file information and some of the procedures they used ... the people who headed the unit and were responsible for determining what happened to the information," Rep. Perry Bullard, D-Ann Arbor, said Thursday.

Bullard also said he has asked the director of the State Police to send the committee copies of files on any political party which has appeared on the ballot in Michigan since 1950. That was the year the unit was formed to investigate people suspected of terrorism or Communist sympathies.

The squad, officially called the Subversive Activities Unit, was ordered out of existence a week ago by Ingham County Circuit Court Judge Thomas Brown. Brown ordered the squad's 50,000 files on Michigan people destroyed by March 16.

Bullard said Brown's ruling will not stop the committee from continuing its investigation into alleged political spying by the squad.

"Our committee has evidence of State Police spying on lawyers, professors, candidates for public office and ordinary citizens that the people of Michigan should be aware of."

He said the judge's order that the files be destroyed constitutes a "cover-up."

Bullard said State Police officers might be called within the next three weeks. The committee meets each Thursday.

He said his committee has evidence that there is a State Police file on a past student body president of Michigan State University; a report on a Detroit anti-draft lawyer attending a political conference in New York; and a report on a community college teacher's car being seen at a peace demonstration.

Bullard said the evidence shows that the report on the teacher was sent to the Detroit Police. He said there is also evidence an undercover trooper attended business meetings of a Detroit-area peace coalition.

The representative also said there is evidence that the State Police contacted an East Lansing businessman to tell him his store's truck was seen transporting people to an anti-war demonstration.

Col. George Halverson, director of the State Police, was not immediately available for comment.

Legislator Will Quiz 'Red Squad' Within 3 Weeks

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The House Civil Rights Committee chairman says he will ask State Police officers who worked with the "Red Squad" to testify about what they did with their information.

"We'll start calling in some of the police officers to find out what they did with the file information and some of the procedures they used ... the people who headed the unit and were responsible for determining what happened to the information," Rep. Perry Bullard, D-Ann Arbor, said Thursday.

Bullard also said he has asked the director of the State Police to send the committee copies of files on any political party which has appeared on the ballot in Michigan since 1950. That was the year the unit was formed to investigate people suspected of terrorism or Communist sympathies.

The squad, officially called the Subversive Activities Unit, was ordered out of existence a week ago by Ingham County Circuit Court Judge Thomas Brown. Brown ordered the squad's 50,000 files on Michigan people destroyed by March 16.

Bullard said Brown's ruling will not stop the committee from continuing its investigation into alleged political spying by the squad.

"Our committee has evidence of State Police spying on lawyers, professors, candidates for public office and ordinary citizens that the people of Michigan should be aware of."

He said the judge's order that the files be destroyed constitutes a "cover-up."

Bullard said State Police officers might be called within the next three weeks. The committee meets each Thursday.

He said his committee has evidence that there is a State Police file on a past student body president of Michigan State University; a report on a Detroit anti-draft lawyer attending a political conference in New York; and a report on a community college teacher's car being seen at a peace demonstration.

Bullard said the evidence shows that the report on the teacher was sent to the Detroit Police. He said there is also evidence an undercover trooper attended business meetings of a Detroit-area peace coalition.

The representative also said there is evidence that the State Police contacted an East Lansing businessman to tell him his store's truck was seen transporting people to an anti-war demonstration.

Col. George Halverson, director of the State Police, was not immediately available for comment.

GOVERNOR SIGNS BILL: Gov. William Milliken (center) recently signed into law measure which provides changes in the Plant Rehabilitation Act of 1974. Bill's sponsor, State Sen. Gary Byker (R-Hudsonville), and his wife, Henrietta, were on hand for signing. Bill removes requirement that tax exemptions cannot be granted for developments which exceed five per cent of state equalized valuation in community considering exemption. Bill also extends tax exemptions to leased personal property which is financed under Industrial Revenue Bonding act. It also extends exemptions to offices, engineering, research and development, warehousing and parts distributions facilities, relative to manufacturing operations.

Presidential Primary May Cost Taxpayers 'A Bundle'

By JIM DeLAND
Assistant City Editor

Local units of government may have to foot the bill for Michigan's presidential preference primary election in May and the entire state may have to vote on paper ballots in the November general election.

Those predictions were issued Thursday by Berrien County Clerk Forrest H. Kesterke at the regular monthly meeting of the county board of commissioners.

Kesterke also labeled the registration of voters at driver's license bureaus as "garbage license registration" and predicted that not more than 10 per cent of the voters registered in this manner actually would cast ballots in elections this year. "The presidential primary doesn't serve one damn purpose on earth," Kesterke declared in an interview later, "but it could cost taxpayers in this county a bundle."

He explained that in 1972, counties, cities and townships were reimbursed by the state for a majority of the costs involved in conducting the presidential primary, but that legislation to pick up the tab again this year is stalled in the senate and "from what we understand, they're going to freeze it in committee."

In that event, he said, the county and its local voting units would have to absorb the cost of conducting the presidential primary, which he estimated at over $125,000.

"There's no question that our (county) costs this time are going to be $15,000 plus another $10,000 we wouldn't be reimbursed for, and from a local standpoint it's got to be well in excess of $100,000."

He explained that this estimate was for all costs involved in holding an election, including wages for poll workers, preparing and transporting voting machines, printing paper ballots and keeping polling places open.

Kesterke said that Berrien county — and the entire state — might be forced to vote on paper ballots in the November general election because too many parties qualify to be listed on voting machines.

He said the voting machines used by Berrien county and most of the state can accommodate no more than nine separate parties, and that the state director of elections has indicated more than that number will qualify through petitions this year.

Kesterke noted that law permits any party to be placed on the Michigan ballot by presenting signatures equal to one-tenth of one per cent of votes cast for secretary of state in the previous general election.

He pointed out that this means only about 2,500 signatures, and added that "you can get petitions signed for anything."

"Only two parties in the last general election got more than one-tenth of one per cent of the votes in Michigan. What sense does that make?"

He said the use of paper ballots would not only mean a major expense for printing, but would delay reporting of results, create numerous administrative headaches and perhaps threaten the accuracy of the election as well.

"I'm not so sure we would be able to conduct an election that we could double-check to be sure we're right," he said. "Nothing is impossible — but it ain't practically possible."

Kesterke charged that license bureaus "have made a contest"

out of registering voters under the new program, which went into effect last October and has been pushed by Secretary of State Richard Austin.

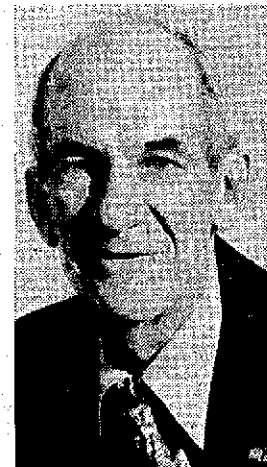

In the first three months of the program, he said his office received 1,946 registrations, which does not include those sent directly to the cities of St. Joseph, Benton Harbor, Niles and to Niles township.

A large share of these registrations are improperly filled out or incomplete, he added, requiring additional work by his office, which is to be reimbursed by the state only 10 cents for each registration.

Worse yet, he said, there is no doubt the new system in producing double registrations in some instances and leaving many precincts with voters on their lists who actually have moved and registered in other precincts.

Kesterke also said previous experience with voter registration drives indicate they only produce a lower percentage of voter turnout in subsequent elections and "I'll bet not more than 10 per cent of these new ones ever really vote."

He said Berrien county now has about 83,000 registered voters.

County To Loan Strapped Berrien General $120,000

The Berrien county board of commissioners Thursday voted to loan Berrien General hospital $120,000 to help the hospital pay its bills during the next 16 weeks.

Commissioner Edward Mattix, chairman of the hospital's board of trustees, said the loan was needed because the state is holding up some $200,000 in Medicaid payments due the hospital for expenses in the 1974-75 fiscal year and has claimed a lid on current payments that reduces Berrien General's income by roughly $10,000 per month.

"This absolutely makes the cash flow impossible to operate the hospital," Mattix declared.

He stressed that the $120,000 from the county is a loan that is to be repaid by May 15, and not a subsidy of the hospital's operating costs.

"The county never has been asked to pay for operating costs at the hospital," Mattix said, "and I defy you to go through the entire state of Michigan and find another case where that's true" for an extended care facility.

The hospital board chairman said the county has given the hospital grants for construction and other capital improvements, but never for operating costs.

He said the state also has announced it will no longer reimburse the hospital for physical therapy and occupational therapy provided for extended care patients, many of whom are hospitalized for 6-7 years.

"Previously, you had to provide these services to be licensed by the state," Mattix said, "but now they're saying either you don't provide them or you pay for them yourself."

Mattix charged that the state's action was the result of a financial squeeze in state government and that "they're strictly taking their problem and passing it on."

"Other hospitals are affected — the Mercies, Memorials, Pawlings and Waterliets — but not to the extent of Berrien General because they don't have extended care facilities."

Mattix also told commissioners there was some hope for relief from the state edicts in legal action being considered by the Michigan Hospital Association, which he said is preparing a suit against the state for "discrimination, in the sense of unfairness to older people."

Caroline Haase, staff counsel for Berrien General, said the hospital association is considering a court challenge to two specific state actions regarding Medicaid reimbursements:

— An executive order by Gov. William Milliken placing an absolute freeze on any increase in reimbursement for chronic care or long-term patients over 1974-75 levels of payment.

— A limit of seven per cent increase over 1974-75 on reimbursement for in-patient or acute care patients.

She said these orders hit especially hard at Berrien General, where "80 per cent of our patients are on Medicaid" and allows almost no adjustment for the recent increase in the minimum wage, the rising cost of malpractice insurance and rising prices of almost all supplies.

Mattix said the hospital has taken "drastic steps" to keep costs in line, including ordering each employee to take off one day a month without pay.

He also said some jobs have been combined and that "every purchase made is being scrutinized and, wherever possible, just not bought."

Mattix later charged that the state cutbacks were ordered "strictly on the basis of economy, not humanity," and that "I don't think it's fair for senior citizens to bear the brunt of an austerity program."

Commissioner Kenneth Wendzel declared that it is "illegal as hell for the state to withhold federal funds because they've got a financial problem."

Commissioner Nancy Clark contrasted the cutbacks with increasing welfare expenditures and said "if welfare comes above the health needs of the general public, I think the public ought to know about it."

Commissioner Lad Stacey,

chairman of the finance committee, said there was "no way" the hospital would default on the

Berrien Legal Services Will Get County Funding

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

The Berrien county board of commissioners yesterday in a split vote authorized $15,000 for Berrien County Legal Services Bureau, Inc., to provide attorneys in certain probate court cases.

The resolution was approved by a 9 to 3 margin and "was signed with reluctance by six commissioners," noted Commissioner Otto Grau, chairman of the board's administration committee.

Grau said the resolution was drafted because legal services recently "said they didn't have enough attorneys and turned us down on some cases." Grau earlier this week told The Herald-Palladium one of the bureau's staff said legal services would not accept any more cases unless provisions were made to get funding.

Atty. Edward Yampolsky, director of legal services, told this newspaper there was no loan, which is to be repaid with the reimbursement already due from the state.

threat of a work stoppage and no statements were made to force the county into funding legal services. "We made no threats whatsoever," Yampolsky said previously. "Probate court asked for an attorney and we said we didn't have one available."

The funding will continue a program in which legal services represents indigent parents accused in child neglect cases. While the county has previously given the bureau "in-kind" contributions (such as use of the building at 901 Port street, St. Joseph), the $15,000 is the first time Berrien county has given legal services direct funding.

Voting against the funding proposal were Commissioners Kenneth Wendzel, Bill Joseph and R.J. Burkholz. Chairman Leslie Fischer was absent.

Burkholz expressed opposition to the funding and the county's obligation, noting: "We're paying for a job the state is supposed to be doing."

Grau explained the state is responsible for providing attorneys for indigent parents in child neglect cases, and the state has ordered the counties to pay for such services. He also pointed out that most of legal services' funding comes from the federal government, which had indicated it did not want to pay for work conducted for the state.

"This is the cheapest way for the county to do it," commented Grau, who cited figures showing it costs the county about $8 per hour for legal services representation, whereas if private attorneys were appointed it would be about $35 per hour.

The six commissioners who signed the resolution "with reluctance," as Grau said, were Grau, Walter Heyn and Frank Poorman, members of the administration committee, and Lad Stacey, Wendzel, and Carl Gnodke of the finance committee.

Legal services originally asked for $20,000, Grau added, and said the $15,000 would probably be used for additional staff.

The board also approved two resolutions to facilitate completion of a pavilion at Love Creek Nature center near Berrien Center. Approved was $1,207 for a heating system to be installed by Twin Cities Electric Corp., and $1,268 to Ace Electric for an electrical system.

Charles Barnes, environmentalist for the county, said the pavilion will be used for environmental education classes for school groups and the public. He said the exterior is complete and the pavilion should be ready for use in the spring.

The board in a related item allocated $18,000 to the county parks and recreation commission for the 1976 appropriation.

Commissioners in another matter increased the redemption fees for dogs corralled by dog wardens and taken to the county pound, and established a new rate for redemptions of dogs picked up if wardens are called out at normal working hours.

Board members said higher operating costs at the pound necessitated the new rates for redemption. The new rates are $5 for the first day; $2 for each additional day; and $5 for each pickup from veterinarians. The fees were, respectively, $2, $1, and $3.

If wardens are called out after hours, the rates are $10 for the first day and $4 for each day after.

Anti-Busing Pickets Demonstrate In Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — Anti-busing demonstrators Thursday picketed Detroit's Federal Building as the NAACP and an anti-busing school board member made separate appeals for the peaceful implementation of the city's school integration plan.

There were no incidents and no arrests as the picketers marched outside the building, which houses the offices of U.S. District Court Judge Robert DeMascio. DeMascio ordered the integration plan which calls for nearly 22,000 school children to be bused and about 38,000 more to be transferred without busing.

The demonstrators failed in their attempt to see DeMascio. A security guard outside the Federal Building threatened arrests, and the demonstrators left peacefully.

Also present were two groups of counter-demonstrators.

The busing opponents also briefly picketed Ford Auditorium where Detroit Mayor Coleman Young was delivering his State of the City address.

At a news conference, school board member Patrick McDonald said he would send two of his own children to classes on Monday, when busing begins, despite his disagreement with the desegregation plan.

"I do not ... believe forced busing is necessary, nor is it educationally sound," he said. But he added:

"What I urge Detroiters to do is be peaceful."

Lawrence Washington, president of Detroit's chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, praised McDonald and criticized the leader of the anti-busing demonstration.

Washington said Carmen Roberts, leader of Mothers Alert Detroit, was "inciting trouble," by asking people to boycott schools.

Washington said she should follow "the example of Pat MacDonald in calling for peaceful obedience of the court order."

Mrs. Roberts has said her group does not endorse violence and will stay away from schools on Monday.

The guns were to be taken to Michigan State Police headquarters, today, where they will be melted down. Crime Unit Commander Don Jewell is shown with the weapons. Weapons were taken from people arrested on charges such as carrying a concealed weapon, armed robbery, burglary and possession of stolen property, Metro officers said. (Staff photo)

Fire Levels Shack At Cook A-Plant

BRIDGMAN — A quickly extinguished fire which destroyed a wooden construction shack at the Cook nuclear power plant near here yesterday morning did not endanger operations at the plant or public safety, according to Donald Macke, a plant spokesman.

Macke said the fire occurred in a construction area several hundred feet away from the buildings housing the plant's two reactors. One of the reactors, the one closest to the fire, is still under construction and contains no radioactive material, he said.

Macke said the wooden shelter caught on fire about 11 a.m. while workmen were inside it using propane heaters to thaw frost in preparation for excavation. One of the heaters melted insulation which then ignited, he said.

The fire was extinguished by plant firemen. The Bridgman fire department was called as a backup, he said.

There were no injuries and there was no damage to the plant or its equipment, Macke said.

GOVERNOR SIGNS BILL: Gov. William Milliken (center) recently signed into law measure which provides changes in the Plant Rehabilitation Act of 1974. Bill's sponsor, State Sen. Gary Byker (R-Hudsonville), and his wife, Henrietta, were on hand for signing. Bill removes requirement that tax exemptions cannot be granted for developments which exceed five per cent of state equalized valuation in community considering exemption. Bill also extends tax exemptions to leased personal property which is financed under Industrial Revenue Bonding act. It also extends exemptions to offices, engineering, research and development, warehousing and parts distributions facilities, relative to manufacturing operations.

Presidential Primary May Cost Taxpayers 'A Bundle'

Assistant City Editor

Local units of government may have to foot the bill for Michigan's presidential preference primary election in May and the entire state may have to vote on paper ballots in the November general election. Those predictions were issued Thursday by Berrien County Clerk Forrest H. Kesterke at the regular monthly meeting of the county board of commissioners.

Kesterke also labeled the registration of voters at driver's license bureaus as "garbage license registration" and predicted that not more than 10 per cent of the voters registered in this manner actually would cast ballots in elections this year. "The presidential primary doesn't serve one damn purpose on earth," Kesterke declared in an interview later, "but it could cost taxpayers in this county a bundle."

He explained that in 1972, counties, cities and townships were reimbursed by the state for a majority of the costs involved in conducting the presidential primary, but that legislation to pick up the tab again this year is stalled in the senate and "from what we understand, they're going to freeze it in committee."

In that event, he said, the county and its local voting units would have to absorb the cost of conducting the presidential primary, which he estimated at over $125,000.

"There's no question that our (county) costs this time are going to be $15,000 plus another $10,000 we wouldn't be reimbursed for, and from a local standpoint it's got to be well in excess of $100,000."

He explained that this estimate was for all costs involved in holding an election, including wages for poll workers, preparing and transporting voting machines, printing paper ballots and keeping polling places open.

Kesterke said that Berrien county — and the entire state — might be forced to vote on paper ballots in the November general election because too many parties qualify to be listed on voting machines.

He said the voting machines used by Berrien county and most of the state can accommodate no more than nine separate parties, and that the state director of elections has indicated more than that number will qualify through petitions this year.

Kesterke noted that law permits any party to be placed on the Michigan ballot by presenting signatures equal to one-tenth of one per cent of votes cast for secretary of state in the previous general election.

He pointed out that this means only about 2,500 signatures, and added that "you can get petitions signed for anything."

"Only two parties in the last general election got more than one-tenth of one per cent of the votes in Michigan. What sense does that make?"

He said the use of paper ballots would not only mean a major expense for printing, but would delay reporting of results, create numerous administrative headaches and perhaps threaten the accuracy of the election as well.

"I'm not so sure we would be able to conduct an election that we could double-check to be sure we're right," he said. "Nothing is impossible — but it ain't practically possible."

Kesterke charged that license bureaus "have made a contest"

out of registering voters under the new program, which went into effect last October and has been pushed by Secretary of State Richard Austin.

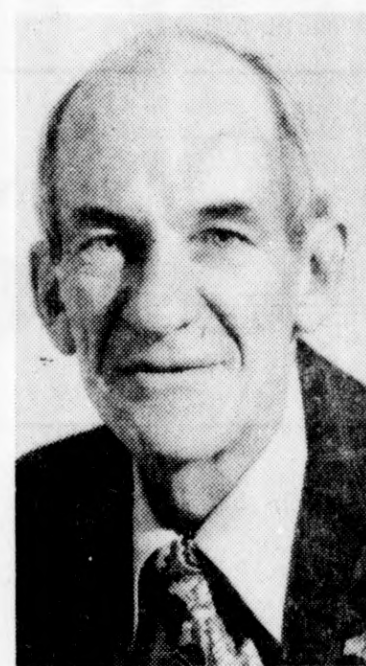

In the first three months of the program, he said his office received 1,946 registrations, which does not include those sent directly to the cities of St. Joseph, Benton Harbor, Niles and to Niles township.

A large share of these registrations are improperly filled out or incomplete, he added, requiring additional work by his office, which is to be reimbursed by the state only 10 cents for each registration.

Worse yet, he said, there is no doubt the new system in producing double registrations in some instances and leaving many precincts with voters on their lists who actually have moved and registered in other precincts.

Kesterke also said previous experience with voter registration drives indicate they only produce a lower percentage of voter turnout in subsequent elections and "I'll bet not more than 10 per cent of these new ones ever really vote."

He said Berrien county now has about 83,000 registered voters.

County To Loan Strapped Berrien General $120,000

The Berrien county board of commissioners Thursday voted to loan Berrien General hospital $120,000 to help the hospital pay its bills during the next 16 weeks.

Commissioner Edward Mattix, chairman of the hospital's board of trustees, said the loan was needed because the state is holding up some $200,000 in Medicaid payments due the hospital for expenses in the 1974-75 fiscal year and has clamped a lid on current payments that reduces Berrien General's income by roughly $10,000 per month.

"This absolutely makes the cash flow impossible to operate the hospital," Mattix declared.

He stressed that the $120,000 from the county is a loan that is to be repaid by May 15, and not a subsidy of the hospital's operating costs.

"The county never has been asked to pay for operating costs at the hospital," Mattix said, "and I defy you to go through the entire state of Michigan and find another case where that's true" for an extended care facility.

The hospital board chairman said the county has given the hospital grants for construction and other capital improvements, but never for operating costs.

He said the state also has announced it will no longer reimburse the hospital for physical therapy and occupational therapy provided for extended care patients, many of whom are hospitalized for 6-7 years.

"Previously, you had to provide these services to be licensed by the state," Mattix said, "but now they're saying either you don't provide them or you pay for them yourself."

Mattix charged that the state's action was the result of a financial squeeze in state government and that "they're strictly taking their problem and passing it on."

"Other hospitals are affected — the Mercies, Memorials, Pawatings and Watervliets — but not to the extent of Berrien General because they don't have extended care facilities."

Mattix also told commissioners there was some hope for relief from the state edicts in legal action being considered by the Michigan Hospital Association, which he said is preparing a suit against the state for "discrimination, in the sense of unfairness to older people."

Caroline Haase, staff counsel for Berrien General, said the hospital association is considering a court challenge to two specific state actions regarding Medicaid reimbursements:

— An executive order by Gov. William Milliken placing an absolute freeze on any increase in reimbursement for chronic care or long-term patients over 1974-75 levels of payment.

— A limit of seven per cent increase over 1974-75 on reimbursement for in-patient or acute care patients.

She said these orders hit especially hard at Berrien General, where "80 per cent of our patients are on Medicaid" and allows almost no adjustment for the recent increase in the minimum wage, the rising cost of malpractice insurance and rising prices of almost all supplies.

Mattix said the hospital has taken "drastic steps" to keep costs in line, including ordering each employee to take off one day a month without pay.

He also said some jobs have been combined and that "every purchase made is being scrutinized and, wherever possible, just not bought."

Mattix later charged that the state cutbacks were ordered "strictly on the basis of economy, not humanity," and that "I don't think it's fair for senior citizens to bear the brunt of an austerity program."

Commissioner Kenneth Wendzel declared that it is "illegal as hell for the state to withhold federal funds because they've got a financial problem."

Commissioner Nancy Clark contrasted the cutbacks with increasing welfare expenditures and said "if welfare comes above the health needs of the general public, I think the public ought to know about it."

Commissioner Lad Stacey,

chairman of the finance committee, said there was "no way" the hospital would default on the loan, which is to be repaid with the reimbursement already due from the state.

Berrien Legal Services Will Get County Funding

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

The Berrien county board of commissioners yesterday in a split vote authorized $15,000 for Berrien County Legal Services Bureau, Inc., to provide attorneys in certain probate court cases.

The resolution was approved by a 9 to 3 margin and "was signed with reluctance by six commissioners," noted Commissioner Otto Grau, chairman of the board's administration committee.

Grau said the resolution was drafted because legal services recently "said they didn't have enough attorneys and turned us down on some cases." Grau earlier this week told The Herald-Palladium one of the bureau's staff said legal services would not accept any more cases unless provisions were made to get funding.

Atty. Edward Yampolsky, director of legal services, told this newspaper there was no threat of a work stoppage and no statements were made to force the county into funding legal services. "We made no threats whatsoever," Yampolsky said previously. "Probate court asked for an attorney and we said we didn't have one available."

The funding will continue a program in which legal services represents indigent parents accused in child neglect cases. # New 'Local-Area' Am Pre-Qualifying At Berrien Hills

There will be even more area interest in this year's Western Amateur Championship.

Berrien Hills Country Club will be a new pre-qualifying site for "local-area" players through a special arrangement between the sponsoring Western Golf Association and the club.

The announcement of the agreement was made jointly this afternoon by Sherman Ford, president of Berrien Hills, and John Steimle, a WGA director.

"We have felt for several years that special consideration should be given to local-area entrants," explained Steimle. "Approval of Berrien Hills to make its course available for this purpose now makes this possible."

It is expected that some 60 players from western Michigan and possibly northern Indiana will be involved. If the ratio for pre-qualifying remains the same as last year, which was about one in six, this means that approximately 10 local-area players would be assured of places in the starting field of the Western Amateur at Point O'Woods Golf & Country Club.

This year's Western Amateur is scheduled for Aug. 4-8. The Berrien Hills pre-qualifying is slated for Friday, July 30. Other pre-qualifying rounds will be on Monday, Aug. 2, at Elk Hills, also in Benton Harbor, and at Hampshire Country Club, located south of Dowagiac. Pre-qualifying in Illinois will be on July 20 and Aug. 2.

Area interest in the Western Amateur, which is generally ranked second to the U.S. Amateur in amateur prestige, has been growing over the years.

The Point, which will be hosting its eighth Western Am, was the event's site in 1963 and 1965 and has been home in an uninterrupted string since 1971.

During the string, the Point was also made the permanent site of the venerable championship. Elk Hills and Hampshire Country Club have also been added as qualifying courses in recent years as interest in the tourney has grown among golfers and fans.

There were 322 entries in the tournament in 1972. That total grew to 346 in 1973, to 412 in 1974 and up to a record-smashing 515 last summer, so it's easy to see why additional pre-qualifying sites have been needed.

All entry details for the Western Amateur are handled by the WGA at its headquarters in Golf, Ill.

Pitching Greats In Hall Of Fame

Lemon, Roberts Named

NEW YORK (AP) — It would be nice to report that Bob Lemon had lived out a boyhood dream when he was elected along with Robin Roberts to the baseball Hall of Fame.

But it's just not so. The truth of the matter is that baseball occupied a back seat with Lemon when he was growing up in San Bernardino, Calif.

"I wanted to run a gas station," said Lemon, who instead won 207 games in a 13 seasons with the Cleveland Indians. "What's wrong with a gas station?" he asked. "Where do you go every day? It beats a bar. After I'm through with baseball, I think I'll go back to pumping gas."

Baseball, however, isn't quite through with Lemon and Roberts. The two pitchers have an Aug. 9 date in Cooperstown, N.Y., where they will be inducted into the Hall of Fame.

Both were elected easily in balloting by the Baseball Writers Association of America. With 388 ballots returned, 75 per cent or 291 votes were required for election. Roberts received 337 and Lemon 305. The late Gil Hodges was third with 233 votes, 58 short of election.

Between them, Roberts and Lemon won nearly 500 major league games and enjoyed 13 seasons in which they won 20 or more games. Roberts, pitching for the Philadelphia Phillies, Baltimore Orioles, Houston Astros and Chicago Cubs won 286 games in 19 seasons and had six straight 20-victory seasons. Lemon had 207 victories including a stretch of seven 20-win seasons in nine years, all with the Cleveland Indians.

Both pitchers nearly made it last year. Roberts fell nine votes short and Lemon was 39 away when the writers elected slugger Ralph Kiner to Cooperstown. Roberts was bitter at coming so close but still missing. "This makes up for that disappointment," he said.

While Lemon came to the majors out of gasoline alloy, Roberts was signed by the Phillies off the campus of Michigan State University.

"My mother loved baseball, but my father didn't care much for it," Roberts said. "I remember in 1951, they came to St. Louis to watch me try for my 20th victory. I beat Joe Presko on a home run by Tommy Brown. We were driving home and my dad asked if I'd mind if he didn't come to any more games. He couldn't take the excitement."

Roberts left baseball in 1967, going into the security investment business. Lemon is still in the game and recently signed as pitching coach for the New York Yankees.

Pro Bowl To Be Played

Players Decide Not To Take Strike Vote

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A boycott of the Pro Bowl would have stung the wrong people, so about 50 National Football League stars decided not to take a strike vote, said players' union representatives.

The threat of a player boycott of Monday night's game hung over pregame preparations all week, and the uncertain status of the game was blamed for sagging ticket sales.

"It boiled down to a question of who would be hurt if the game were cancelled, and a question of whether a cancellation would have had enough impact on the owners," said NFL Players Association Executive Director Ed Garvey.

In a 90-minute closed meeting, the players decided management would not have been hurt by a boycott, but football fans would have been, Garvey said. About 30 members of the all-star squads did not attend the meeting.

"After a prolonged discussion of the situation, we decided it was in our best interests not even to vote on whether there would be a strike," said union President Kermit Alexander.

He denied that the decision to avoid a strike vote could be considered a setback for the association.

"For it to have become a defeat, we would have had to have come into the meeting planning to strike," he said.

Both Alexander and Garvey said all week long that they would not recommend any course of action to the players.

The NFL owners' refusal to pay anything into the players' pension fund for the past two years prompted the boycott talk, Garvey said. But he said several other issues were discussed.

Will all these moves make the Sox, who finished in fifth place last year at 75-86 and 22½ games behind Oakland, a bonified contender?

"This is a game of ifs and right now we have a lot of ifs," related Veeck, the center of attention at the gathering. "If Terry Forster's arm is okay. If Bart Johnson's back is all right. If Wilbur Wood can come back and relieve and start. If Nyls Nyman can make contact with the ball. If Jack Brohamer can play second and give us leeway at third. If all our young players we traded for work out."

"There's a lot of variables.

Sox Hope To Race Up AL's Standings

By JERRY DYKSTRA

Staff Sports Writer

SOUTH BEND. — Beep! Beep! Here comes the Road Runner.

Ralph "Road Runner" Garr and the rest of his go-go friends will give the Chicago White Sox a new slant, stealing image this summer.

New Sox fans are hoping this new emphasis on speed will zoom Chicago up the American League West standings.

Garr, one of the major league's fastest runners and top hitters, along with new Sox president Bill Veeck, vice-president Roland Hemond and pitcher Rich Gossage, stopped here Thursday night on the annual White Sox press tour and most of the talk centered on the shift from power to speed for 1976.

Veeck, who headed a group which purchased the financially distressed Sox last month, wasted little time in unloading such veterans as Bill Melton, Jim Kaat and Ken Henderson and replacing them with speedsters Garr (from Atlanta), Morris Nettles (California) and Alan Bannister (Philadelphia).

Veeck, considered the P.T. Barnum of baseball, also is planning to take out the artificial surface infield at Comiskey Park and replace it with grass and also remove the centerfield fence in order to take advantage of this new go-power.

Will all these moves make the Sox, who finished in fifth place last year at 75-86 and 22½ games behind Oakland, a bonified contender?

"This is a game of ifs and right now we have a lot of ifs," related Veeck, the center of attention at the gathering. "If Terry Forster's arm is okay. If Bart Johnson's back is all right. If Wilbur Wood can come back and relieve and start. If Nyls Nyman can make contact with the ball. If Jack Brohamer can play second and give us leeway at third. If all our young players we traded for work out."

"There's a lot of variables.

Right now I'm really encouraged. But there's an area between wishful thinking and cold reality."

The Sox appear to have a wealth of versatility and depth in the outfield and the infield but an overall lack of power.

Garr, who has stolen 137 bases since he stole home for his first one in 1968, will likely patrol centerfield. Garr led the National League in hitting in 1974 at .353 but dipped to .278 last year.

"I'd like to hit .300 this year, get 200 hits and steal 30 bases," offered Garr, who heaped praise on Veeck while blasting his former Braves club.

Others fighting for starting berths will be Nettles, who hit .231 last year but stole 22 bases; Pat Kelly, Nyman, Carlos May, Jerry Hairston, Buddy Bradford and Bob Coluccio.

The Sox infield is headed by slick-fielding Bucky Dent, the No. 1 fielding shortstop in the AL last year. Should Brohamer (from Cleveland) work out at second, Jorge Orta would replace Melton at third. Bill Stein and Bannister also can play third. Jim Spencer (from California) will likely become the Sox' top long ball threat at first.

May seems to have the inside track for the designated hitter's role while Brian Downing is a solid catcher.

Pitching will make or break the White Sox in 1976 and right now the picture is "if."

Kaat, a 20-game winner the last two years and the winningest active pitcher in baseball, has departed and those are big shoes to fill.

Forster and Johnson, both injured most of last year, are being heavily counted on to fill the void as starters. Gossage, the AL Fireman of the Year last year as the ace of the Sox bullpen, will start along with Claude Osteen and Jesse Jefferson.

Wood, a 20-game loser last year, will probably start and relieve. Newcomer Clay Carroll (Cincinnati) and Dave Hamilton will be the mainstays of the bullpen.

St. Joseph's Chris Knapp, the Sox' No. 1 draft pick last June, will be on Chicago's major league roster for spring training and will be watched closely by new manager Paul Richards, who also will serve as his own pitching coach.

"Barring injuries, Chris will be a big league pitcher," stated Hemond. "He's got a great arm and he's very intelligent. He's making exceptional progress with us."

"Last fall he pitched in the Florida Instructional league and did a great job. Our people are really high on him. I'm anxious for Richards to see him."

"Most likely we'll farm him out after spring training for more experience. But you can never tell...he might stick. He does need more work on a change of pace and curve."

Knapp, a fireballing right-hander, appeared in two games for the Sox last September after being called up from Appleton, Wis., the Sox' Class A farm team in the Midwest league.

Foreman Begins Comeback, Rated Favorite Over Lyle

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Former heavyweight boxing king George Foreman opens his soul when he declares, "I hate not being the champion. I hate it."

"I'm not jealous, not of Muhammad Ali, but of not being the heavyweight champion."

Knocked out by Ali at Zaire, Africa, in the eighth round of their title match on Oct. 30, 1974, Foreman makes his first comeback fight in battling Ron Lyle at Caesars Palace in a 12-rounder Saturday starting at 2 p.m. PST.

Foreman, the ex-Olympic gold medal winner and professional champion, is favored at 5-2 odds. Yet Lyle could act as the spoiler to his ambitions of regaining the heavyweight crown.

"I'm more relaxed than ever before," Foreman says, and he has been showing the effects of the coaching from veteran boxing pilot Gil Clancy, who has urged Foreman to cut down on the length of his punches.

"If I go back to my old style, it only means he is going to get knocked out quicker," says Foreman, whose statements failed to bear out the fact he has been acting out the sequences that Clancy has set for him.

In Las Vegas, fights are scored by three judges under the five-point-per-round rule and the referee does not have a ballot.

Few in this betting city think the Foreman-Lyle battle will go the route. If it ends early, the favorite is Foreman, but if it goes the route, Lyle is expected to be the stranger.

"I know this is my chance to get back into the picture," says Lyle, who lost to Ali by a knockout in a title bout at this desert city when he was stopped in 11 rounds.

"I did not go down and I think it was unfair to stop that fight," said Lyle, who has a 31-3-1 record compared with 41-1-0 for Foreman.

New 'Local-Area' Am Pre-Qualifying At Berrien Hills

There will be even more area interest in this year's Western Amateur Championship. Berrien Hills Country Club will be a new pre-qualifying site for "local-area" players through a special arrangement between the sponsoring Western Golf Association and the club. The announcement of the agreement was made jointly this afternoon by Sherman Ford, president of Berrien Hills, and John Steimle, a WGA director. "We have felt for several years that special consideration should be given to local-area entrants," explained Steimle. "Approval of Berrien Hills to make its course available for this purpose now makes this possible." It is expected that some 60 players from western Michigan and possibly northern Indiana will be involved. If the ratio for pre-qualifying remains the same as last year, which was about one in six, this means that approximately 10 local-area players would be assured of places in the starting field of the Western Amateur at Point O' Woods Golf & Country Club. This year's Western Amateur is scheduled for Aug. 4-8. The Berrien Hills pre-qualifying is slated for Friday, July 30. Other pre-qualifying rounds will be on Monday, Aug. 2, at Elk Hills, also in Benton Harbor, and at Hampshire Country Club, located south of Dowagiac. Pre-qualifying in Illinois will be on July 20 and Aug. 2. Area interest in the Western Amateur, which is generally ranked second to the U.S. Amateur in amateur prestige, has been growing over the years. The Point, which will be hosting its eighth Western Am, was the event's site in 1963 and 1965 and has been home in an uninterrupted string since 1971. During the string, the Point was also made the permanent site of the venerable championship. Elk Hills and Hampshire Country Club have also been added as qualifying courses in recent years as interest in the tourney has grown among golfers and fans. There were 322 entries in the tournament in 1972. That total grew to 346 in 1973, to 412 in 1974 and up to a record-smashing 515 last summer, so it's easy to see why additional pre-qualifying sites have been needed. All entry details for the Western Amateur are handled by the WGA at its headquarters in Golf, Ill.

Pitching Greats In Hall Of Fame

Lemon, Roberts Named

NEW YORK (AP) — It would be nice to report that Bob Lemon had lived out a boyhood dream when he was elected along with Robin Roberts to the baseball Hall of Fame. But it's just not so. The truth of the matter is that baseball occupied a back seat with Lemon when he was growing up in San Bernardino, Calif. "I wanted to run a gas station," said Lemon, who instead won 207 games in a 13 seasons with the Cleveland Indians. "What's wrong with a gas station?" he asked. "Where do you go every day? It beats a bar. After I'm through with baseball, I think I'll go back to pumping gas." Baseball, however, isn't quite through with Lemon and Roberts. The two pitchers have an Aug. 9 date in Cooperstown, N.Y. where they will be inducted into the Hall of Fame.

Both were elected easily in balloting by the Baseball Writers Association of America. With 388 ballots returned, 75 per cent or 291 votes were required for election. Roberts received 337 and Lemon 305. The late Gil Hodges was third with 233 votes, 58 short of election. Between them, Roberts and Lemon won nearly 500 major league games and enjoyed 13 seasons in which they won 20 or more games. Roberts, pitching for the Philadelphia Phillies, Baltimore Orioles, Houston Astros and Chicago Cubs won 286 games in 19 seasons and had six straight 20-victory seasons. Lemon had 207 victories including a stretch of seven 20-win seasons in nine years, all with the Cleveland Indians.

Both pitchers nearly made it last year. Roberts fell nine votes short and Lemon was 39 away when the writers elected slugger Ralph Kiner to Cooperstown. Roberts was bitter at coming so close but still missing. "This makes up for that disappointment," he said.

While Lemon came to the majors out of gasoline alley, Roberts was signed by the Phillies off the campus of Michigan State University.

"My mother loved baseball, but my father didn't care much for it," Roberts said. "I remember in 1951, they came to St. Louis to watch me try for my 20th victory. I beat Joe Presko on a home run by Tommy Brown. We were driving home and my dad asked if I'd mind if he didn't come to any more games. He couldn't take the excitement."

Roberts left baseball in 1967, going into the security investment business. Lemon is still in the game and recently signed as pitching coach for the New York Yankees.

Pro Bowl To Be Played

Players Decide Not To Take Strike Vote

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A boycott of the Pro Bowl would have stung the wrong people, so about 50 National Football League stars decided not to take a strike vote, said players' union representatives. The threat of a player boycott of Monday night's game hung over pregame preparations all week, and the uncertain status of the game was blamed for sagging ticket sales. "It boiled down to a question of who would be hurt if the game were cancelled, and a question of whether a cancellation would have had enough impact on the owners," said NFL Players Association Executive Director Ed Garvey. In a 90-minute closed meeting, the players decided management would not have been hurt by a boycott, but football fans would have been, Garvey said. About 30 members of the all-star squads did not attend the meeting.

"After a prolonged discussion of the situation, we decided it was in our best interests not even to vote on whether there would be a strike," said union President Kermit Alexander. He denied that the decision to avoid a strike vote could be considered a setback for the association.

"For it to have become a defeat, we would have had to have come into the meeting planning to strike," he said. Both Alexander and Garvey said all week long that they would not recommend any course of action to the players.

The NFL owners' refusal to pay anything into the players' pension fund for the past two years prompted the boycott talk, Garvey said. But he said several other issues were discussed.

Elvin Bethea, Houston Oilers defensive end, said he felt that the lack of a contract could permit owners to cancel hospitalization and other benefits if they should decide to do so.

Garvey said that although the players' pension plan is adequately funded to cover those who were enrolled when the union's contract with the league expired Jan. 31, 1974, there are 220 players not covered by the plan. "Anyone who was a rookie in 1974 or 1975 is not covered," he said.

VEECK TALKS: Bill Veeck, new president of the Chicago White Sox, talks to reporters Thursday during a stop at South Bend on the Sox' annual winter tour. # Sox Hope To Race Up AL's Standings

By JERRY DYKSTRA
Staff Sports Writer
SOUTH BEND — Beep! Beep! Here comes the Road Runner.

Ralph "Road Runner" Garr and the rest of his go-go friends will give the Chicago White Sox a new singles, stealing image this summer.

Now Sox fans are hoping this new emphasis on speed will zoom Chicago up the American League West standings.

Garr, one of the major league's fastest runners and top hitters, along with new Sox president Bill Veeck, vice-president Roland Hemond and pitcher Rich Gossage, stopped here Thursday night on the annual White Sox press tour and most of the talk centered on the shift from power to speed for 1976.

Veeck, who headed a group which purchased the financially distressed Sox last month, wasted little time in unloading such veterans as Bill Melton, Jim Kaat and Ken Henderson and replacing them with speedsters Garr (from Atlanta), Morris Nettles (California) and Alan Bannister (Philadelphia).

Veeck, considered the P.T. Barnum of baseball, also is planning to take out the artificial surface infield at Comiskey Park and replace it with grass and also remove the centerfield fence in order to take advantage of this new go-power.

Will all these moves make the Sox, who finished in fifth place last year at 75-86 and 22½ games behind Oakland, a bonified contender?

"This is a game of ifs and right now we have a lot of ifs," related Veeck, the center of attention at the gathering. "If Terry Forster's arm is okay. If Bart Johnson's back is all right. If Wilbur Wood can come back and relieve and start. If Nyls Nyman can make contact with the ball. If Jack Brohamer can play second and give us leeway at third. If all our young players we traded for work out."

"There's a lot of variables. Right now I'm really encouraged. But there's an area between wishful thinking and cold reality." The Sox appear to have a wealth of versatility and depth in the outfield and the infield but an overall lack of power. Garr, who has stolen 137 bases since he stole home for his first one in 1968, will likely patrol centerfield. Garr led the National League in hitting in 1974 at .353 but dipped to .278 last year.

"I'd like to hit .300 this year, get 200 hits and steal 50 bases," offered Garr, who heaped praise on Veeck while blasting his former Braves club. Others fighting for starting berths will be Nettles, who hit .231 last year but stole 22 bases; Pat Kelly, Nyman, Carlos May, Jerry Hairston, Buddy Bradford and Bob Coluccio.

The Sox infield is headed by slick-fielding Bucky Dent, the No. 1 fielding shortstop in the AL last year. Should Brohamer (from Cleveland) work out at second, Jorge Orta would replace Melton at third. Bill Stein and Bannister also can play third. Jim Spencer (from California) will likely become the Sox' top long ball threat at first.

May seems to have the inside track for the designated hitter's role while Brian Downing is a solid catcher.

Pitching will make or break the White Sox in 1976 and right now the picture is "if."

Kaat, a 20-game winner the last two years and the winningest active pitcher in baseball, has departed and those are big shoes to fill.

Forster and Johnson, both injured most of last year, are being heavily counted on to fill the void as starters. Gossage, the AL Fireman of the Year last year as the ace of the Sox bullpen, will start along with Claude Osteen and Jesse Jefferson.

Wood, a 20-game loser last year, will probably start and relieve. Newcomer Clay Carroll (Cincinnati) and Dave Hamilton will be the mainstays of the bullpen.

St. Joseph's Chris Knapp, the Sox' No. 1 draft pick last June, will be on Chicago's major league roster for spring training and will be watched closely by new manager Paul Richards, who also will serve as his own pitching coach.

"Barring injuries, Chris will be a big league pitcher," stated Hemond. "He's got a great arm and he's very intelligent. He's making exceptional progress with us."

"Last fall he pitched in the Florida Instructional league and did a great job. Our people are really high on him. I'm anxious for Richards to see him."

"Most likely we'll farm him out after spring training for more experience. But you can never tell...he might stick. He does need more work on a change of pace and curve."

Knapp, a fireballing righthander, appeared in two games for the Sox last September after being called up from Appleton, Wis., the Sox' Class A farm team in the Midwest league.

Dedicated Wrestler's Record 14-0

Ruhl Shamrock Standout

BY PAUL MORGAN
Staff Sports Writer

BERRIEN SPRINGS — Rick Ruhl is one of those wrestlers every coach in the land would love to have on his team.

Besides going to some

wrestling camps in the summer, the 125-pounder will seek out better competition during the season to better himself. His total dedication to wrestling has earned him one of the top records on this week's grappling honor roll at 14-0.

"Rick is his own wrestler," says Shamrock's coach Bob Fein. "He doesn't need any kind of pushing. Rick is a real dedicated kid."

Ruhl went to a camp as a freshman then worked the next summer and gave up camp. As a junior, he wrestled freestyle for the Southwestern Michigan Wrestling club during the summer months. "It was different, but it was a lot of fun," he recalls.

Just to make sure he wouldn't get out of shape during the Christmas break, Ruhl had a chance to work out with Jay Lyles of Bowling Green State University. "He's really good and I gained a lot of experience from him," he says.

He has also worked out with Southwestern Michigan College's grapplers this season. "I practice with them so I can learn some new holds," he explains.

When his tenure at Berrien Springs is over, the senior will own just about all the school's grappling records. His records right now are:

— most career pins (55)
— most career takedowns (78)

— most career wins (78)
— best season record (29-4 last year)

— most season takedowns (33 last year)

— most season pins (20 last year)

— best career record (75-19 as of now)

Ruhl is closing in on one other record. He has wrestled in 96 matches to date and the Shamrock's record is 107. The only record he won't get is the most career decisions "and that's only because he pins so many of his opponents," Fein explains.

Ruhl started his wrestling career at Berrien Springs in the eighth grade. He then tried out for the basketball team as a freshman but didn't make it, so he returned to the mat and has been a success ever since.

As a freshman Ruhl went 13-11, then followed that up with a 20-4 mark as a sophomore. He really came into his own as a junior when he lost just one match during the regular season and ended up with a 29-4 mark for the entire year.

Ruhl won his district and then lost one match in the regionals, but still qualified for the state meet. There he lost his first match to the eventual state runner-up and was beaten by one point in his second match. "In my first match, the guy came right in on me and I was kind of nervous," he remembers.

The improvement Ruhl has shown from last season to this year can be exemplified in a match against Eric Eggleston of White Pigeon. Last season, the pair tied and Ruhl eventually won it in overtime. This season, Ruhl pinned his tough foe in the second period of the River Valley Invitational.

So Rick Ruhl is hoping for bigger and better things at this year's state tournaments, and if he keeps up the way he is going, the grappler is going to be a tough one to beat.

Hoosiers Facing Tough Weekend

From ASSOCIATED PRESS
If there is such a thing as a tough weekend for Indiana's top-ranked Hoosiers, this could be it.

Coach Bobby Knight takes his sometimes baffling wonders to Minnesota Saturday and then to Iowa Monday night. If the Hoosiers can avoid an upset in these two games, it will all be downhill towards a fourth straight Big Ten basketball championship.

Following the games at Minnesota and Iowa, Indiana will play seven of its last 10 conference games in the friendly confines of Assembly Hall.

Although Indiana has been erratic at times this season, the Hoosiers can turn it on when they have to even when they are not playing well.

They played almost flawlessly last Saturday at Illinois when they hammered the Illini 63-55 and then went home Monday night to scramble to a 71-67 victory over Purdue.

After the game, Knight said the Butlermakers "played better than we did, outshined us and did everything but outscore us. I cannot recall one single time when our defense stopped them in the second half."

The Indiana-Minnesota game will be televised regionally and the Hoosiers will have to face high-scoring Mike Thompson who is averaging 25.8 points a game, second only to Michigan State's Terry Furlow who has a 32.7 Big Ten average.

Thompson, because of an alleged infraction concerning the sale of tickets, was declared ineligible by the NCAA. However, after missing one game, Thompson received a court order permitting him to play and his case will not come up until Jan. 29. Thompson scored 29 points last Monday in leading Minnesota to a 96-64 victory at Wisconsin.

Indiana will take a 6-0 record to Minnesota and the undefeated Hoosiers remain only a step ahead of Michigan at 5-1 and Purdue at 4-1.

One of the contenders will get sacked Saturday when Michigan invades Purdue. Iowa, still in the running, with a 3-2 record after getting dumped in overtime at Northwestern, will entertain Ohio State, 1-5. The Buckeyes posted their first conference victory Monday night with a 64-63 decision over Illinois.

Nicklaus, using a new set of clubs in competition for the first time, shot a five-under-par 67 that tied him for the lead with journeyman Mike Morley, still looking for his first title in seven years of tour competition.

"These courses are much tougher under these conditions than when they are wet and soft," said Nicklaus, the 1975 Player of the Year. "You put a little wind with conditions like this and it's really be tough."

"They're playing golf courses that are new to them," explained Jack Tuthill, the veteran head of the tour's field staff. "Usually, the fairways are soft and wet and there's no run on the ball. Now they're hard and dry and the ball is running. And it's running into places they've never seen, places they didn't know existed."

But Nicklaus, who opened his season with only the third set of clubs he's used as a pro, and Morley had little difficulty. George Johnson was one stroke back of them with a 68. Bruce Summerhays and Australian David Graham had 69s. Bob Wynn, Groh and Jim Colbert were at 70.

Nicklaus, Morley, Johnson and Summerhays played Cypress Point. Graham, Wynn and Colbert were at Pebble Beach.

Groh Among Golf Leaders

Fires First-Round 70 In Crosby Tourney

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Bridgman's Gary Groh shot an opening round 70 Thursday and trails leader Jack Nicklaus by three strokes here in the Bing Crosby National Pro-Am Golf Tournament.

Groh, who made the exempt list last season by finishing among the top money winners on the PGA tour, shot his 70 Thursday on the Spyglass Hill course.

The pros, each with an amateur partner, play one round at each of the par-72 layouts (Cypress Point, Pebble Beach and Spyglass) before the final round Sunday at Pebble Beach, where Nicklaus has won four professional events, including the 1972 U.S. Open.

The weather remained a main topic of discussion Thursday, and it seemed to get 'em.

Sure, Nicklaus got away with a 67, but just look at the other scores: Johnny Miller 74 with a lost ball. Billy Casper 75. Defending champion Gene Littler 76. Tom Weiskopf 76. Hale Irwin 77. Doug Sanders and Gay Brewer 79. Tony Jacklin 81. Former Crosby champion Tom Shaw 86.

But it wasn't Crosby weather. The rain, wind, cold, sleet, mud, ocean spray, fog and occasional snow that usually plagues the tournament was among the missing.

Instead, the spectacular beauty of the Monterey Peninsula was resplendent in brilliant sunshine and warm temperatures. The fairways were dry and the greens fast. Playing conditions were near perfect — and, therefore, very unfamiliar.

And it put the scores out of sight — among the highest on the tour in years — in Thursday's first round of this unique, $185,000 event that is played over three golf courses. There were 29 scores of 80 or higher.

Nicklaus' and a handful of others were exceptions.

Nicklaus, using a new set of clubs in competition for the first time, shot a five-under-par 67 that tied him for the lead with journeyman Mike Morley, still looking for his first title in seven years of tour competition.

Dedicated Wrestler's Record 14-0

Ruhl Shamrock Standout

BY PAUL MORGAN
Staff Sports Writer

BERRIEN SPRINGS — Rick Ruhl is one of those wrestlers every coach in the land would love to have on his team.

RICK RUHL

Besides going to some wrestling camps in the summer, the 126-pounder will seek out better competition during the season to better himself. His total dedication to wrestling has earned him one of the top records on this week's grappling honor roll at 14-0.

"Rick is his own wrestler," says Shamrock's coach Bob Fein. "He doesn't need any kind of pushing. Rick is a real dedicated kid."

Ruhl went to a camp as a freshman then worked the next summer and gave up camp. As a junior, he wrestled freestyle for the Southwestern Michigan Wrestling club during the summer months. "It was different, but it was a lot of fun," he recalls.

Just to make sure he wouldn't get out of shape during the Christmas break, Ruhl had a chance to work out with Jay Lyles of Bowling Green State University. "He's really good and I gained a lot of experience from him," he says.

He has also worked out with Northwestern Michigan College's grapplers this season. "I practice with them so I can learn some new holds," he explains.

When his tenure at Berrien Springs is over, the senior will own just about all the school's grappling records. His records right now are:

- most career pins (55)
- most career takedowns (78)
- most career wins (76)
- best season record (29-4 last year)
- most season takedowns (33 last year)
- most season pins (20 last year)
- best career record (75-19 as of now)

Ruhl is closing in on one other record. He has wrestled in 96 matches to date and the Shamrocks' record is 107. The only record he won't get is the most career decisions "and that's only because he pins so many of his opponents," Fein explains.

Ruhl started his wrestling career at Berrien Springs in the eighth grade. He then tried out for the basketball team as a freshman but didn't make it, so he returned to the mat and has been a success ever since.

As a freshman Ruhl went 13-11, then followed that up with a 20-4 mark as a sophomore. He really came into his own as a junior when he lost just one match during the regular season and ended up with a 29-4 mark for the entire year.

Ruhl won his district and then lost one match in the regionals, but still qualified for the state meet. There he lost his first match to the eventual state runner-up and was beaten by one point in his second match. "In my first match, the guy came right in on me and I was kind of nervous," he remembers.

The improvement Ruhl has shown from last season to this year can be exemplified in a match against Eric Eggleston of White Pigeon. Last season, the pair tied and Ruhl eventually won it in overtime. This season, Ruhl pinned his tough foe in the second period of the River Valley Invitational.

So Rick Ruhl is hoping for bigger and better things at this year's state tournaments, and if he keeps up the way he is going, the grappler is going to be a tough one to beat.

St. Joe Tankers Rip Kazoo

St. Joseph swimmers downed Kalamazoo Central 109-63 Thursday night at the Bear pool while getting three wins apiece from Fred Danaher and John Worthington.

Danaher, Worthington, Mike Borre and Tim Mornay were on the winning medley relay team, which posted the best St. Joe time of the year (1:46.4).

Danaher also took the 50 freestyle (23.5) and 100 freestyle (51.6) while Worthington added wins in the 200 individual medley (2:06.4) and 100 butterfly (55.06).

Tom Starks and Mike Borre were double winners. Starks captured the 200 freestyle (1:54.1) and 500 freestyle (5:09.7) and Borre was tops in the 100 breaststroke (1:06.0) in addition to being on the medley relay squad.

Randy Chinery got the other St. Joe top spot — 100 backstroke (1:04.4) — as the Bears won all but two events, including sweeps in the medley relay, 200 freestyle and 100 breaststroke.

St. Joseph, now 5-2, returns to action next Tuesday in a 4 p.m. meet at Mishawaka.

Hoosiers Facing Tough Weekend

From ASSOCIATED PRESS
If there is such a thing as a tough weekend for Indiana's top-ranked Hoosiers, this could be it.

Coach Bobby Knight takes his sometimes baffling wonders to Minnesota Saturday and then to Iowa Monday night. If the Hoosiers can avoid an upset in these two games, it will all be downhill towards a fourth straight Big Ten basketball championship.

Following the games at Minnesota and Iowa, Indiana will play seven of its last 10 conference games in the friendly confines of Assembly Hall.

Although Indiana has been erratic at times this season, the Hoosiers can turn it on when they have to even when they are not playing well.

They played almost flawlessly last Saturday at Illinois when they hammered the Illini 83-55 and then went home Monday night to scramble to a 71-67 victory over Purdue.

After the game, Knight said the Boilermakers "played better than we did, outthrusted us and did everything but outscore us. I cannot recall one single time when our defense stopped them in the second half."

The Indiana-Minnesota game will be televised regionally and the Hoosiers will have to face high-scoring Mike Thompson who is averaging 25.8 points a game, second only to Michigan State's Terry Furlow who has a 32.7 Big Ten average.

Thompson, because of an alleged infraction concerning the sale of tickets, was declared ineligible by the NCAA. However, after missing one game, Thompson received a court order permitting him to play and his case will not come up until Jan. 29. Thompson scored 29 points last Monday in leading Minnesota to a 96-84 victory at Wisconsin.

Indiana will take a 6-0 record to Minnesota and the undefeated Hoosiers remain only a step ahead of Michigan at 5-1 and Purdue at 4-1.

One of the contenders will get sacked Saturday when Michigan invades Purdue. Iowa, still in the running with a 3-2 record after getting dumped in overtime at Northwestern, will entertain Ohio State, 1-5. The Buckeyes posted their first conference victory Monday night with a 64-63 decision over Illinois.

Berrien Wins

Rob Steimle scored a basket with just 11 seconds left to give Berrien Springs freshmen basketball team a 57-55 overtime win over Lake Michigan Catholic at LMC Thursday night. Brad Layman tossed in 20 points for Berrien, while Mike Masini had 13 for LMC.

Groh Among Golf Leaders

Fires First-Round 70 In Crosby Tourney

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Bridgman's Gary Groh shot an opening round 70 Thursday and trails leader Jack Nicklaus by three strokes here in the Bing Crosby National Pro-Am Golf Tournament.

Groh, who made the exempt list last season by finishing among the top money winners on the PGA tour, shot his 70 Thursday on the Spyglass Hill course.

The pros, each with an amateur partner, play one round at each of the par-72 layouts (Cypress Point, Pebble Beach and Spyglass) before the final round Sunday at Pebble Beach, where Nicklaus has won four professional events, including the 1972 U.S. Open.

The weather remained a main topic of discussion Thursday, and it seemed to get 'em.

Sure, Nicklaus got away with a 67, but just look at the other scores: Johnny Miller 74 with a lost ball. Billy Casper 75. Defending champion Gene Littler 76. Tom Weiskopf 76. Hale Irwin 77. Doug Sanders and Gay Brewer 79. Tony Jacklin 81. Former Crosby champion Tom Shaw 86.

But it wasn't Crosby weather. The rain, wind, cold, sleet, mud, ocean spray, fog and occasional snow that usually plagues the tournament was among the missing.

Instead, the spectacular beauty of the Monterey Peninsula was resplendent in brilliant sunshine and warm temperatures. The fairways were dry and the greens fast. Playing conditions were near perfect — and, therefore, very unfamiliar.

And it put the scores out of sight — among the highest on the tour in years — in Thursday's first round of this unique, $185,000 event that is played over three golf courses. There were 29 scores of 80 or higher.

Nicklaus' and a handful of others were exceptions.

Nicklaus, using a new set of clubs in competition for the first time, shot a five-under-par 67 that tied him for the lead with journeyman Mike Morley, still looking for his first title in seven years of tour competition.

"These courses are much tougher under these conditions than when they are wet and soft," said Nicklaus, the 1975 Player of the Year. "You put a little wind with conditions like this and it'd really be tough."

"They're playing golf courses that are new to them," explained Jack Tuthill, the veteran head of the tour's field staff. "Usually, the fairways are soft and wet and there's no run on the ball. Now they're hard and dry and the ball is running. And it's running into places they've never seen, places they didn't know existed."

But Nicklaus, who opened his season with only the third set of clubs he's used as a pro, and Morley had little difficulty. George Johnson was one stroke back of them with a 68. Bruce Summerhays and Australian David Graham had 69s. Bob Wynn, Groh and Jim Colbert were at 70.

Nicklaus, Morley, Johnson and Summerhays played Cypress Point. Graham, Wynn and Colbert were at Pebble Beach.

Flames Acquire All-Star Center

ATLANTA (AP) — The Atlanta Flames have acquired all-star center Bill Clement from the Washington Capitals in exchange for center Gerry Meehan and defenseman Jean Lemieux and a first-round National Hockey League amateur draft choice. The Flames, in announcing the trade Thursday, said Washington will receive Atlanta's first-round draft pick which the Flames had acquired earlier in the season in a trade with Buffalo.

Rickel's 'Homework' Pays Off With Brilliant 288 Game

JIM RICKEL

By JERRY DYKSTRA
Staff Sports Writer

Jim Rickel made his "homework" pay off. Rickel, only 17, went to the head of the class last Saturday at Blossom Lanes when he blasted a 288 game in a 641 series in the junior bowling program.

The Lake Michigan Catholic senior, who worked on his homework between balls, just missed a perfect opening game. Rickel crashed 10 straight strikes to start the game. He then came in with a perfect hit in the 11th but a shanking No. 7 pin refused to go down. He missed the conversion.

"The first nine balls I really wasn't nervous...I was working on my homework between balls," explained Rickel, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Rickel,

1800 Derfla, St. Joseph. "But I got nervous in the 10th. About 90 to 100 people were watching and everyone stopped bowling...it was super quiet. I really wasn't thinking 300 until the end."

"I'm just happy I got what I did. I sure was relieved."

The 288, if counted in the men's regular league standings, would rank as the second top game this season in southwestern Michigan.

Rickel, who carried an 181 average into the Major league, was having troubles with a new finger-tip ball he had received as a Christmas present.

"He was kind of disgusted with his new ball when he came up to me a few weeks ago," offered Tresa Gustine, head of the Blossom Lanes junior program.

"I told him not to give up and stick with it. Once you learn to get the ball down properly, you'll be great with it...that's what I told him."

The advice worked to perfection as Rickel followed the 288 with games of 191 and 162. The 288 is also believed the highest game ever rolled in the junior leagues at Blossom.

Rickel, whose previous high game was 236, plans to join some men's leagues next year "and just see what happens."

Rickel, who has been bowling four years in the junior leagues, also produced the top series Monday in the Inter High School league at Blossom. He finished with a 548.

Jeff Daniel also had a hefty game Monday with a 255, 102 pins over his average, in the Inter High School league. This was a big week for big games as Ade Loikits banged a 278 and Alice Wilk a 255 to crack the respective men's and women's high games standings.

Loikits, bowling in the Twin City league at Gersonde's started his final game with a spare and then powered nine X's in a row before leaving the 1-2 in the 11th frame. He ended with a 657 series.

Alice, from Sister Lakes, supports only a 135 average in the New Corners Mixed Doubles league at Lakes Bowl but Sunday she exploded for her 255 in her third game.

Millie Farris and Priscilla Byrns posted women's 600 series this week with Millie flinging 616 and Priscilla 602.

Thursday Morning league at Gersonde's.

Split conversions this week included the 6-7-10 by Ken Osburn, Eleanor Cooper, Betty Forray Diana Nash, Dave Koch, Angie Burnett, Bert Deaner, Carole Pillivant, Lois Rittenhouse, Kathy Klattand Tony Antonelli; the 4-7-10 by John Franklin, Colleen Thompson, Yoshiko Lekan, Matt Nozicka Sr., Mary Salvano, Sonny

Ballard and Bill Yow; the 6-7 by Nancy Hocker, Sandy Krager, Lucille Zielke and Barbara Smith; the 4-10 by Sue Crowe, Gary Meyers, Eunice Radde and Dave Johnson; the 8-10 by Dan Stack; the 4-6 by Jim Rohne and Ken Lausman; the 4-6-10 by Sue Renfro and Harold Holcomb; the 7-9-10 by W. Yates and the 6-7-9-10 by Willy Hoffmann.

Barb Trussler pitched an 121 triplicate.

Bartow Threatens Changes At UCLA

Bruins Face 15th-Rated Irish On Saturday

From ASSOCIATED PRESS
UCLA Coach Gene Bartow was perplexed, concerned, and perhaps a little angry after his 15th-ranked UCLA Bruins had unexpected trouble with tightly regarded UC Santa Barbara.

"If our starters don't show considerable improvement, you can look for a lot of freshmen to be starting future UCLA basketball games," Bartow said after the Bruins posted a hard-fought 64-50 victory over the Gauchos Thursday night.

"I can't understand what's happening to us," Bartow said of his Bruins, who trailed Santa Barbara 26-24 at the intermission. "We should be playing much better."

While he was not at all pleased with the Bruins' play, Bartow said he had something to be thankful for. "Thank heaven we didn't play USC tonight," he said.

Bartow was reminded that Pacific-8 foe Southern Cal has lost its last five games. "But they will be much difficult for us when we play them here," he said, referring to a Jan. 31 matchup, "particularly if we play like we did tonight."

The Bruins, who face 15th-ranked Notre Dame Saturday at South Bend, got 27 points from junior forward Richard Washington, 18 of them in the second half, in the victory over the Gauchos. Washington scored eight points early in the second half to help the Bruins move out to a 38-29 advantage, but Santa Barbara charged back to pull within three, 36-35, with 12 minutes left in the game before the Bruins finally began to pad their lead.

UCLA's biggest spread was the final score, as Washington hit a 15-foot jumper in the closing seconds to make the Bruin lead 14.

The victory, UCLA's 94th consecutive home triumph, gives the Bruins a 14-2 record, and they have a 3-1 Pac-8 mark.

Santa Barbara, led by Andy Oliveira's 15 points, had come into the contest with a six-game winning streak. The loss gives the Gauchos a 10-5 record.

The only other member of The Associated Press' Top Twenty to see action Thursday night, 18th-ranked West Texas, fell to Louisville 69-57. Wesley Cox pumped in 22 points — 16 in the first half — to pace the Cardinals as a record crowd of 8,308 at the Amarillo, Tex., Civic Center watch Louisville average an earlier loss to West Texas.

Elsewhere, it was Tulsa 103, Drake 83; New Mexico State 91, Bradley 85; Virginia 78, Delaware 65; Northeastern 78, Boston U. 67, and Holy Cross 89, Fairfield 78.

Miami Tests Ohio U. In MAC Showdown

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "We've been playing well with our minds. We've played a favorable early schedule," said Dale Bandy, surprising Ohio University's basketball coach.

"They're playing together as well as they have for two or three years. They're looking for each other. They have very balanced scoring," said Miami scout Jerry Peirson of the Bobcats.

Whatever the explanation, Ohio has been a shiner in the Mid-American Conference scramble this winter. The 4-0 Bobcats are just a half game behind front-runners Miami and Western Michigan (both 5-0).

However, something has to give Saturday. The Bobcats face only their second MAC road test of the season at Miami.

In other Mid-American encounters Saturday, Western

Michigan goes to Ball State (1-4), Bowling Green (3-3) to Northern Illinois (0-5), Eastern Michigan (0-5) to Toledo (3-2) and Central Michigan (2-3) to Kent State (2-3).

The Bobcats have played only one first division team, trouncing Bowling Green at Athens. Three of their four league games have been at home, too.

"The tough MAC schedule is ahead of us," Bandy conceded. "For us to win at Miami," said the Ohio coach, "we'll have to play 40 minutes of physical basketball, be patient and shoot well. If we do, we'll have a chance."

Shorn of Walter Luckett, the conference's scoring champion the last two years, Bandy rebuilt with a balanced attack headed by 6-7 Scott Love (18 points per game).

Luckett passed up his senior season for an ill-fated pro tryout with the Detroit Pistons.

Bandy isn't surprised the Bobcats carry a seven-game winning streak to Miami.

"We felt if we learned early to play together, understand and overcome our limitations, we had a chance to be a good team," he said.

Coach Darrell Hedric, whose Miamians are considered favored Western Michigan's main threat, realizes the Redskins can ill afford a loss at home to Ohio.

"If you lose at home," said Hedric, "you have to win twice on the road to make up for it."

Western Michigan expectedly has a share of the conference lead because the Broncos have shaken their notorious reputation as a poor road team. Western, 13-0 and the only unbeaten overall team in the MAC, bids for its seventh straight road victory against Ball State.

Before that, the Broncos had lost 17 consecutive MAC away contests.

Lakeshore Girls Defeat Harbor

The Lakeshore girls volleyball team defeated Benton Harbor 15-5, 15-5 Thursday at Benton Harbor. Harbor took the junior varsity set 9-15, 16-14, 15-14.

Ballard Trips Upton

Niles Ballard defeated the Upton freshmen 67-34 Thursday at Upton. Allen had 17 for Ballard while Larry Kibler, Mark Kasper and Ron Starks all hit eight points for Upton.

Valley Triumphs

Steve Johnson hit 10 points and Mike Peterik 17 as the River Valley freshmen took Mission 54-42 Thursday. Valley is 5-2. Jeff Curry canned 18 for Mission.

Nelson Wins Snowmobile Marathon

WINNIPEG (AP) — Brian Nelson of Willmar, Minn., won the 11th annual St. Paul to Winnipeg International 500 snowmobile race Thursday, edging out Bob Przekwas in the closest finish in the event's history.

Nelson, on a John Deer, finished the grueling four-day race over a rugged 500-mile course in an official time of 12 hours, 37 minutes and 19 seconds. Przekwas, of Roseau, Minn., on a Polaris, was just 32 seconds behind him.

Nelson, 22, who had made three previous attempts but had never before completed the race, crossed the finish line on the outskirts of Winnipeg about noon, winning $10,000 in top prize money.

The Zutz brothers, from Warren, Minn., finished third and fourth, both on Polaris machines. Loren, 19, had completed the course in 12:44:37 and his 23-year-old brother Ron was next at 12:48:06.

Bert Bassett, of Roseau, on a Polaris, finished fifth at 12:58:47.

Rickel's 'Homework' Pays Off With Brilliant 288 Game

JIM RICKEL

By JERRY DYKSTRA
Staff Sports Writer

Jim Rickel made his "homework" pay off. Rickel, only 17, went to the head of the class last Saturday at Blossom Lanes when he blistered a 288 game in a 641 series in the junior bowling program.

The Lake Michigan Catholic senior, who worked on his homework between balls, just missed a perfect opening game. Rickel crashed 10 straight strikes to start the game. He then came in with a perfect hit in the 11th but a shaking No. 7 pin refused to go down. He missed the conversion.

"The first nine balls I really wasn't nervous...I was working on my homework between balls," explained Rickel, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Rickel,

1800 Derfla, St. Joseph. "But I got nervous in the 10th. About 50 to 100 people were watching and everyone stopped bowling...it was super quiet. I really wasn't thinking 300 until the end."

"I'm just happy I got what I did. I sure was relieved."

The 288, if counted in the men's regular league standings, would rank as the second top game this season in southwestern Michigan.

Rickel, who carried an 161 average into the Major league, was having troubles with a new finger-tip ball he had received as a Christmas present.

"He was kind of disgusted with his new ball when he came up to me a few weeks ago," offered Tresa Gustine, head of the Blossom Lanes junior program.

"I told him not to give up and stick with it. Once you learn to get the ball down properly, you'll be great with it...that's what I told him."

The advice worked to perfection as Rickel followed the 288 with games of 191 and 162. The 288 is also believed the highest game ever rolled in the junior leagues at Blossom.

Rickel, whose previous high game was 226, plans to join some men's leagues next year "and just see what happens."

Rickel, who has been bowling four years in the junior leagues, also produced the top series Monday in the Inter High School league at Blossom. He finished with a 546.

Jeff Daniel also had a hefty game Monday with a 255, 102 pins over his average, in the Inter High School league. This was a big week for big games as Ade Loikits banged a 278 and Alice Wilk a 255 to crack the respective men's and women's high games standings.

Loikits, bowling in the Twin City league at Gersonde's started his final game with a spare and then powered nine X's in a row before leaving the 1-2 in the 11th frame. He ended with a 657 series.

Alice, from Sister Lakes, supports only a 135 average in the New Corners Mixed Doubles league at Lakes Bowl but Sunday she exploded for her 255 in her third game.

Millie Farris and Priscilla Byrns posted women's 600 series this week with Millie flinging 616 and Priscilla 602.

Thursday Morning league at Gersonde's.

Split conversions this week included the 6-7-10 by Ken Osburn, Eleanor Cooper, Betty Forray Diana Nash, Dave Koch, Angie Burnett, Bert Deaner, Carole Pillivant, Lois Rittenhouse, Kathy Klattand Tony Antonelli; the 4-7-10 by John Franklin, Colleen Thompson, Yoshiko Lekan, Matt Nozicka Sr., Mary Salvano, Sonny

Ballard and Bill Yow; the 6-7 by Nancy Hocker, Sandy Krager, Lucille Zielke and Barbara Smith; the 4-10 by Sue Crowe, Gary Meyers, Eunice Radde and Dave Johnson; the 8-10 by Dan Stack; the 4-6 by Jim Romeo and Ken Lausman; the 4-6-10 by Sue Renfro and Harold Holcomb; the 7-9-10 by W. Yates and the 6-7-9-10 by Willy Hoffmann.

Barb Trussler pitched an 121 triplicate.

Bruins Face 15th-Rated Irish On Saturday

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

UCLA Coach Gene Bartow was perplexed, concerned, and perhaps a little angry after his sixth-ranked UCLA Bruins had unexpected trouble with lightly regarded UC Santa Barbara.

"If our starters don't show considerable improvement, you can look for a lot of freshmen to be starting future UCLA basketball games," Bartow said after the Bruins posted a hard-fought 64-50 victory over the Gauchos Thursday night.

"I can't understand what's happening to us," Bartow said of his Bruins, who trailed Santa Barbara 26-24 at the intermission. "We should be playing much better."

While he was not at all pleased with the Bruins' play, Bartow said he had something to be thankful for. "Thank heaven we didn't play USC tonight," he said.

Bartow was reminded that Pacific-8 foe Southern Cal has lost its last five games. "But they will be most difficult for us when we play them here," he said, referring to a Jan. 31 matchup, "particularly if we play like we did tonight."

The Bruins, who face 15th-ranked Notre Dame Saturday at South Bend, got 27 points from junior forward Richard Washington, 19 of them in the second half, in the victory over the Gauchos.

Washington scored eight points early in the second half to help the Bruins move out to a 38-29 advantage, but Santa Barbara charged back to pull within three, 38-35, with 12 minutes left in the game before the Bruins finally began to pad their lead.

UCLA's biggest spread was the final score, as Washington hit a 15-foot jumper in the closing seconds to make the Bruin lead 14.

The victory, UCLA's 94th consecutive home triumph, gives the Bruins a 14-2 record, and they have a 3-1 Pac-8 mark.

Santa Barbara, led by Andy Oliveira's 15 points, had come into the contest with a six-game winning streak. The loss gives the Gauchos a 10-5 record.

The only other member of The Associated Press' Top Twenty to see action Thursday night, 19th-ranked West Texas, fell to Louisville 69-57. Wesley Cox pumped in 22 points — 18 in the first half — to pace the Cardinals as a record crowd of 6,308 at the Amarillo, Tex., Civic Center watch Louisville avenge an earlier loss to West Texas.

Elsewhere, it was Tulsa 103, Drake 83; New Mexico State 91, Bradley 85; Virginia 78, Delaware 65; Northeastern 79, Boston U. 67, and Holy Cross 89, Fairfield 78.

Miami Tests Ohio U. In MAC Showdown

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "We've been playing well with our minds. We've played a favorable early schedule," said Dale Bandy, surprising Ohio University's basketball coach.

"They're playing together as well as they have for two or three years. They're looking for each other. They have very balanced scoring," said Miami scout Jerry Peirson of the Bobcats.

Whatever the explanation, Ohio has been a stunner in the Mid-American Conference scramble this winter. The 4-0 Bobcats are just a half game behind front-runners Miami and Western Michigan (both 5-0).

However, something has to give Saturday. The Bobcats face only their second MAC road test of the season at Miami.

In other Mid-American encounters Saturday, Western

Michigan goes to Ball State (1-4), Bowling Green (3-3) to Northern Illinois (0-5), Eastern Michigan (0-5) to Toledo (3-2) and Central Michigan (2-3) to Kent State (2-3).

The Bobcats have played only one first division team, trimming Bowling Green at Athens. Three of their four league games have been at home, too.

"The tough MAC schedule is ahead of us," Bandy conceded.

"For us to win at Miami," said the Ohio coach, "we'll have to play 40 minutes of physical basketball, be patient and shoot well. If we do, we'll have a chance."

Shorn of Walter Luckett, the conference's scoring champion the last two years, Bandy rebuilt with a balanced attack headed by 6-7 Scott Love (18 points per game).

Luckett passed up his senior season for an ill-fated pro tryout with the Detroit Pistons.

Bandy isn't surprised the Bobcats carry a seven-game winning streak to Miami.

"We felt if we learned early to play together, understand and overcome our limitations, we had a chance to be a good team," he said.

Coach Darrell Hedric, whose Miamians are considered favored Western Michigan's main threat, realizes the Redskins can ill afford a loss at home to Ohio.

"If you lose at home," said Hedric, "you have to win twice on the road to make up for it."

Western Michigan expectedly has a share of the conference lead because the Broncos have shaken their notorious reputation as a poor road team. Western, 13-0 and the only unbeaten overall team in the MAC, bids for its seventh straight road victory against Ball State. Before that, the Broncos had lost 17 consecutive MAC away contests.

Lakeshore Girls Defeat Harbor

Valley Triumphs

Steve Johnson hit 19 points and Mike Peterek 17 as the River Valley freshmen took Milton 54-42 Thursday. Valley is 8-2. Jeff Curry canned 18 for Milton.

Bruins Stay In First By Beating Sabres

Potvin Brothers Topple Red Wings

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (AP) — The New York Islanders' Jean Potvin was almost speechless — and toothless — after the first three-goal night of his six-year National Hockey League career.

After he and brother Denis led the Islanders to an 8-1 victory over Detroit Thursday night, Jean Potvin stuttered: "It's kind of hard for me to describe how I feel."

"I almost swallowed my mouthpiece. And it was a brand new one."

"When I came over to the bench, I hollered to the team dentist to keep making them. I'd need one every night if I thought this was going to happen."

Jean Potvin scored three of the Islanders' four second-period goals, and Denis scored once in the first period and again in the third. Ralph Stewart also had two goals for the Islanders.

The loss was the worst for the Red Wings since Alex Delvecchio resumed the coaching reins seven weeks ago. Detroit has now lost 19 of its 24 road games this season.

Elsewhere in the NHL Thursday night, the Boston Bruins bumped the Buffalo Sabres 5-3. Philadelphia beat Atlanta 7-2. Montreal nipped Pittsburgh 4-3 and Los Angeles defeated Toronto 6-3.

In the night's only World Hockey Association game, Phoenix defeated Toronto 6-4.

Bruins' Coach Don Cherry may have been the only man in Boston who thought the Buffalo Sabres were fortunate. Certainly, Sabres' Coach Floyd Smith didn't agree.

But Cherry, whose team moved four points ahead of the Sabres in the Adams Division with the victory, thought the Sabres were lucky to get off as easily as they did.

"If we keep banging around in the third period the way we have, someone had better have a good lead on us," Cherry said, "or we're going to get them ... we should have beaten the Sabres a lot worse."

Wayne Cashman scored two goals and rookie Doug Gibson got three assists to guide the Bruins, who outshot the Sabres 38-15.

Cashman snapped a 3-3 tie on a pass from Gibson at 14:54 of the third frame, and Terry O'Reilly added a goal with 55 seconds left.

Reggie Leach's three goals led the Flyers to their easy win. Bill Barber added two more and had three assists, and Orest Kindrachuk, playing on the Leach-Barber line in place of the injured Bobby Clarke, had four assists. It was the eighth victory in nine games for the defending NHL champs.

Steve Shutt scored two goals in the first period, and, despite being outshot 45-33, Montreal held on to beat Pittsburgh. Peter Mahovlich and Guy Lafleur picked up three points each, Lafleur with a goal and two assists and Mahovlich with three assists.

Mike Murphy scored four goals for Los Angeles, three in the final period, to provide the Kings with their winning margin, and Marcel Dionne assisted on five of the Kings' goals.

It was the first victory for Los Angeles in four meetings with Toronto this season and snapped the Maple Leafs' three-game unbeaten string.

Barry Dean broke a 10-game scoring drought with a go-ahead goal midway through the third period that boosted Phoenix to victory.

Phoenix broke to a 2-0 lead off first-period goals by Cam Connor and Rob Flocke, then surrendered four straight. Two were unassisted breakaways by Jean-Luc Phaneuf. But Phoenix came back with two goals in the second period and scored twice again in the final frame.

Pittsburgh Thursday night. Out of position Penguin goalie Michel Plasse watches the shot. Montreal won 4-3. (AP Wirephoto)

Cavs Topple Russell-less Sonics

From Associated Press

It was a simple question Bill Russell asked National Basketball Association referee Darrell Garretson.

"All I said to him was 'Are you going to be a homer all night?'"

The remark got the Seattle coach thrown out of the game, a game which saw the Cleveland Cavaliers defeat the Seattle SuperSonics 109-99. Russell, the former Boston Celtics star player and coach, wasn't surprised at the referee's reaction.

"Nothing surprises me anymore," Russell said. "I just wish I could have cussed a little more and really got my money's worth."

While Russell made his remark to Garretson, he wasn't sure which referee threw him out of the game. "They all look alike to me,"

Russell said.

In other NBA games Thursday night, Washington crushed New Orleans 109-80 and Golden State defeated Los Angeles 129-105.

In the only American Basketball Association game on tap, Virginia stopped St. Louis 128-117.

Jim Chones and Bingo Smith paced Cleveland's victory by scoring 22 points each. The Sonics, converting three straight turnovers, pulled to 104-97 with 1:27 left, but Smith's 25-foot jumper and Jim Brewer's slam dunk sealed the Cavaliers' victory.

Len Robinson made the most of his chance. Subbing for the injured Elvin Hayes, Robinson scored 14 points and blocked a club-record eight shots to lead Washington over New Orleans. The Bullets, paced by Phil Chenier's 20 points, hit 70 percent of their field goal attempts in the second period to take a 49-37 lead, then blew the game early with a 9-2 streak to open the third period. Six Washington players finished in double figures while rookie Rich Kelley scored 20 to lead New Orleans.

A third-quarter rally, ignited by center George Johnson and forward Rick Barry, pushed Golden State past Los Angeles.

Down 78-67, the Warriors ran off 16 straight points in the third period, then outscored the Lakers 18-4 in the opening four minutes of the fourth quarter. Barry finished with 31 points, high for the game, while Gail Goodrich led the Lakers with 29.

Mack Calvin's eight straight points late in the game clinched Virginia's victory over St. Louis. Calvin, who missed the first three months of the season with an injury, paced the Squires with 24 points, while Ticky Burdon added 21 and Mike Green 20. St. Louis was led by Marvin Barnes with 37 points.

Phoenix broke to a 2-0 lead off first-period goals by Cam Connor and Rob Flocke, then surrendered four straight. Two were unassisted breakaways by Jean-Luc Phaneuf. But Phoenix came back with two goals in the second period and scored twice again in the final frame.

Oregon State Now Top Cage Power

CORVALLIS, Ore. (AP) — Oregon State's Louie Shelton raced down the court, hurled himself at the basket and slammed the ball through the net with both hands, which is illegal in college basketball.

That little maneuver, with 30 seconds on the clock during a Jan. 10 Pacific-8 Conference game against UCLA, cost OSU a technical foul.

Shelton didn't care. Neither did Coach Ralph Miller. The Beavers had taken the lead 2½ minutes after the opening tipoff and outclassed the Bruins 75-58.

UCLA's Richard Washington even missed the free throw.

A week later, Shelton tossed in a jumper with eight seconds left, giving Oregon State a 72-70 victory over then-No. 6 Washington and undisputed first place in the tough Pac-8 with a 4-0 record.

Miller, a 25-year veteran of coaching, has spent six years at Corvallis rebuilding a team that usually hovered near the bottom of Pac-8 behind the nationally-ranked giants.

Things are different now. "Everyone will come at us a little harder now. Everyone will want a piece of us," Miller said. "We have to be mature enough to handle the pressure."

The Beavers, starting four juniors and a senior, show no signs of falling apart under the strain of a No. 13 ranking or a 12-4 mark.

"Four of my five starters have been playing together now for two-plus years. It must be remembered that this same group was in second place in the Pac-8 Conference last year," Miller said.

"A great deal of their development took place last year. Their skill and execution has improved. I think maturity and experience have also been important factors, plus simply that they're gaining confidence," he said.

The hero in Miller's success story at OSU is Shelton, a 6-foot-8, 240-pound junior from Bakersfield, Calif.

He almost got away, encountering legal trouble over a professional basketball contract last summer.

Potvin Brothers Topple Red Wings

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (AP) — The New York Islanders' Jean Potvin was almost speechless — and toothless — after the first three-goal night of his six-year National Hockey League career.

After he and brother Denis led the Islanders to an 8-1 victory over Detroit Thursday night, Jean Potvin stuttered: "It's kind of hard for me to describe how I feel."

"I almost swallowed my mouthpiece. And it was a brand new one."

"When I came over to the bench, I hollered to the team dentist to keep making them. I'd need one every night if I thought this was going to happen."

Jean Potvin scored three of the Islanders' four second-period goals, and Denis scored once in the first period and again in the third. Ralph Stewart also had two goals for the Islanders.

The loss was the worst for the Red Wings since Alex Delvecchio resumed the coaching reins seven weeks ago. Detroit has now lost 19 of its 24 road games this season.

Elsewhere in the NHL Thursday night, the Boston Bruins bumped the Buffalo Sabres 5-3. Philadelphia beat Atlanta 7-2. Montreal nipped Pittsburgh 4-3 and Los Angeles defeated Toronto 6-3.

In the night's only World Hockey Association game, Phoenix defeated Toronto 6-4.

Bruins' Coach Don Cherry may have been the only man in Boston who thought the Buffalo Sabres were fortunate. Certainly, Sabres' Coach Floyd Smith didn't agree.

But Cherry, whose team moved four points ahead of the Sabres in the Adams Division with the victory, thought the Sabres were lucky to get off as easily as they did.

"If we keep banging around in the third period the way we have, someone had better have a good lead on us," Cherry said, "or we're going to get them ... we should have beaten the Sabres a lot worse."

Wayne Cashman scored two goals and rookie Doug Gibson got three assists to guide the Bruins, who outshot the Sabres 38-15.

Cashman snapped a 3-3 tie on a pass from Gibson at 14:54 of the third frame, and Terry O'Reilly added a goal with 55 seconds left.

Reggie Leach's three goals led the Flyers to their easy win. Bill Barber added two more and had three assists, and Orest Kindrachuk, playing on the Leach-Barber line in place of the injured Bobby Clarke, had four assists. It was the eighth victory in nine games for the defending NHL champs.

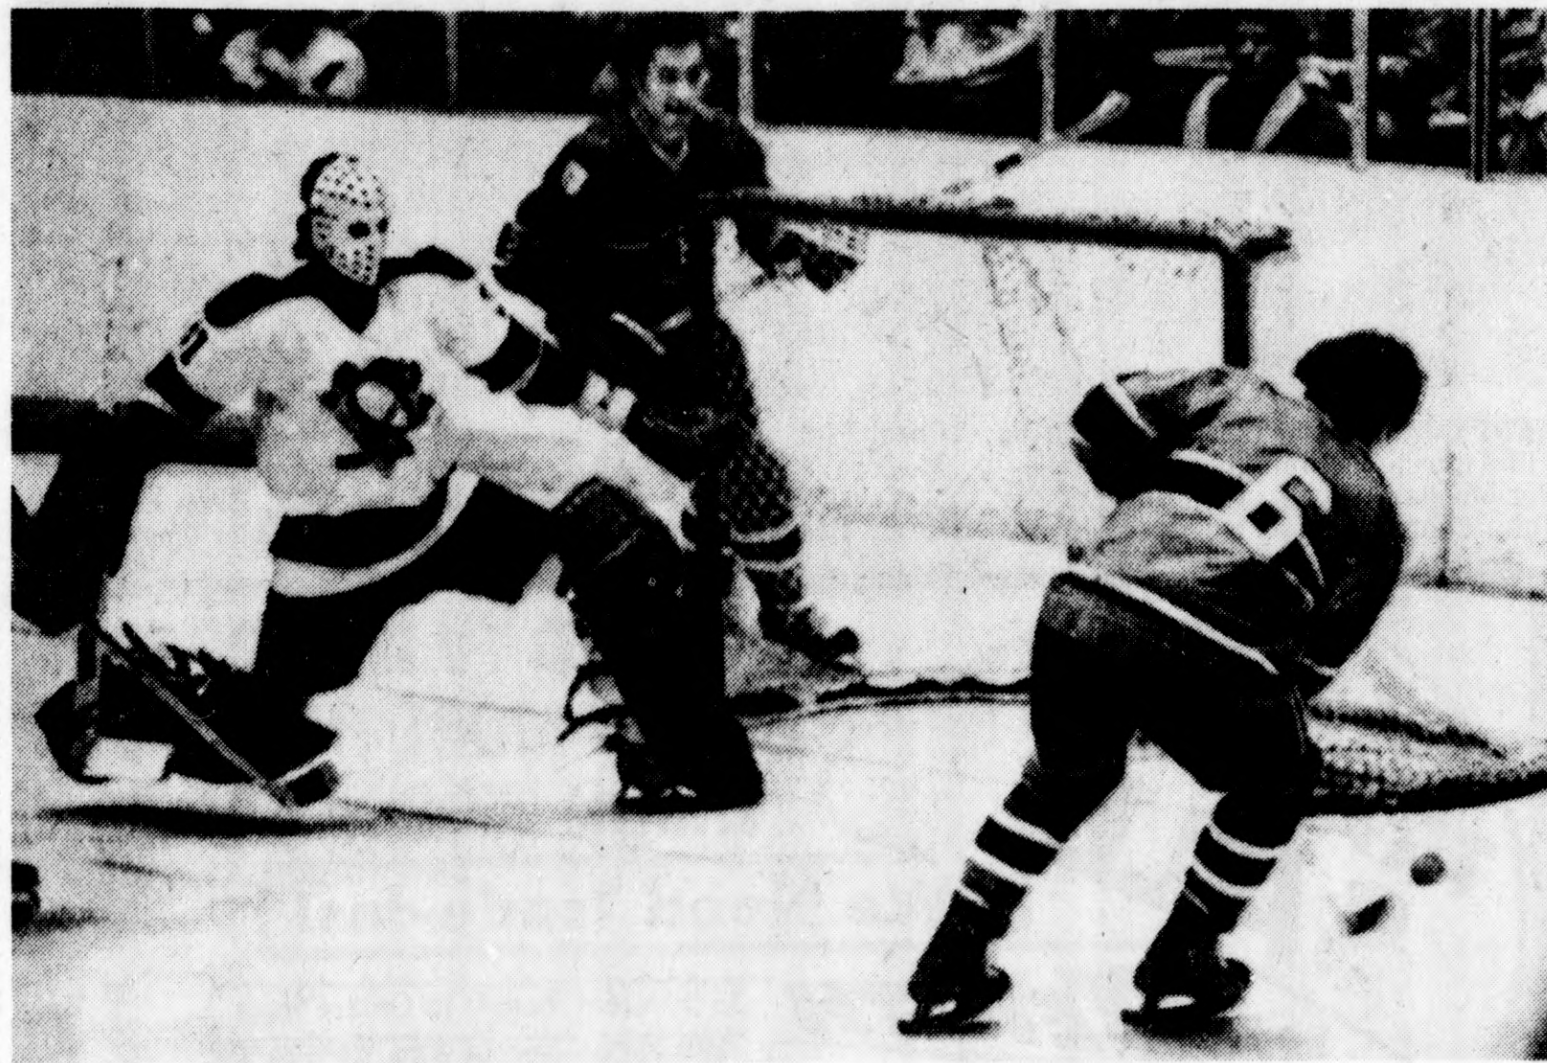

Steve Shutt scored two goals in the first period, and, despite being outshot 45-33, Montreal held on to beat Pittsburgh. Peter Mahovlich and Guy Lafleur picked up three points each, Lafleur with a goal and two assists and Mahovlich with three assists.

Mike Murphy scored four goals for Los Angeles, three in the final period, to provide the Kings with their winning margin, and Marcel Dionne assisted on five of the Kings' goals.

It was the first victory for Los Angeles in four meetings with Toronto this season and snapped the Maple Leafs' three-game unbeaten string.

Barry Dean broke a 10-game scoring drought with a go-ahead goal midway through the third period that boosted Phoenix to victory.

Phoenix broke to a 2-0 lead off first-period goals by Cam Connor and Rob Ftorek, then surrendered four straight. Two were unassisted breakaways by Jean-Luc Phaneuf. But Phoenix came back with two goals in the second period and scored twice again in the final frame.

GOALIE MISSING: Montreal Canadien Jim Roberts (6) finds an open goal and slaps the puck in during National Hockey League game against the Penguins in Pittsburgh Thursday night. Out of position Penguin goalie Michel Plasse watches the shot. Montreal won 4-3. (AP Wirephoto)

Cavs Topple Russell-less Sonics

From Associated Press

It was a simple question Bill Russell asked National Basketball Association referee Darrell Garretson.

"All I said to him was 'Are you going to be a homer all night?'"

The remark got the Seattle coach thrown out of the game, a game which saw the Cleveland Cavaliers defeat the Seattle SuperSonics 109-99. Russell, the former Boston Celtics star player and coach, wasn't surprised at the referee's reaction.

"Nothing surprises me anymore," Russell said. "I just wish I could have cussed a little more and really got my money's worth."

While Russell made his remark to Garretson, he wasn't sure which referee threw him out of the game. "They all look alike to me,"

Russell said.

In other NBA games Thursday night, Washington crushed New Orleans 109-86 and Golden State defeated Los Angeles 129-105.

In the only American Basketball Association game on tap, Virginia stopped St. Louis 128-117.

Jim Chones and Bingo Smith paced Cleveland's victory by scoring 22 points each. The Sonics, converting three straight turnovers, pulled to 104-97 with 1:27 left, but Smith's 25-foot jumper and Jim Brewer's slam dunk sealed the Cavaliers' victory.

Len Robinson made the most of his chance. Subbing for the injured Elvin Hayes, Robinson scored 14 points and blocked a club-record eight shots to lead Washington over New Orleans. The Bullets, paced by Phil Chenier's 20 points, hit 70 per cent of their field goal attempts in the second period to take a 49-37 lead, then blew the game early with a 9-2 streak to open the third period. Six Washington players finished in double figures while rookie Rich Kelley scored 20 to lead New Orleans.

A third-quarter rally, ignited by center George Johnson and forward Rick Barry, pushed Golden State past Los Angeles. Down 78-67, the Warriors ran off 16 straight points in the third period, then outscored the Lakers 18-4 in the opening four minutes of the fourth quarter. Barry finished with 31 points, high for the game, while Gail Goodrich led the Lakers with 29.

Mack Calvin's eight straight points late in the game

clinched Virginia's victory over St. Louis. Calvin, who missed the first three months of the season with an injury, paced the Squires with 24 points, while Ticky Burden added 21 and Mike Green 20. St. Louis was led by Marvin Barnes with 37 points.

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The Senate majority leader wants to reinstate the Rail Advisory Committee to re-evaluate the way rail planning is done in Michigan. State Sen. Highway Commission Chairman Peter Fletcher disbanded the panel last year, saying it was no longer needed. The committee had criticized the way the state's plan was drawn up.

Futuristic Island Town Is Rising In Heart Of NYC

By BERNARD COHEN
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A few hundred urban pioneers have moved into their apartments on Roosevelt Island, a yet-to-be completed new town in the East River. They say they love the place even though it has no stores and the tramway to Manhattan doesn't work yet.

A splash away from Manhattan, the planned community on the island is technically part of the city, but its atmosphere is more suburban than cosmopolitan, except that dogs are banned.

The futuristic-looking town was erected in the middle of a 2-mile-long spit of land which New York City bought 150 years ago to house criminals, the sick, the poor and the insane.

Since April, about 200 families have moved into one of the four large apartment buildings along narrow Main Street, which winds darkly through the town. Workmen are still more in evidence than residents.

The new families call themselves pioneers. They still have no stores on the island. Their main link to Manhattan, an aerial tramway, is now scheduled to open in late February after a six-month delay. Minibuses which shuttle them from the parking garage (where cars must be kept) to town a short distance away are not always reliable.

The newcomers are young couples who want space to raise their children, suburbanites tired of commuting long hours to the city and singles who want easy access to Manhattan proper but not its problems.

They think of Roosevelt Island as theirs, although they share the island with two hospitals, seven landmarks and the ruins of buildings from more disreputable days. They say they love its neighborly atmosphere, its feeling of safety, its open spaces, the picture postcard view of the Manhattan skyline and the novelty of watching river traffic churn by.

"We are very conscious of trying to build a community rather than little holes in buildings where people come to sleep," said Alice Juraw, one of the first tenants to move in.

In nine months, the new arrivals have formed a residents association and drafted a constitution; grown vegetables in a community garden, raised money at a Halloween flea market, treated themselves to an ethnic food buffet dinner, held an ecumenical Thanksgiving Eve service and organized a New Year's Eve party.

Tenants wear T-shirts that say "Manhattan's other island" and describe an atmosphere that is so friendly and full of activity that their apartment building seems more like a dormitory and their town like a camp.

The Rev. John McCarthy, who said mass last summer for five families in an apartment, says his new parish has grown to about 65. The Jewish community has a part-time rabbi and hopes to have religious instruction for the children soon.

Earlier this year, Father McCarthy offered to say prayers for Jews in the community, and many of them turned out for his Christmas Eve candlelight service.

"We have to support our local clergy," one said.

All of the island's residents live in a middle income building where a two-bedroom apartment rents for $479 to $551 a month. A luxury building, a moderate income building and a cooperative are scheduled to be ready in a few more months, giving the town a total of 2,100 units.

Rents in the moderate income building, which looks across the river to a large electrical generation plant in Queens, are being raised even before any families move in because of higher management and operating costs. The old rents ranged from $188 a month for a studio to $378 for four bedrooms. The new rents will rise to $226 for a studio to $485 for four bedrooms.

To obtain the rent increase, management raised the maximum income to qualify for an apartment from $7,500 to $12,800 for single persons and from $17,250 to $23,000 for a family of six.

In the moderate income building there will be several hundred apartments for low income families and the elderly.

Financial problems forced cancellation of a major second residential section and indefinite postponement of the development of many planned parks.

JOHN P. ROCHE
A Word Edgewise

As the obituaries for the late Chou En-lai mounted, I detected on my ideological Richter scale a distinct earthquake. A check of the correlates indicated the location was George Orwell's grave. Understandably: Never in history have so many nice things been said about so evil a man. Chou En-lai, after all, was the Deputy Warden of the world's largest concentration camp, though if his American obits were read in Hong Kong a number of refugees might start swimming back to the mainland. Doubtless part of the chorus of praise was a simple consequence of age.

Another aspect of the Chou-worship grew from his appeal to the intellectuals. A mandarin in background, well-educated in China, Japan and Europe, the master of at least four languages, urbane, sophisticated, witty, Chou went over big with correspondents, visiting intellectuals and diplomats. Unlike Mao, who probably ate with his fingers, Chou never drank the water in the finger bowl or used the wrong fork on the fish.

Nothing said here is intended to denigrate Chou's brilliance, both as an individual and as an apparition. No one, friend or foe, who ever encountered him denied his talents, particularly as an outside man. He even managed to walk out of an international Communist meeting in Moscow with supreme dignity — no mean trick given the collective vulgarity of the audience. And, since praise from Caesar is praise indeed, we have Chairman Kissing's testimony that coping with Chou on the diplomatic level was a real test of intellectual capacity.

The most intriguing aspect of Chou's career was his conscious decision in 1931 to accept party demotion and become the associate rather than rival of Mao Tse-tung. Mao has always been a prize example of Communist exotica. Without going into the Byzantine details of the struggle between Stalin and the Chinese Communists in the late 1920s, it is simply not true to say that Mao developed an independent variant of Marxism based on the peasantry rather than the proletariat. Lenin, who had a program ("Got Power!") for all situations, had come up with this concept in dealing with Ireland; and at a Conference of the Tickers of the East at Baku in July, 1920, the Hungarian, Bela Kun, speaking for the Comintern, announced that the Soviet system could be established in pre-capitalist conditions as the dictatorship of the poor peasantry. Needless to say, his resolution on "The Soviet System of Government in the East" was adopted unanimously.

Mao's difficulties thus arose not from heresy, but from refusing to accept insane orders from Stalin and from developing what amounted to an evangelical Communist hymnal — the "Red Book" of the sayings of Mao. Chou, however, cast his lot with Mao and never looked back. Indeed, the relationship was rather like that of Louis Howe and Franklin D. Roosevelt as depicted in the splendid TV special, "Eleanor and Franklin." Chou made it clear that he was no competitor — just a servant of Mao and "The Revolution." In one sense, this was selflessness, but in another it was the road to survival and power. Standing in Mao's shadow, he was in power terms the invisible man — but he was also conveniently located to provide his leader with daggers and, with the dispassionate manner of the unambitious, suggest where they might best be planted. One rarely saw Chou in action; all you spotted was movement behind the drapes.

Well, in any case, one of the shrewdest enemies of freedom has departed and — if such is possible — must be enjoying with his customary sardonic charm the movement for his canonization. And when you realize that the Chinese Communists killed over 20 million in "reeducating" the Mainland, you can understand why Orwell is grating in his grave.

A Busing Bill For Oldsters

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — School buses could be used to provide free outings for senior citizens under a bill headed for the Senate. The House approved the bill 98-4 with immediate effect Thursday.

The measure was sponsored by Rep. E. Dan Stevens, R-Atlanta. It would allow boards of education to waive mileage, insurance and other costs transporting senior citizens in school buses not in use for school activities.

Tunnel Contractor: 'No Basis' For Warrant

By SUSAN AGER
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Spokesmen for the Greenfield Construction Co. said Thursday there is "absolutely no basis" for a possible criminal warrant being sought by the state in the aftermath of a tunnel blast which killed one worker and injured five others.

The state Labor Department says it is seeking a criminal warrant against Greenfield and found 35 safety violations existed at the Mount Clemens tunnel being built by the contractor. The department's charges stem from Greenfield's work on the Mount Clemens tunnel, where an explosion last November resulted in one fatality.

"Merely because you violate a standard that you knew existed doesn't mean you willfully violated it," Greenfield attorney Ralph Houghton said Thursday. "We strongly suspect the court will see no basis for continuing this case."

Labor representatives asked Macomb County Prosecutor George Parris to issue a criminal warrant against Greenfield for "willful violation of the construction safety act," a felony.

If issued, the criminal charge would be the second against the Livonia company in two months. It also has been charged with violating the safety act in connection with the death of a Dearborn tunnel worker.

If convicted of both charges and all the violations, Greenfield could pay fines of about $40,000.

Houghton also told reporters Thursday that the Livonia company is being unfairly linked with the deaths in December, 1971, of 21 workers in a Port Huron tunnel which exploded.

"It's not fair to take those deaths, which we were not responsible for, and add them to our record," said Houghton. Greenfield was the managing partner of four companies working on the Port Huron tunnel.

The 35 alleged safety violations were contained in a Department of Labor report released Thursday. Fourteen of them are considered serious, and six are identical to violations found in the Port Huron case.

A separate report is expected in about a week from the state Department of Public Health, which is also expected to seek a separate criminal charge against Greenfield.

Labor director Keith Molin also admitted some "urgent" changes must be made within the department itself to prevent other tragedies. In addition, the Michigan Occupational Safety and Health Act "needs to be improved," the report said.

Greenfield president Angelo DiPonzo said Thursday, and Molin agreed, that the labor department was lax in failing to inspect the tunnel.

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Occasional rocket, mortar and machine gun fire marred the new cease-fire in the Lebanese civil war during the night, but an army spokesman reported a 75 per cent de-escalation on all battle fronts today.

NEWS OF MARKETS

Market's Hopes Go Unfulfilled

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was mixed today as hopes for a prime rate cut by New York's First National City Bank went unfulfilled.

The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down a fraction. Gainers, however, took a 1-2 load over losers on the New York Stock Exchange.

As trading began, Citibank, the nation's second largest commercial bank, said it would hold its prime rate at 6 1/2 percent for the coming week.

Wall Street had generally been expecting it to join the First National Bank of St. Louis, which went to the 6 1/2 percent level in the basic charge on business loans Thursday.

Today's early prices included American Midway, up 1/4 at 7; Fluor Corp., unchanged at 35; Merck & Co., up 1/4 at 66 1/4; and Singer, down 1/4 at 12 1/2.

On Thursday the Dow Jones industrial average lost 2.76 to 943.48.

But gainers outnumbered losers by about an 8-7 margin on the NYSE, and the exchange's composite index was down .08 at 51.97.

Big Board volume came to 27.42 million shares.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index slipped .04 to 82.89.

Ford Recalls Capris

LIVONIA, Mich. (AP) — Ford Motor Co. said Thursday it is recalling about 75,000 of its European-made Capris for possible replacement of steering wheel assemblies.

Ford said a component in the assembly had the potential for metal fatigue, especially if the wheels were tightly crimped, such as in a parking maneuver.

Ford said cars built between Aug. 1, 1970 and Oct. 31, 1971, will be inspected, and, if necessary, the assembly will be replaced at no charge to owners.

Ford said the part has failed in two incidents but added the problem has caused no accidents.

Market's Hopes Go Unfulfilled

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was mixed today as hopes for a prime rate cut by New York's First National City Bank went unfulfilled.

The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down a fraction. Gainers, however, took a 3-2 lead over losers on the New York Stock Exchange.

As trading began, Citibank, the nation's second largest commercial bank, said it would hold its prime rate at 6 1/2 per cent for the coming week.

Wall Street had generally been expecting it to join the First National Bank of St. Louis, which went to the 6 1/2 per cent level in the basic charge on business loans Thursday.

Today's early prices included American Midcor, up 1/4 at 7; Fluor Corp., unchanged at 35; Merck & Co., up 1/4 at 66 1/4; and Singer, down 1/4 at 12 3/4.

On Thursday the Dow Jones industrial average lost 2.76 to 943.48.

But gainers outnumbered losers by about an 8-7 margin on the NYSE, and the exchange's composite index was down .08 at 51.97.

Big Board volume came to 27.42 million shares.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index slipped .04 to 92.89.

Ford Recalls Capris

LIVONIA, Mich. (AP) — Ford Motor Co. said Thursday it is recalling about 75,000 of its European-made Capris for possible replacement of steering wheel assemblies.

Ford said a component in the assembly had the potential for metal fatigue, especially if the wheels were tightly cranked, such as in a parking maneuver.

Ford said cars built between Aug. 1, 1970 and Oct. 31, 1971, will be inspected, and, if necessary, the assembly will be replaced at no charge to owners.

Ford said the part has failed in two incidents but added the problem has caused no accidents.

YOUR MONEY'S WORTH

YOUR NEW MAIL ORDER, INSTALLMENT LOAN RIGHTS

One week from Monday, Feb. 2, you, the consumer, will gain significant new rights in the whole area of mail order goods and you will be protected for the first time against mail order firms that fail to ship you merchandise you have ordered.

This coming May 14, you will gain even more important new rights in the whole area of installment contracts and be protected for the first time against lenders who try to force you to pay for shoddy merchandise or for services which have gone out of business.

But to benefit from these rights, you must know about them, use them! Thus, read and remember the following.

Under the new Federal Trade Commission mail order rule, effective Feb. 2, mail order companies must:

—Notify you, the customer within 30 days after receiving your order if there will be a delay in sending you the items requested and if they will be shipped within a certain time.

—Inform you that you have the option of cancelling your order, if the delivery date can't be met. If the firm does not hear from you, it may then assume that you have agreed to the delay — but only for an additional 30 days. If the firm seeks another postponement of its delivery, you must give your consent in writing.

—Send you a postage-paid card or some other free means of informing the firm that you want to cancel.

—Refund your money, if you wish the refund after the initial 30-day delivery period has passed. If you've paid by cash, check or money order, the firm has seven days in which to return your payment. If you've asked to be billed, the firm is allowed one billing cycle to credit your account.

But be warned: this rule covers only mail order merchandise. It does not apply to such mail order services as photo finishing, nor does it include magazines, seeds, growing plants, such other serial deliveries as book-of-the-month, record-of-the-month, etc. These types of offerings are covered under a previous FTC rule, which requires firms to deliver merchandise once you have ordered it. The new rule also does not apply to orders you may have placed on a COD (collect on delivery) basis.

Then, this coming May 14, a much more far-reaching FTC rule becomes effective, which will substantially limit a legal principle known as the "holder

UAW Hits Making Car Parts Abroad

By OWEN ULLMANN

Associated Press Writer
DETROIT (AP) — Delegates to a United Auto Workers conference are pressing the union leadership to fight a growing move by the auto industry to build cars and components abroad for import here at the expense of American jobs.

At a day-long session Thursday, speaker after speaker expressed fears that unemployment in the United States would rise if the industry continues to shut U.S. plants and invests capital abroad because of cheaper labor costs.

"As long as the Ford Motor Co. can make more profit by subcontracting out jobs — producing these jobs in other countries and importing them back into this country — we are going to suffer as workers," said Henry Wilson of Ford Local 600 in Dearborn, Mich.

Some 1,000 UAW production worker delegates are meeting here this week to make recommendations for the union's fall contract talks with the auto and farm implement industries.

Current three-year pacts covering 850,000 workers expire in September.

The broadly-supported call for an assault on the industry's growing investment abroad marked the first time floor speakers departed from the UAW leadership's carefully orchestrated agenda for the three-day session, which opened on Wednesday.

The issue was raised in response to a formal subcontracting resolution that union negotiators seek contract language which would halt the auto companies from farming out work performed by union members to non-union shops in this country.

The resolution, however, did not speak to the issue of foreign plant investment, and several delegates called on union leaders to take a more assertive stance on their behalf.

"The international hasn't taken aggressive action to stop this," charged Bob Bruce of Ford Local 1250 in Cleveland. "We want tariffs in this country that are as high as tariffs in other countries."

UAW Vice President Ken Bannan, head of the union's Ford department, told reporters after the debate that the leadership has no intention of lagging on the issue. He conceded, however, that the union should have presented delegates with a formal resolution.

"There's no question this is one of the biggest concerns among our members, especially at Ford," Bannan said. "I guarantee you we will negotiate this problem in the fall."

"Our leadership supports parity of tariffs. And we can tell management: 'If you close down a plant to go overseas, we want job guarantees for the people in that plant.'"

UAW President Leonard Woodcock, however, appeared cool to the issue. In a rebuttal to the floor speeches, he noted that the United States had its most favorable balance of trade in history last year.

He also said most industrialized Democratic nations have narrowed the wage gap with the United States. "It's the underdeveloped countries that undercut us," he added.

Earlier, Bannan told the delegates: "More and more capital is being exported overseas and more and more imports are coming into this country."

Several delegates noted that each of the Big Three companies — General Motors, Ford and Chrysler — are importing cars from overseas. The industry also is importing components put into autos assembled here, such as Ford's four-cylinder engines from Brazil and transmissions from France, they said.

"The parts we are putting on our engines in Windsor (Ont.) come from Japan," said Charles Brooks of Chrysler-Canada Local 444. "The nuts and bolts come from all around the world."

Robert Rietveld of Local 1402 in Holland, Mich., added: "It looks like big business is selling out. They are putting the money, the knowhow and the jobs overseas."

"It's just a matter of time and there won't be any jobs here and no money either to buy the imports."

In other actions, the delegates adopted a series of resolutions urging bargainers to fight for improvements in the "quality of worklife" in the nation's auto

INVESTORS' GUIDE

Discount And AAA Bonds Are Explained

Q. I'm told that "discount bonds" are just as good as "triple A" bonds.

A. Many discount bonds ARE AAA bonds and many AAA bonds sell at a discount from par.

If a corporation with a triple A rating issued 30-year bonds in 1956 with a 3 1/2 per cent coupon (because that's what top-rated corporations paid for money in 1956) that bond is today selling at a discount even though it is still rated AAA. If the same corporation issued bonds in 1975 and put an 8 1/2 per cent coupon on the issue (because that's what it had to pay in 1975) those bonds still sell around par — and are also rated AAA.

You will find that any AAA rated corporation which has been raising money via bond issues over the last 10, 15, 25 or more years will have outstanding recent bond issues selling around par as well as older issues selling at a discount.

It is up to you whether you want maximum current income from the more recent issues or lower current income, plus a capital gain at maturity via the purchase of the older (discount) issues. But the safety factor is still AAA in both cases. (If anything, I suppose one could argue that an AAA bond due in 1980 is "safer" than the same company's AAA bond due in 2015.)

Q. I have $20,000 I could invest in a certificate of deposit, a Treasury bond or Treasury bill. What are the advantages of one over the other?

A. I don't know what banks are offering in your town, but the savings certificate would be the easiest — no commissions, no problem of safekeeping and (if you select an insured institution) safety.

Treasury bills run only up to a year; Treasury bonds as long as 30 years. Both, of course, are also 100 per cent safe.

The Treasury issues give you exemption from state and local income taxes.

Bond ratings: Some recent AAA ratings by Fitch Investors Service: Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone of Virginia 9 1/4 per cent debentures of 2015; Alabama Bancorp. 9 1/2 per cent notes due 1984; International Bank for Reconstruction and Development 8.35 per cent notes of 1980, 8.85 per cent notes of 1985, and 9.35 notes of 2000.

AA ratings: Central Telephone Co. 9 1/2 per cent bonds due 2000; Iowa Public Service 10 1/4 bonds due 2005; Montana Power 9.7 per cent bonds due 2005; American Express Credit Corp. 8 1/2 per cent senior notes due 1985; Ford Motor Credit 8 1/2 per cent debentures due 2001.

Reasonable request from a plants.

In what many said would be the top non-economic issue this fall, the delegates unanimously approved a resolution for tougher contract language to improve health and safety in the plants.

There also were recommendations calling for elimination of a "double standard" in the treatment of management and blue-collar employees, opposition to work speed-ups and the right to strike if the companies farm out work to non-union subcontractors.

Other resolutions called for: —Greater worker protection against layoffs when companies close down plants and transfer operations to a new location.

—Opposition to scheduled overtime for workers in plants where other employees are on layoff.

—Corporate neutrality concerning UAW organizing drives in non-ment of all prenatal and post-natal conditions, including nutritional deficiencies, tests for pregnancy, and referrals to other agencies; (2) comprehensive health care to infants and toddlers of School Age Mothers.

Berrien county Health Department services: The Family Planning Program, in conjunction with Planned Parenthood, provides education concerning methods of birth control for women of all ages. Medical clinics are available at the Berrien County Health Department by appointment. Each patient is seen by a health educator (Planned Parenthood), Social Workers, Nurses and examined by a Physician or Nurse Practitioner.

Each patient has a complete physical with her first visit and then, annually. Screening for cancer of the cervix and breast are an important part of the physical examination. The clinic does treatment for minor vaginal infections and makes referrals for any other abnormal finding.

The patient is given a birth control method that is acceptable to her and the physician. Follow-up education is provided to insure proper and effective use.

At the present time, we are including all patients who are at the 200% poverty level and/or high risk which includes all teens. This screening system was put into effect as a result of the cut in Family Planning funds for 1976.

The Prenatal Clinic provides comprehensive obstetrical care for medically high risk and financially indigent pregnant women. Each patient is seen at least once a month by a maternal team consisting of a Physician, Nurse, Nutritionist and Social Worker, at which time individual needs are identified. Special educational classes on labor, delivery and the anatomy and physiology of pregnancy are provided.

Following the delivery of the infant, the mother is given the opportunity to enroll the baby in the Infant Clinic. This clinic is a supportive service to the pediatrician or family doctor. The main objective is helping the mother with parenting skills and with the knowledge of normal growth and development patterns.

W.I.C. (Women, Infants and Children): The purpose of the program is to insure that pregnant women, the infants born to them and other children have adequate nutrition for the beginning of life through the first four years. The W.I.C. Program of the Berrien County Health Department provides a supplemental food package to pregnant and lactating women and infants and children under five years of age.

Eligibility for the W.I.C. foods is based on indigency, residency in Berrien County and/or participation in the Berrien County Health Department Maternal and Infant Program and on medical/nutritional needs. The food package contains milk or cheese, iron-fortified cereal, eggs and orange or grapefruit juice for women and children. The food package for infants contains iron-fortified formula, infant cereal and infant juice.

In addition to the food package, the W.I.C. Program also provides medical screening at regular intervals, i.e., every three months for women and every six months for infants and children. The screening includes such things as height, weight, head circumference for infants and hemoglobin (blood test). The W.I.C. Program will also be providing nutritional assessment and appropriate nutrition education, based on individual needs, to the W.I.C. recipients.

Planned Parenthood Association of Southwestern Michigan Teen Age Mother activities: Planned Parenthood activities are aimed at prevention of teen-age motherhood, although many Planned Parenthood programs do involve teen age mothers.

The following education and outreach programs reach teen mothers:

1. Maternity ward programs at Mercy, Benton Harbor, and Pawling, Niles - hospitals where counseling and education about birth control are given to all new mothers.
2. Outreach program recruits the teen age mother to enroll her in family planning to prevent a subsequent teen pregnancy. Teens are contacted at the School Age Mother Program of the Benton Harbor

School System, Benton Harbor high evening class for pregnant teens, food stamp offices, Department of Social Services ADC registration and the Berrien County Health Department Immunization, EPSDT programs, Teen raps and Programs, etc.

3. PP/SWM outreach workers also are involved with teen age mothers while working in the family planning clinics, and follow-up on missed appointments to keep teens enrolled in family planning.

4. PP/SWM education program reaches teen mothers by providing education at pregnancy testing clinic and at the post-partum visit for those who were enrolled in the BCHD prenatal program.

5. Raps for teens, whether mothers or not, are aimed at prevention of school age pregnancy or repetition of it.

Every Tuesday afternoon at the PP/SWM Center, teens (from 15-50 a session), both male and female, come to rap. Raps are based on the assumption that young people have adequate access to correct information and further that they share inaccurate information about sex. Raps provide an opportunity for meaningful exchange about related areas of sexual maturing, and provide a means for young adults to share normal concerns in a structured setting in hopes they will be better to make mature decisions.

Subjects dealt with at Teen raps: Human Sexuality, Teen Responsibility - Prenatal Pregnancy, Birth Control Methods, Homosexuality, Responsible Parenthood, Love, Male and Female Roles, Interpersonal Relationships.

PP/SWM Education Department provides education on family planning and related subjects for the Benton Harbor Junior High, the School Age Mothers Program and other educational programs within the guidelines of the law for school classes in Southwestern Michigan, particularly those in Home-making, Family Living and Social Studies. Additional educational programs outside the classroom provide birth control information for teens.

Teen Age Mother "Epidemic" is not a local phenomenon. Studies show that one in every five births nationally is to a teen-ager. An in-depth study by John F. Kantner and Melvin Zelink shows that three in 10 teenagers are sexually active, there are misinformed concerning pregnancy risks of unprotected sexual activity, fewer than one-fifth use a method all the time and most rely on less effective contraception.

Better general health and earlier menarche of teenagers, plus the fact that the 15-19 age group of women is one of the fastest growing age groups; all these factors apply to Berrien County as well as Nationally.

Of 2,967 births in Berrien County in 1974, 620 were to unwed mothers, or roughly 20% to unwed mothers.

Effective education of teenagers to enable them to make mature decisions can prevent school age pregnancy.

There are 3344 women 15-19 in Berrien County (in 1974), in need of family planning services. 35% enrolled in the family planning clinics and 14% additional receive services from private physicians.

Half of the teens who are enrolled in the Benton Harbor family planning clinic live in Benton Harbor or Benton Township and are from low income families, on the Department of Labor scale of 200% of poverty, or $8,000 a year for a family of four.

This information was gathered for the purpose of informing the community so that the issue of school-age mothers can be seen in a more proper perspective. The Benton Harbor Chapter of the Association of Black Social Workers is committed to upgrading the quality of life for the Black community while defining our purposes and articulating positive goals for the promotion of higher levels of self-respect and self-determination.

Sanford To Quit Democratic Race? Ford Mulls Running Mates

By DAVE RILEY
Associated Press Writer

President Ford says he is considering at least five men as possible running mates if he wins the Republican presidential nomination.

In a conversation with a group of New Hampshire newspaper editors, Ford said Thursday that among the possible choices are Commerce Secretary Elliot L. Richardson and Sens. Edward Brooke of Massachusetts, Howard Baker and William Brock of Tennessee and Charles H. Percy of Illinois.

Ford also said there were "some excellent governors" such as Gov. Dan Evans of Washington, Gov. Robert Ray of Iowa and Gov. Christopher Bond of Missouri.

Meanwhile, former North Carolina Gov. Terry Sanford was scheduled to hold a news conference today amid speculation that he may become the first of the 11 Democratic presidential candidates to give up the race.

While Ford mentioned five possibilities for a running mate, he said there are "many others" who could be considered.

Percy, told of Ford's statement, said he was "flattered," adding that "no one says 'no' to a president."

"It's nice to be on the list," said Baker. "but I'm not packing any bags." He said "the time between now and Republican convention time in Kansas City is a political lifetime in this day and age."

Brooke said he was pleased to be on the list, but "I do not expect the President will ask me and I shall do nothing to encourage it."

Richardson said through a spokesman that he is confining his energy to his new Cabinet post.

had been scheduled to make what his aides called "an important announcement."

Published polls have shown Sanford at the bottom of the list of candidates and a Sanford associate, Sam Poole, has said the former governor may end his campaign in New England but remain in the North Carolina primary.

Poole said the chances are 50-50 that Sanford will leave the race altogether.

On the Republican side, the White House had no comment on the results of a new Gallup poll that shows Ford leading challenger Ronald Reagan by 55 per cent to 42 per cent among GOP voters polled.

A Ford spokesman said the White House is making it official practice to avoid comment on polls, and Reagan aides also made little of the new figures.

"When the first one came out, we said we didn't think it meant much and we don't think this one means much when you look at the size of the sample and the margin of error involved," said Reagan spokesman Lyn Nofziger.

Gallup also said that in a matchup against Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., Ford got 48 per cent to 46 per cent in Humphrey, with 6 per cent undecided. Gallup said the figures represent a sampling of 1,118 registered voters.

In a similar test last month, Ford's margin over Humphrey was 51 to 39 per cent. Humphrey is not a declared candidate.

There were these other political developments on Thursday:

The Democratic National Committee filed a formal complaint with the Federal Election Commission on Thursday, objecting to Ford's appointment of Rogers C.B. Morton as a White House political aide.

The Democrats contended that because Morton's duties involve politics his salary should be charged to the Ford election campaign and should apply to Ford's campaign spending limit. Ford placed Morton on the White House payroll.

A White House official said a letter will be sent to the FEC offering some ideas for resolution of the Morton issue.

Allan Grant, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, said farmers are disenchanted with Ford because of embargoes on the sale of grain to the Soviet Union and other countries.

Former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter, who came out on top in the Iowa Democratic caucuses, said in Washington that he opposes abortion but is against an antiabortion amendment to the Constitution. Carter said he favors governmental assistance toward pregnancy prevention instead of abortion.

"I think abortion is wrong," he said.

Democratic candidate Sen. Henry M. Jackson endorsed a national health insurance plan and said reform of health care costs would be "the No. 1 program of my administration as president."

Jackson said such a national health insurance plan should also cover malpractice insurance for doctors.

Leaders of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations said they were heartened by the caliber of the Democratic candidates. But the group, which heard talks by all but three of the candidates, said it would not make any endorsements.

A newspaper report said California Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. has decided to enter his state's Democratic presidential primary. But a spokesman for the 39-year-old governor said Brown has not yet made up his mind.

Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace called for a heavy turnout at Saturday's Democratic party caucuses in Mississippi. Wallace said Mississippians should "take back control" of the Democratic party.

He said Mississippi's delegation of the 1972 party convention was not "representative" of the state's Democrats.

"If the great average Mississippian will ... take part in the precinct caucus, the result will be the people taking back control of the Democratic party in that state which has not represented them in recent elections," Wallace said.

South Haven City Council Hears Master Plan Ideas

SOUTH HAVEN — A proposed new master plan for South Haven was reviewed last night for members of the city council during a meeting of the planning commission.

John Ambrose, planner for Villan-Leman and associates, Inc. of Southfield, presented the plan, which if accepted by the planning commission, will replace a master plan adopted in 1963.

The $27,000 plan has been in the making for two years.

Ambrose called on city officials to turn the plan into reality. "Most plans like these become dust collectors on shelves. If you want to get your people believing in South Haven you are going to have to start getting things in the ground instead of just on paper," he said.

The proposed master plan encompasses an area including parts of South Haven and Casco townships which Ambrose predicted would someday become part of the city.

"It would be suicide not to take into consideration areas outside the city because much of the future growth of South Haven is going to come from the townships," Ambrose added.

The area included in the proposed plan would be bounded by Lake Michigan on the west, 102nd avenue in Casco township to the north, 72nd street in South Haven township to the east and 12th avenue in South Haven township to the south.

The area has an estimated 8,570 residents compared to current city population of 6,900. Ambrose projected that the city's population based on its present boundaries would increase to 7,200 by 1980, 8,100 in 1990 and 9,100 by the turn of the century. No projections were offered for the enlarged area.

Increasing the size of the city would be especially vital for industrial development, according to Ambrose. The city presently has 214 acres available for industrial purposes whereas the master plan area would have 420 acres.

At the same time, he noted that areas still outside the city will still rely heavily on the city for public utilities such as electricity in the year 2000.

"Already Covert township, through its engineering consultants, have considered the feasibility of obtaining water service from South Haven," the report said.

The report points to many specific needs and observations. Among them:

Most existing playgrounds in the city are inadequate to serve their respective neighborhood areas.

The city has a current need for a second fire station and ultimately could use as many as four should fire protection agreements with area townships continue. The plan recommends that the second station be built near M-140 and Aylworth avenue.

A major change in the traffic flow around the central business district (CBD) is proposed. Phoenix street would become a limited access, one-way street from the west with a new traffic pattern going around the downtown on Kalamazoo, Huron, Quaker and Broadway streets.

Williams street along the Black river would be closed. On-street parking in the CBD would be increased from its current 100 spaces to 125.

Construction of a marina on the south bank of the Black river near the Dyckman bridge is "feasible but financially impractical," Ambrose estimated slips would have to be rented for $5,000 each to pay construction costs.

River bank areas should be developed as "passive" recreation areas.

An interchange on I-196 should be constructed at M-43.

There is a need for an elementary school on the city's north side and future growth will demand a second in that area.

POLICE ROUNDUP

Officers Witness Break-In Attempt

Two men were arrested Thursday after two Benton township patrolmen interrupted an apparent attempt to break into a van parked next to their unmarked patrol car.

Patrolmen Michael Krugh and Jimmy Windsor said the incident occurred in the 1700 block of M-139 about 9:25 p.m. as they were returning to their car after eating lunch at a nearby restaurant.

Booked at the Berrien county jail on charges of attempted breaking and entering a motor vehicle were Willie Lee Green, 29, route 1, 51st street, Grand Junction, and Sirvaneous Leroy Kellum, 27, route 5, box 163, South Haven.

Windsor and Krugh reported they saw a man who appeared to be tampering with the vent window on a 1975 Dodge van that was parked next to their squad car.

Parked on the other side of the van was another car with its engine running and lights on, the patrolmen said.

The officers said they went around the van and found a man getting into the car and another man inside the vehicle. Fresh pry marks were reportedly found on the front vent window of the van and police confiscated a screwdriver from the car.

Owner of the van was identified as Clarence Mott, Lawrence, and police said entry was not made into the van.

A Benton Heights man was arrested Thursday by Benton Harbor police on four warrants and a charge of resisting arrest after a car was stopped near the intersection of Third and East Main streets.

Booked at the Berrien county jail was Asa Lee Perkins, 22, of 2467 Crawford drive. Police said the warrants included a traffic warrant, aggravated assault, a bench warrant for attempted breaking and entering and an animal control violation warrant.

Police said a car in which Perkins was a passenger was stopped about 9 p.m. after it matched the description of one seen leaving the area of a reported disturbance on Territorial road. Officers said a struggle with the arrested man allegedly ensued. Lt. Harry Leonardson reported he received minor cuts to the face during a second struggle when the man was placed in a holding cell at the Benton Harbor police station.

Six thefts were investigated Thursday by Twin Cities area police in which goods valued at more than $1,400 were reported stolen.

Charles J. Johnson, Minneapolis, Minn., told Berrien sheriff's deputies thieves broke into the trunk of his car and took a suitcase of clothing, a suit carrier and the spare tire, all valued at $673. He said his car was parked in the lot at Howard Johnson's motel, M-139, Sodus township.

Thefts reported to Benton Harbor police were:

A watch, two rings and $159 in cash, from the home of Nancy Taylor, 463 Vineyard street.

A tape player, valued at $99, from the residence of Otha D. Harris, room 304, Milner Hotel.

St. Joseph police said a record changer, valued at $199, was reported stolen from IPM Development Engineering, 304 Water street.

Eugene Valentine, Birmingham, Mich., told state police of the Benton Harbor post his overcoat, gloves and hat were taken from the cloak room at the Holiday Inn, 2800 South M-139, Benton township. The items were valued at $138.

Berrien county Health Department services: The Family Planning Program, in conjunction with Planned Parenthood, provides education concerning methods of birth control for women of all ages. Medical clinics are available at the Berrien County Health Department by appointment. Each patient is seen by a health educator (Planned Parenthood), Social Workers, Nurses and examined by a Physician or Nurse Practitioner.

Each patient has a complete physical with her first visit and then annually. Screening for cancer of the cervix and breast are an important part of the physical examination. The clinic does treatment for minor vaginal infections and makes referrals for any other abnormal finding.

The patient is given a birth control method that is acceptable to her and the physician. Follow-up education is provided to insure proper and effective use.

At the present time, we are including all patients who are at the 200% poverty level and/or high risk which includes all teens. This screening system was put into effect as a result of the cut in Family Planning funds for 1976.

The Prenatal Clinic provides comprehensive obstetrical care for medically high risk and financially indigent pregnant women. Each patient is seen at least once a month by a maternal team consisting of a Physician, Nurse, Nutritionist and Social Worker, at which time individual needs are identified. Special educational classes on labor, delivery and the anatomy and physiology of pregnancy are provided.

Following the delivery of the infant, the mother is given the opportunity to enroll the baby in the Infant Clinic. This clinic is a supportive service to the pediatrician or family doctor. The main objective is helping the mother with parenting skills and with the knowledge of normal growth and development patterns.

W.I.C. (Women, Infants and Children): The purpose of the program is to insure that pregnant women, the infants born to them and other children have adequate nutrition for the beginning of life through the first four years. The W.I.C. Program of the Berrien County Health Department provides a supplemental food package to pregnant and lactating women and infants and children under five years of age.

Eligibility for the W.I.C. foods is based on indigency, residency in Berrien County and/or participation in the Berrien County Health Department Maternal and Infant Program and on medical/nutritional needs. The food package contains milk or cheese, iron-fortified cereal, eggs and orange or grapefruit juice for women and children. The food package for infants contains iron-fortified formula, infant cereal and infant juice.

In addition to the food package, the W.I.C. Program also provides medical screening at regular intervals, i.e., every three months for women and every six months for infants and children. The screening includes such things as height, weight, head circumference for infants and hemoglobin (blood test). The W.I.C. Program will also be providing nutritional assessment and appropriate nutrition education, based on individual needs, to the W.I.C. recipients.

Planned Parenthood Association of Southwestern Michigan Teen Age Mother activities: Planned Parenthood activities are aimed at prevention of teen-age motherhood, although many Planned Parenthood programs do involve teen age mothers.

The following education and outreach programs reach teen mothers:

1. Maternity ward programs at Mercy, Benton Harbor, and Pawling, Niles hospitals where counseling and education about birth control are given to all new mothers.

2. Outreach program recruits the teen age mother to enroll her in family planning to prevent a subsequent teen pregnancy. Teens are contacted at the School Age Mother Program of the Benton Harbor

School System, Benton Harbor high evening class for pregnant teens, food stamp offices, Department of Social Services ADC registration and the Berrien County Health Department Immunization, EPSDT programs, Teen raps and Programs, etc.

3. PP/SWM outreach workers also are involved with teen mothers while working in the family planning clinics, and follow-up on missed appointments to keep teens enrolled in family planning.

4. PP/SWM education program reaches teen mothers by providing education at pregnancy testing clinic and at the post-partum visit for those who were enrolled in the BCHD prenatal program.

5. Raps for teens, whether mothers or not, are aimed at prevention of school age pregnancy or repetition of it.

Every Tuesday afternoon at the PP/SWM Center, teens (from 15-50 a session), both male and female, come to rap. Raps are based on the assumption that young people have adequate access to correct information and further that they share inaccurate information about sex. Raps provide an opportunity for meaningful exchange about related areas of sexual maturing, and provide a means for young adults to share normal concerns in a structured setting in hopes they will be better to make mature decisions.

Subjects dealt with at Teen raps: Human Sexuality, Teen Responsibility — Premarital Pregnancy, Birth Control Methods, Homosexuality, Responsible Parenthood, Love, Male and Female Roles, Interpersonal Relationships, Parent-Teen Relationships.

PP/SWM Education Department provides education on family planning and related subjects for the Benton Harbor Junior High, the School Age Mothers Program and other educational programs within the guidelines of the law for school classes in Southwestern Michigan, particularly those in Homemaking, Family Living and Social Studies. Additional educational programs outside the classroom provide birth control information for teens.

Teen Age Mother "Epidemic" is not a local phenomena. Studies show that one in every five births nationally is to a teen-ager. An in-depth study by John F. Kantner and Melvin Zelnik shows that three in 10 teenagers are sexually active, there are misinformed concerning pregnancy risks of unprotected sexual activity, fewer than one-fifth use a method all the time and most rely on less effective contraception.

Better general health and earlier menarche of teenagers, plus the fact that the 15-19 age group of women is one of the fastest growing age groups; all these factors apply to Berrien County as well as Nationally.

Of 2,967 births in Berrien County in 1974, 620 were to unwed mothers, including teens, or roughly 20% to unwed mothers.

Effective education of teenagers to enable them to make mature decisions can prevent school age pregnancy. There are 3344 women 15-19 in Berrien County (in 1974), in need of family planning services, 35% enrolled in the family planning clinics and 14% additional receive services from private physicians.

Half of the teens who are enrolled in the Benton Harbor family planning clinic live in Benton Harbor or Benton Township and are from low income families, on the Department of Labor scale of 200% of poverty, or $9,000 a year for a family of four.

This information was gathered for the purpose of informing the community so that the issue of school-age mothers can be seen in a more proper perspective. The Benton Harbor Chapter of the Association of Black Social Workers is committed to upgrading the quality of life for the Black community while defining our purposes and articulating positive goals for the promotion of higher levels of self-respect and self-determination.

Inez J. Holmes, Chairman, Social Action Committee, Benton Harbor Chapter, Association Of Black Social Workers

Sanford To Quit Democratic Race? Ford Mulls Running Mates

By DAVE RILEY
Associated Press Writer

President Ford says he is considering at least five men as possible running mates if he wins the Republican presidential nomination.

In a conversation with a group of New Hampshire newspaper editors, Ford said Thursday that among the possible choices are Commerce Secretary Elliot L. Richardson and Sens. Edward Brooke of Massachusetts, Howard Baker of Tennessee and William Brock of Illinois.

Ford also said there were "some excellent governors" such as Gov. Dan Evans of Washington, Gov. Robert Ray of Iowa and Gov. Christopher Bond of Missouri.

Meanwhile, former North Carolina Gov. Terry Sanford was scheduled to hold a news conference today amid speculation that he may become the first of the 11 Democratic presidential candidates to give up the race.

While Ford mentioned five possibilities for a running mate, he said there are "many others" who could be considered.

Percy, told of Ford's statement, said he was "flattered," adding that "no one says 'no' to a president."

"It's nice to be on the list," said Baker, "but I'm not packing any bags." He said "the time between now and Republican convention time in Kansas City is a political lifetime in this day and age."

Brooke said he was pleased to be on the list, but "I do not expect the President will ask me and I shall do nothing to encourage it."

Richardson said through a spokesman that he is confining his energy to his new Cabinet post.

Sanford, who took leave from his post as president of North Carolina's Duke University to pursue the Democratic nomination, had been scheduled to make what his aides called "an important announcement."

Published polls have shown Sanford at the bottom of the list of candidates and a Sanford associate, Sam Poole, has said the former governor may end his campaign in New England but remain in the North Carolina primary.

Poole said the chances are 50-50 that Sanford will leave the race altogether.

On the Republican side, the White House had no comment on the results of a new Gallup poll that shows Ford leading challenger Ronald Reagan by 53 per cent to 42 per cent among GOP voters polled.

A Ford spokesman said the White House is making it official practice to avoid comment on polls, and Reagan aides also made little of the new figures.

"When the first one came out, we said we didn't think it meant much and we don't think this one means much when you look at the size of the sample and the margin of error involved," said Reagan spokesman Lyn Nofziger.

Gallup also said that in a matchup against Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., Ford got 48 per cent to 46 per cent for Humphrey, with 6 per cent undecided. Gallup said the figures represent a sampling of 1,118 registered voters.

In a similar test last month, Ford's margin over Humphrey was 51 to 39 per cent. Humphrey is not a declared candidate.

There were these other political developments on Thursday:

—The Democratic National Committee filed a formal complaint with the Federal Election Commission on Thursday, objecting to Ford's appointment of Rogers C.B. Morton as a White House political aide.

The Democrats contended that because Morton's duties involve politics his salary should be charged to the Ford election campaign and should apply to Ford's campaign spending limit. Ford placed Morton on the White House payroll.

A White House official said a letter will be sent to the FEC offering some ideas for resolution of the Morton issue.

—Allan Grant, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, said farmers are disenchanted with Ford because of embargoes on the sale of grain to the Soviet Union and other countries.

—Former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter, who came out on top in the Iowa Democratic caucuses, said in Washington that he opposes abortion but is against an antiabortion amendment to the Constitution. Carter said he favors governmental assistance toward pregnancy prevention instead of abortion.

"I think abortion is wrong," he said.

—Democratic candidate Sen. Henry M. Jackson endorsed a national health insurance plan and said reform of health care costs would be "the No. 1 program of my administration as president."

Jackson said such a national health insurance plan should also cover malpractice insurance for doctors.

—Leaders of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations said they were heartened by the caliber of the Democratic candidates. But the group, which heard talks by all but three of the candidates, said it would not make any endorsements.

—A newspaper report said California Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. has decided to enter his state's Democratic presidential primary. But a spokesman for Brown has not yet made up his mind.

—Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace called for a heavy turnout at Saturday's Democratic party caucuses in Mississippi. Wallace said Mississippians should "take back control" of the Democratic party.

He said Mississippi's delegation of the 1972 party convention was not "representative" of the state's Democrats.

"If the great average Mississippian will ... take part in the precinct caucus, the result will be the people taking back control of the Democratic party in that state which has not represented them in recent elections," Wallace said.

South Haven City Council Hears Master Plan Ideas

SOUTH HAVEN — A proposed new master plan for South Haven was reviewed last night for members of the city council during a meeting of the planning commission.

John Ambrose, planner for Vilcan-Leman and associates, Inc. of Southfield, presented the plan, which if accepted by the planning commission, will replace a master plan adopted in 1963.

The $27,000 plan has been in the making for two years. Ambrose called on city officials to turn the plan into reality. "Most plans like these become dust collectors on shelves. If you want to get your people believing in South Haven you are going to have to start getting things in the ground instead of just on paper," he said.

The proposed master plan encompasses an area including parts of South Haven and Casco townships which Ambrose predicted would someday become part of the city.

"It would be suicide not to take into consideration areas outside the city because much of the future growth of South Haven is going to come from the townships," Ambrose added.

The area included in the proposed plan would be bounded by Lake Michigan on the west, 102nd avenue in Casco township to the north, 72nd street in South Haven township to the east and 12th avenue in South Haven township to the south.

The area has an estimated 8,570 residents compared to current city population of 6,900. Ambrose projected that the city's population based on its present boundaries would increase to 7,200 by 1980, 8,100 in 1990 and 9,100 by the turn of the century. No projections were offered for the enlarged area.

Increasing the size of the city would be especially vital for industrial development, according to Ambrose. The city presently has 214 acres available for industrial purposes whereas the master plan area would have 420 acres.

At the same time, he noted that areas still outside the city will still rely heavily on the city for public utilities such as electricity in the year 2000.

"Already Covert township, through its engineering consultants, have considered the feasibility of obtaining water service from South Haven," the report said.

The report points to many specific needs and observations. Among them:

Most existing playgrounds in the city are inadequate to serve their respective neighborhood areas.

The city has a current need for a second fire station and ultimately could use as many as four should fire protection agreements with area townships continue. The plan recommends that the second station be built near M-140 and Aylworth avenue.

A major change in the traffic flow around the central business district (CBD) is proposed. Phoenix street would become a limited access, one-way street from the west with a new traffic pattern going around the downtown on Kalamazoo, Huron, Quakers and Broadway streets. Williams street along the Black river would be closed. On-street parking in the CBD would be increased from its current 100 spaces to 125.

Construction of a marina on the south bank of the Black river near the Dyckman bridge is "feasible but financially impractical," Ambrose estimated slips would have to be rented for $5,000 each to pay construction costs.

River bank areas should be developed as "passive" recreation areas.

An interchange on I-196 should be constructed at M-43. There is a need for an elementary school on the city's north side and future growth will demand a second in that area.

POLICE ROUNDUP

Officers Witness Break-In Attempt

Two men were arrested Thursday after two Benton township patrolmen interrupted an apparent attempt to break into a van parked next to their unmarked patrol car.

Patrolmen Michael Krugh and Jimmy Windsor said the incident occurred in the 1700 block of M-139 about 9:25 p.m. as they were returning to their car after eating lunch at a nearby restaurant.

Booked at the Berrien county jail on charges of attempted breaking and entering a motor vehicle were Willie Lee Green, 29, route 1, 51st street, Grand Junction, and Sirvanous Leroy Kellum, 27, route 5, box 163, South Haven.

Windsor and Krugh reported they saw a man who appeared to be tampering with the vent window on a 1975 Dodge van that was parked next to their squad car.

Parked on the other side of the van was another car with its engine running and lights on, the patrolmen said.

The officers said they went around the van and found a man getting into the car and another man inside the vehicle. Fresh pry marks were reportedly found on the front vent window of the van and police confiscated a screwdriver from the car.

Owner of the van was identified as Clarence Mott, Lawrence, and police said entry was not made into the van.

A Benton Heights man was arrested Thursday by Benton Harbor police on four warrants and a charge of resisting arrest after a car was stopped near the intersection of Third and East Main streets.

Booked at the Berrien county jail was Asa Lee Perkins, 22, of 2487 Crawford drive. Police said the warrants included a traffic warrant, aggravated assault, a bench warrant for attempted breaking and entering and an animal control violation warrant.

Police said a car in which Perkins was a passenger was stopped about 9 p.m. after it matched the description of one seen leaving the area of a reported disturbance on Territorial road. Officers said a struggle with the arrested man allegedly ensued. Lt. Harry Leonardson reported he received minor cuts to the face during a second struggle when the man was placed in a holding cell at the Benton Harbor police station.

Six thefts were investigated Thursday by Twin Cities area police in which goods valued at more than $1,400 were reported stolen.

Charles J. Johnson, Minneapolis, Minn., told Berrien sheriff's deputies thieves broke into the trunk of his car and took a suitcase of clothing, a suit carrier and the spare tire, all valued at $673. He said his car was parked in the lot at Howard Johnson's motel, M-139, Sodus township.

Thefts reported to Benton Harbor police were: —A watch, two rings and $159 in cash, from the home of Nancy Taylor, 463 Vineyard street. —A tape player, valued at $99, from the residence of Otha D. Harris, room 304, Milner Hotel.

St. Joseph police said a record changer, valued at $199, was reported stolen from IPM Development Engineering, 304 Water street.

Todd Brozovich, 1480 Timberlane drive, Lincoln township, reported the theft of a citizens' band radio, valued at $170, from his car parked at Lake Michigan College, 2755 East Napien avenue, Benton township police said.

Tribute To 'Pops' On ABC Sunday

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Ben Vereen, one of the most gifted performers to come down the pike in recent years, is portraying one of the greats of jazz Sunday in an ABC movie called "Louis Armstrong — Chicago Style."

The film, set in 1931 in Chicago, dramatizes an incident early in Armstrong's life when a mob boss tried to muscle in on his career and hire him for one of his clubs; the mob got rough when Pops said no.

The 90-minute show has an excellent music sound track and Vereen does a marvellous job of depicting Armstrong, catching not only his unique vocal style but also his fabled good nature and warmth.

Unfortunately, Vereen and the rest of the cast are saddled with a script by James Lee that seems oddly limp, lacks focus and at times is maudlin. Which is a shame, considering the subject.

The proceedings commence in a small, seamy night club on the outskirts of Los Angeles, where the young trumpeter is working while his manager (Red Buttons) plots ways of getting him to the big time.

Problem is, Louis isn't that interested, preferring to settle in Los Angeles than go back on the road. His manager, speaking of his meal ticket's current audience, sneers: "Buncha rubes, Chicago's where the action is."

It seems the manager is none too ethical. He gets Armstrong framed on a marijuana rap — having planted the weed in the trumpeter's coat and Armstrong is forced to leave with him for the Windy City.

After a powerful en route scene in which Armstrong is threatened by rednecks at a rural gas station, they arrive in Chicago.

A job the manager promised doesn't materialize. Times are lean until an old friend (effectively portrayed by Lee De Broux), a white man, offers Armstrong the chance to work in the small night club he owns.

Word of mouth about this amazing musician soon has the joint packed each night. Then comes a mob boss who unsuccessfully tries to hire Armstrong, at a much higher salary.

It's about here that the show starts losing steam, veering from scenes of music, romance, and mob machinations without much cohesion. None of it is very believable and parts of it are just boring.

I hate to see this happen. The producers had a chance to do justice to the memory of one of America's finest jazzmen and somehow blew it.

BICENTENNIAL FACTS
SINCE TAXATION was one of the main reasons for the Revolution, Congress was in no position to tax the independent states to finance the Revolution. Continental currency and state paper money were issued but they were worth little more than the paper they were printed on. Early on it became necessary to resort to loans, chiefly from foreign sources, to finance the war. These loans, primarily from the French and Spanish governments, and from private Dutch bankers, amounted to about $7,830,000. The World Almanac notes.

More CIA Names

LONDON (AP) — The Socialist Worker, a small left-wing newspaper, published the names and addresses Wednesday of five men it said were Central Intelligence Agency employees working in London. The report said one of the men was the CIA station chief. The paper said publishing such information was essential "if a campaign is to be built up to drive out these hired murderers of big business."

THE PRESIDENT'S 51st ANNUAL REPORT TO THE MEMBERS - JANUARY 19, 1976

THE PRESIDENT PRESENTS HIS REPORT:

It is a pleasure for me to report to the members of the PEOPLES SAVINGS ASSOCIATION the progress made during the past year and the future that lies ahead of us, as I see it.

As the old year ends, we take pride in reflecting on the new year — one that, despite a difficult economy, enables PEOPLES SAVINGS ASSOCIATION to start many people towards their goal of financial security in thrift and home ownership.

As we now move into 1976, we think too about the changes in our society, in the way we live today, and in the way we get things done. The speed of change in our modern lives almost staggers the imagination. At PEOPLES SAVINGS we have always been respectful of change, identifying it with progress and growth. Occasionally we have been wary of it in conducting our business. We have made technical and physical changes only after serious consideration of the needs and wishes of our customers. As a rule, we have not rushed into new things, simply because they were available or promoted by an advanced technology. Sometimes we have been called conservative, but that's all right. Since we opened our doors for business in 1924 we have held that people respond mainly to intelligent and dignified treatment and that invention and innovation should support this purpose.

You hear a lot these days about the financial institution of the future and EFTS (Electronic Funds Transfer Systems), and you will continue to hear more. Technicians would have us believe that we are approaching an age when you, the customer, will insert a plastic card into a machine, press a few buttons, and have all your routine financial business done for you by a computer.

No doubt about it, this year, you are going to see some changes in the way you can choose to do business at PEOPLES SAVINGS ASSOCIATION. Frankly, we are excited about these prospects, offering you more convenient ways of doing business. This will allow us to provide you with additional financial counseling and to become even more of the kind of full family financial center that we strive to be.

To keep changing with the times without really changing at all — this is our ultimate goal as we start a new year and move together in to an interesting future — you can count on PEOPLES SAVINGS ASSOCIATION to do just that. We will not change for the sake of change unless we realize we can make service better for you, our customer.

Robert H. Durren, President
